These Days

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY
THE British embassy announces that the state of England is very good indeed. Here are its figures: "Production in British industry and in agriculture is about 25 per cent above the 1938 level. Unemployment is less than 2 per cent of all insured employees, compared with 11 per cent in 1938. The average working week now stands at just 45 hours compared with 46 1/2 in 1938. Average earnings are just under 6 pounds a week compared with just over 2 pounds 10 shillings a week in 1938.

Experts over the first four months of this year were about 50 per cent above the 1938 volume. The prices of our exports are now a little over two and a half times pre-war, but the cost of the goods we import has gone up nearly three times. The dollar deficit is still running at a rate of well over $1.2 billion a year. Over two-thirds of our supplies of food and raw materials from North America during the past year have been paid for out of gifts and loans from the U.S.A. and Canada.

In a word, this picture includes two salient facts: 1. "Over two-thirds of our supplies of food and raw materials from North America" were "paid for out of gifts and loans from the United States and Canada"—most of it being from the United States.

At Our Expense

It would be easier to relish the continued aid to Great Britain were it not that their experiments in socialism are at our expense and many of them are designed to produce a barter system of state monopolistic exports aimed at us. For instance, the

Colon Disorder Common III

By EDWIN F. JORDAN, M. D.
Written for MEA Service
One of the most common ailments known to civilized man is a condition most commonly called irritable colon or spastic colitis. There is no true inflammation present so that most doctors prefer the first name. Persons who have this condition often believe they are constipated because they do not have one or more satisfactory bowel movements a day.

In a person with an irritable colon the wavelike motions or peristalsis of the bowel which propel material down the intestines come too close together and force the waste along at a too-rapid rate.

Exposure to cold, and various irritating foods, especially raw fruits and vegetables, may make the condition worse. Cathartics and laxatives are frequently responsible for setting off an attack.

When the condition has not lasted too long treatment is fairly effective. This includes strict avoidance of laxatives and laxative foods, such as raw fruits and vegetables, so-called bland diet, consisting largely of cooked cereals, creamed soups, milk products, eggs, fish and other nonirritating substances, is also desirable.

Those who understand the relation between their nerves and the symptoms of their irritable bowel can also help themselves a great deal by trying to avoid annoyance, worry and emotional upsets.

Note: Dr. Jordan is unable to answer individual questions from readers. However, each day he will answer one of the most frequently asked questions in his column.

The Doctor Answers
QUESTION: Is there a safe way to bleach the hair on the arms or legs?
ANSWER: Probably the safest method is to use hydrogen peroxide.

Sudden Storm Hits New York Area

NEW YORK, July 5 (AP)—At least seven persons were dead and an estimated 20 small boats missing in the wake of a violent wind and rain squall that cut through the parched New York metropolitan area yesterday.

A similar sudden squall in the Boston area overturned boats and caused the drowning of a month-old baby girl.

The coast guard estimated that 20 small boats still are missing in the metropolitan area. A spokesman said, however, there was no immediate indication that the death toll would rise.

Truman's Brother Hospitalized

GRANDVIEW, Mo., July 5 (AP)—J. Vivian Truman, the president's brother, was hospitalized today by head injuries suffered in an independence day accident.

He fell from a barn loft on the family farm while removing picnic tables from the loft. Truman was knocked unconscious in the eight-foot tumble.

Dr. John R. McKee, the family physician, said his condition was not critical.

Truman, who is district director of the federal housing administration, was reported resting comfortably today by hospital attendants.

THAILAND FIGHTS ILLITERACY

BANGKOK, July 5 (AP)—The ministry of education has presented its long-term plan aimed at eliminating illiteracy in Thailand within the next ten years.

The ministry's report noted that it is spending $150,000 this year on its literacy program and has increased the number of schools for work with adults from 497 to 632.

BRITISH FLIRTATIONS WITH THE CHINESE COMMUNISTS

designed to buy off the attacks on Hongkong, are not sound from an American standpoint. A friend of mine recites this experience: "I flew over to London one day from Paris. I took a few pounds out of the safe in Paris for a bit of spending money while in London. When I went through the customs at the airport in England, the customs official asked me how much money I had with me. I opened my pocketbook and said, 'A few pounds.' He counted them very carefully and there were 13 pounds. He said to me, 'You know, you are only allowed to bring 5 pounds into England, 5 pounds of English currency.' I laughed and said, 'Yes, I did, but I did not really know how much English currency I had in my pockets.' 'I had a good many American travelers' checks.

"He told me, in a very pleasant but firm voice, that, of course, I understood that I could buy these pounds in New York for about $3.00. I told him that I understood that fully and that if he had a number of them to sell in New York it was difficult to obtain $3. for that was all they were worth. The customs official then told me that he would have to confiscate everything over 5 pounds, so he took my 3 pounds and gave me a receipt for the same. I told him that I was not going to charge it to him—leave it.

