Bates Quits School Job

LAKEVIEW, June 11—The Lakeview school board Monday night accepted the resignation of David Bates as superintendent of school district 7, relieving him to accept a similar position at The Dalles.

Serving two years as both superintendent and clerk of this district, Bates was the Central school principal here for one year. At The Dalles he will not have the clerk duties, and has been offered a three-year contract.

The school board spent more than four hours Monday night trying to persuade the superintendent to remain in Lakeview. Bates, however, felt that the offer from The Dalles represented an opportunity for advancement that he could not afford to pass up.

The superintendent will remain here until the end of this month, when the fiscal year closes. In the meantime, he will try to help the board find a successor for the position.

Grange May Expand Service

ASTORIA, June 11 (AP)—The state grange may go into the retail food, clothing and freight businesses. It may also issue automobile and casualty insurance.

These proposals were made yesterday at the annual convention. Interim committees were named to investigate the suggestions. Their recommendations will be reported to the 1949 convention.

E. L. Peterson, state director of agriculture, told delegates his department might expand its service to include marketing questions.

Peterson also said Portland might not be able to maintain grade A milk through next winter, because of flood damage to pastureland.

The agriculture chief also suggested that minimum standards for butter might be better than the present grading system, which he said was hard to enforce.

Peterson said a proposal to hold the state fair in late September would result in smaller revenue. The grange then voted against changing from the scheduled early September dates.

In Portland—Mr. and Mrs. L. K. Ellison, 1745 Crescent, are in Portland this week vacationing. He expects to be back in the office of deputy collector of internal revenue, post office building, on Tuesday.

Cloudburst Whips Over Portland

PORTLAND, June 11 (AP)—A near cloudburst drenched Portland last night, overflowing gutters and forcing manhole covers off some East Side sewers.

Levees in the area became softer, but weather observers said the rain would have little effect on the Lower Willamette and Columbia flood levels.

Water backed into a number of basements.

The downpour was measured at .54 inches on the West Side, but the weather bureau said as much as an inch may have fallen in the storm center on the East side of town.

Air Trip—Oliver Moen of Lambie and Moen, accountants, left by plane Thursday for Seattle.

If Oregon is to have the telephone service it needs

If the people of Oregon are to have the amount and kind of telephone service they are demanding and should be furnished, we must have enough price relief to meet current wages and costs and to keep our credit sound.

Our price levels in Oregon have lagged far behind general price levels. The increase in revenues granted last January, the first increase in over a quarter of a century, averaged only 9 1/2 per cent. We wish we could pay post-war prices for all that we buy and charge only slightly more than present prices for what we have to sell but this is impossible.

Our earnings in Oregon, including the rate revisions granted last January, won't do the job. Current earnings on the dollars invested in Oregon are less than half of what are needed to do the job.

Between now and the end of next year we should spend $26,500,000 to enlarge and improve the telephone system to meet the needs of the people of Oregon. To do this we must go to investors for money. Investors are alike in one thing—they put their dollars where they can expect safety and a fair return.

To provide a fair return, we are filing new rate schedules with the Public Utilities Commissioner of Oregon.
