Farm Phone Bill Pushed

WASHINGTON, June 28 (AP)—A bill to bring more telephones to the farms may get through the house this week with the help of a compromise move.

The rural telephone bill is next on the workbench after the house gets through the housing scrap.

A fight has been building up over the phone measure too, particularly over a feature that would let the government lend money for expansion.

ing country phone service at 2 per cent interest—less than the rate the treasury pays on some of the money it borrows.

Now the word is getting around from the democratic leadership that it might be a good idea to raise the rate in the bill to 2 1/2 or 3 per cent. And the author, Rep. Poage (D-Tex.) has indicated he is willing to go along on 2 1/2 per cent.

Poage's bill would let the rural electrification administration, which has spread electricity to thousands of farms, move into the telephone field. The REA would lend money