Silly! Of course, the British official was doing his duty, but the British government is so dollar-hungry that it discourages tourists, which could be highly profitable. By forcing American tourists to bring only American dollars to England, they are actually forcing many to go to France and Italy to spend their money. My friend states:

... in some instances, some of the stores ask you to give them prima-facie evidence that you have cashed American dollars into sterling to pay for your purchases. In short, the sterling is worth somewhere under $3 and they are trying to hold it up to $4 and are continually complaining about the dollar block.

Meanwhile the components of the British commonwealth of nations are forming trade agreements against American imports. In a word, when the Marshall plan billions are spent, American traders will face a series of British government-owned and operated cartels aimed at our economic destruction. Nobody paid for that before—but then we Americans like novelties.

Small Woman Too Much For Chinese Reds

SHANGHAI, July 5 (AP)—Pretty Mrs. Randall Gould, the wife of the communist press told it Saturday, is five feet one inch of something like dynamite.

It seems, according to the Chinese newspapers, she got tired of being barricaded in the Gould apartment yesterday by workers of her husband's Shanghai Post and Mercury.

The workers had besieged the apartment in an attempt to get Gould to resume publication of the American-owned English-language paper. He suspended it last week, saying it was apparent he could no longer exercise editorial control under the red regime.

The Chinese papers didn't see eye to eye on what happened. But the general idea was that she forced her way out of the apartment, leaving some banged-up Chinese workers behind.

The workers had control of the hallway outside the Gould apartment when Mrs. Gould started operation exit. She shoved open the kitchen door. In the hallway she encountered resistance.

What happened next wasn't made clear by the papers. One said two of the workers were slightly injured and a third was taken to a hospital.

There was very shortly, Mrs. Gould walked out the front entrance of the apartment house.

And Mr. Gould? Well, he finally got out, too. Communist authorities broke up the gathering at the apartment because they feared violence. He and the workers went to his office downtown. They're still arguing there.

THE GALLUP POLL

Majority Believe Truman Will Run Again

By GEORGE GALLUP
Director, American Institute of Public Opinion
PRINCETON, N. J., July 5—Will President Truman run again in 1952?

When asked that question at his press conference two weeks ago the president replied that he had no opinion.

But the majority of voters questioned in a national poll express the opinion, or "hunch," that he will run. Republicans in the poll are even surer than democrats that he will be a candidate again.

The vote follows:
"Do you think President Truman will be a candidate for re-election in 1952?"
Think he will 57%
Think he will not 32%
No opinion 11%

Here is the vote of those who classify themselves as democrats, republicans or independent voters:
Dem. Rep. Ind.
Think he will run 57% 63% 49%
Think he will not run 31% 30% 38%
No opinion 12% 7% 13%

Another poll, conducted among a comparable cross-section of voters, put the question in a slightly different way, as follows:

"Who do you think will be the democratic candidate for president in 1952?"
In this poll, too, President Truman ran way ahead of anyone.

An interesting news sidelight in the results is that Franklin D. Roosevelt Jr., who was recently elected to congress, got the second highest number of votes.

The totals follow:
Harry S. Truman 40%
Franklin D. Roosevelt Jr. 8%
Alben W. Barkley 7%
Dwight Eisenhower 2%
Others 6%
No opinion 43%

The "others" mentioned included: Dean Acheson, Chester Bowles, Louis Johnson, Scott Lucas, James Roosevelt.

Persons who classify themselves as democrats voted as follows:
Democratic Voters Only
Harry S. Truman 38%
Franklin D. Roosevelt Jr. 7%
Alben W. Barkley 2%
Dwight Eisenhower 2%
Others 6%
No opinion 45%

Two-Term Amendment
The proposed amendment to the federal constitution limiting the presidency to two terms would not apply to President Truman even if it were ratified by 1952.

The proposed amendment, or article, states that "this article shall not apply to any person holding the office of president when this article was proposed when this article was proposed by the congress."

The article was adopted by the house of representatives in February, 1947, and by the senate in March, 1947. To become law, ratification must take place by the legislatures of three-fourths of the states, or 36 states, within seven years from the date of its adoption by congress. Otherwise it becomes inoperative.

Thus far 23 states have ratified. The proposed amendment also deals specifically with the problem of presidents who, like Theodore Roosevelt and Harry Truman, serve for part of one term, and are then re-elected for a full term. It provides:

"No person shall be elected to the office of the president more than twice, and no person who has held the office of president, or acted as president, for more than two years of a term to which some other person was elected president shall be elected to the office of the president more than once."

Public opinion polls conducted by the institute in 1947 and earlier showed a majority of voters in favor of the two-term amendment idea.

In a way, few Chinese better personify their country's struggle for freedom and reform than Mrs. Sun Yat-sen, widow of the founder of the republic.

