Here is the proposed Upper Klamath lake development of the Klamath Yacht club, to be located in the north end of the Shippington lake front where the club has acquired property. Work is already starting on the harbor, and everything is set for construction of the first unit of the shore development.

Klamath Yacht Club Aims At Developing Interest In Boating On Klamath Lake

Boating on Upper Klamath lake has enjoyed a surge of interest this year through the organization of the Klamath Yacht club.

A score or more boats are represented in the club, which has acquired property on the lake front at Shippington for a clubhouse and harbor and has launched an active program designed to promote interest in recreational assets of Upper Klamath lake.

General aim of the Klamath Yacht club is to develop boating activities there for the benefit of both local people and tourists, and generally to make the lake more valuable to the entire community from a recreational standpoint.

Major project of the Yacht club is the clubhouse and moorage development on the club's site at the north end of the Shippington lake front beyond the Copco and the Elks properties.

Working plans have been completed for the development and work is ready to start on the first unit as soon as building permits are issued. At this week's council meeting it was indicated that the way has been cleared for approval of the building program under the local option clause of the city zoning ordinance.

The architect's drawing on this page shows the ultimate development planned for a period of about five years, with work already starting on the breakwater structures surrounding the harbor.

Officers of the club are:

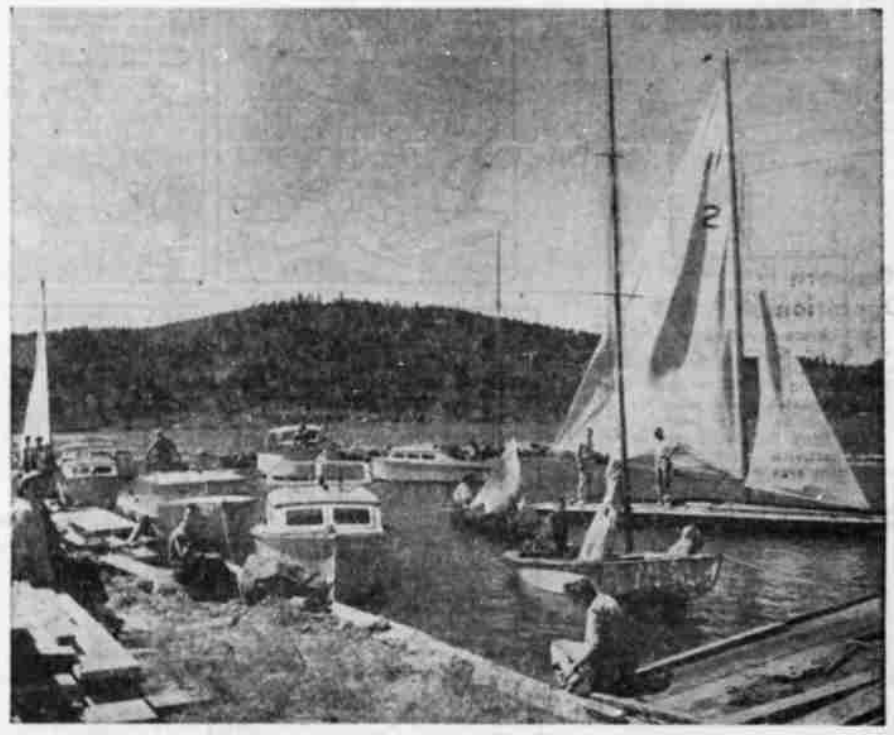
Don Sloan, commodore; Dr. Wayne Esperson, vice commodore; Dr. A. O. Roenicke, secretary; Dr. Merle Swansen, treasurer; Dr. Hugh Swaney, Louis Kandra and Will Wood, active board members; Art Rickbiel and L. Orth Sisemore, associate board members.

Boats owned by members of the club fall in three classes. They are sailboats, ranging from 15-foot Snipes to a 28-foot Great Lakes Skimmer; outboards, from racers to pleasure craft, and cruisers.

The club is now assisting in the plans for the Upper Klamath lake regatta to be held next Sunday. Members of the committee are Troy Cook, Don Divens and Joe Rhoads.

Right now the club is engaged in a membership drive directed by Jim Burness Sr., Jerry Thomas, Louis Mann and L. Orth Sisemore.

Active in forming the Yacht club was Bill Owens, who worked on the plan for more than a year before it materialized into the present active organization.



A notable increase in interest in Upper Klamath lake boating is reported this week, with the Upper Lake regatta coming up as a major event next Sunday. This picture shows activity in the harbor at Shippington on a recent occasion when many boat enthusiasts were out. The large sailboat with sail up is owned by Louie Mann, and other sailboats in the picture include those of Dr. Hugh Currin, Don Sloan and Bill Owens. Power boats in the picture are owned by Merle Swanson, Louis Kandra, Will Wood, Fred Fleet, Jim Burness and Dr. Hugh Swaney.

Aberdeen Plywood Plant To Close

ABERDEEN, June 23 (AP)—Because of "unsettled" market conditions the Aberdeen Plywood corporation will close down Friday night for at least three weeks, the first two of which constitute the regular summer vacation for the company's 360 workers.

Vern Nyman, vice president and general manager, said officials will study market conditions during the layoff, "and if there appears to be a general leveling off in prices, operations may resume July 19."

If the market remains unstable, however, the mill will remain closed, he said.
