

Rites Solemnized In Spring Service

Karen Steffan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. Wilson of Crescent exchanged vows with James W. Pope, son of Mr. and Mrs. Leslie L. Pope of Klamath Falls, in a pretty ceremony at the First Methodist church, May 16 at 2 o'clock in the afternoon.

Rev. Victor Phillips read the single ring service. Baskets of white stock and carnations were at the altar with many lighted tapers completing the setting.

Mrs. John A. O'Conner played the wedding marches, and accompanied Barbara Graves who sang, "Because," and "The Rosary" as guests assembled.

Miss Steffan was given in marriage by her father. Her gown was of white satin, fashioned with a net yoke, fitted bodice and a draped skirt ending in a long train. A full-length illusion net veil was lace-trimmed, and fell from a coronet of orange blossoms.

The bride carried a traditional bouquet of white sweet peas centered with a lavender orchid.

Matron of honor was Mrs. Dale Cheyne who wore a gown of aqua, and carried a colonial bouquet. In her hair she wore a bandeau of sweet peas.

Bridesmaids were Mary Sheffield of Roseburg, who wore pink and JoAnne Sheffield of Vancouver, yellow. Their flowers were similar to those of the matron of honor.

Best man was Robert Redkey, and ushers were Dick Pope and Ed Hall. A reception was held in the church parlors, where Mrs. Ed Hall, sister of the groom, and Mrs. Roy Plass, served.

After a wedding trip to Los Angeles, the young couple returned to reside in Klamath Falls. For traveling, the new Mrs. Pope wore a dressmaker suit of pink with gray accessories, and the orchid from her bouquet pinned at the shoulder.