She is above all a product of the impact of western ideas of democratic freedom in an ancient and backward land. These made her a revolutionary, and set her apart from the rest of her family who have largely ruled China for 22 years.

In the end she has wound up in the arms of the communists. Why? Her story is the answer not only to her personal fate, but is a key to understanding how the pigged single bloc of the human race—the Chinese people—are submitting to communist control.

She was born Soong Ch'ing-ling in Shanghai. Ch'ing-ling was a student at Wesleyan college for women at Macon, Ga., when word came through in 1911 that Dr. Sun finally had overthrown the Manchus.

Full of American ideas of freedom and democratic reform, she returned to China to join Dr. Sun. When a warlord drove him out in 1915, she followed him to Japan and married him. When the Sun's returned, they found a coalition of other warlords had taken over in Peking and were keeping alive, like the Manchus, by trading bits of Chinese sovereignty off to stay in power.

Dr. Sun sought help from Britain and America. They turned him down. He turned to Soviet Russia, which posed as the friend of freedom in Asia. Russia sent advisors to help Sun reorganize his Kuomintang party along communist lines.

Chiang Kai-shek Over
Sun died in 1925, leaving a rising young general named Chiang Kai-shek took command of the party and its army. By 1927 he had defeated the northern warlords. He also had broken with the communists who had helped him win. The same year he married Ch'ing-ling's little sister, Mei-ling.

Her elder sister, Ai-ling, already had married a Shanghai banker named H. H. Kung.

Ch'ing-ling chose to flee with the communists. She went to Moscow and stayed until 1931. Back in China that year, she said:

"The Kuomintang has lost its position as the country's revolutionary party. The party's destroyers, far from being external enemies, are its own leaders."

She meant her brothers in law, Chiang Kai-shek and H. H. Kung, and her own younger brother, T. V. Soong, among others.

During the Japanese war, Mrs. Sun symbolized the united front against the foreign aggressor by staying in Chungking and doing relief work with her sisters. But when the war ended she again commended the Kuomintang—and the United States—for supporting it. She flatly predicted three years ago that American help to Chiang's government would lead only to civil war and that this would result in certain communist victory.

Last Friday, on the 28th birthday of the Chinese communist party, Mrs. Sun declared:

"This is a landmark in the revolutionary struggle of the Chinese people. We have shaken off the letters of imperialism and colonialism, we have routed up feudalism, and the people are traveling toward a new and brighter peak."

There you have it—reform and freedom. And who can Mrs. Sun or any Chinese thank but the reds?

One question is this: Has Mrs. Sun just been taken in by communist success in a situation where nothing better was presented to the Chinese in terms they found acceptable? There's room to doubt.

SAN DIEGO, Calif., July 5 (AP)—Forrest Warren met death unafraid, just as he said six weeks ago he would.

The 72-year-old newspaperman, columnist for the San Diego Daily Journal "just went to sleep" at 5 a. m. yesterday at his home.

Knowing he was dying of cancer, Warren told his readers about his approaching death in his column of May 17. He used the column as an appeal for the cancer fund research program. The Journal said the appeal had brought in $35,000 to date.

For folks who have been eregging the new $30 bills with a dubious squint, the bankers say there's nothing to worry about. The new bills have President Truman's new balcony added to the White House, the shrubbery is a little higher, four chimneys replace the two old ones and the flag now hangs at an angle. Apart from that they're good as gold... or, well, anyway they're all right. So you have nothing to worry about if you get a double sawbuck that brings the Washington scenery up to date. Mrs. D. Leigh Colvin, a congresswoman, Representative Royce Beck, Bonson, and two medical specialists in alcoholism.

I've kept you waiting a long time for the explanation of the above picture. This is the "Welcome Travelers" program, heard Monday through Friday, KPLW, at 12:45 p.m. The young lady, too excited to talk standing up, is interviewed sitting down by Tommy Bertlett.

Well, if there's anything you want to know about rodeos, just ask me. I've just finished covering my first boots-and-saddle show.

I didn't know if the cowboy was supposed to ride the bull or go three fast rounds with him when I first hit the grounds. But I learned a lot.

Thanks, too, so to Ray Williams, secretary-treasurer of the Roundup association; Keith Moon, proxy; Announcer Bud Bentley of Livermore, Calif.; Shirley Jones of the Millerick and Tyler outfit, who furnished the stock for the show; the cowboys and the judges for their all-the-way cooperation with your rookie rodeo reporter in helping me patiently in figuring out what was going on down there in the dust-filled arena.

Excuse me, I forgot to mention Reno Browne, blonde movie starlet and her press agent, Beth Keele, in the list of those who were very swell with their help.

If I've forgotten any who were so gracious with their help, it's because this radio coverage has been a little rugged. In fact, I feel as if I'd been out riding those rough, rough broncs and sitting astride the vicious Brahmas bulls.
