Visits—Mrs. Fred Hagen of Sioux City, Ia., and her daughter, Pamela, 5, are visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Gene Denton, in this city. The Dentons will take their daughter to Portland over the weekend to visit another daughter, Mrs. A. Anderson, before Mrs. Hagen leaves for the Midwest to return home.

Visit—In Klamath Falls for the Fourth holidays were Mr. and Mrs. Donald Ambers of Rogue River, Ore., and children, Donnie and Patty. They visited at the home of Mrs. Ambers' parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert L. Anderson of Shady Pine.

Tonsillectomy—Mike Newell, five-year-old son of LaVenna Newell of 1815 Earle, underwent a tonsillectomy Tuesday and is doing nicely today. His mother is a member of Kicky's sales staff.

See Festival—Among other Klamath folks at the coast last week was the Vern Owens family.

Astoria May Get Storage For Grain

ASTORIA, Ore., July 6 (AP)—Grain storage and shipping facilities planned here are expected to make this Columbia river city a major grain export center.

The North Pacific Grain Growers association, the Port of Astoria and the Pillsbury Flour Mills, Inc. are cooperating in the program announced recently. Storage for 1,500,000 bushels of grain is part of the new facility.

A. E. Sutton, Portland, general manager of the grain association, said he expects grain will begin moving to Astoria from grower points within 10 days. He said export shipments may begin within 40 days.

The regional growers association represents 43 affiliates with 12,000 farmer and grain sources in the Pacific Northwest.

The plan calls for the association to provide machinery and equipment, the Port of Astoria to provide storage space and guarantee deep water for shipping and Pillsbury to permit joint use of an elevator on lease from the port.

Sutton said his organization handles most of the grain exported from the region. The elevator here can handle 24 railcars each every eight hours.

Yugos Claim Reds Stealing Material

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia, July 5 (AP)—Yugoslavia's official press charged today the Soviet Union is appropriating Romania's rich raw materials.

Without quoting the sources of its information, the Yugoslav communist party newspaper Borba said widespread discontent, strikes and sabotage have resulted in Romania because of Russia's demands upon her economy, particularly for oil.

The article said on a fifth of the oil tapped from Romania's wells is allowed to remain in the country, the balance, it is said, is being removed to Russia as war reparations or as property of the soviet-controlled corporation, Sov Petrol.

Mrs. Heart Gains Hope As Doctors Give Her "Chance"

OKLAHOMA CITY, July 7 (AP)—Mrs. Heart — another chapter in the life of . . .

Well, you'll be glad to know she's feeling better — physically better and mentally better.

And — most important — Mrs. Heart thinks maybe her other doctors were wrong after all.

"I'm not as excited now as I was," this woman identified only as Mrs. Heart says, "and I do feel better, much better."

You remember her, of course. She is the middle-aged retired Oklahoma city businesswoman—a widow and moderately wealthy—who asked you for an assist in answering this question which was too big for her:

"Doctors have told me I'll die from a heart ailment in a year. I have $10,000 to spend in the next 12 months. How can I get the most enjoyment out of the money I've set aside?"

Well, that was three months ago. Lots has happened to her since then. These paragraphs will bring you up to date.

To begin with, Mrs. Heart went away from here. Not permanently, you understand. She just had to get away from all the excitement her request provoked.

Because it brought answers — 25,000 of them — from all over the world after it was published in newspapers in several countries. Some of the advice was sincere. But mostly it was selfish.

She did, though, have their affect on this woman who says she never learned how to enjoy her money. She decided to see some more doctors. She didn't know if it would help her. She was willing to give it a try.

"I'm under medical care again," Mrs. Heart says, "but I can't say what they tell me — not now. But I will say this — maybe my other doctors were wrong about me just having a year to live."

Well, she returned here only last week. Some personal business, she

Parents Ask Detention For Student Son

TACOMA, July 6 (AP)—The parents of Lawrence Jean Sharp petitioned in federal court here yesterday to have the 20-year-old youth committed to an institution for the insane.

Federal Judge Charles H. Leavy deferred a decision on the request until a sanity board has reviewed the case of the former University of Washington student who is charged with dynamiting the Vancouver home of his parents on April 1.

The petition was presented in behalf of Mr. and Mrs. Lucy G. Sharp, the parents, by Attorneys Hugo Metzler and Marshall McCormick, recently named as counsel for young Sharp.

The action was expected as the youth and his family have indicated continually that they felt he suffered from a mental breakdown.

Supporting affidavits by Mrs. George A. Fickles and Myron Haas, psychiatrists who had interviewed Sharp, declared they believed he was an "incipient schizophrenic and not accountable for his behavior." A schizophrenic has a split or dual personality as a result of a breakdown of the mental faculties.

This Guy Wants The Bare Facts

VANCOUVER, B. C., July 6 (AP)—A nude newspaperman in search of the bare facts . . . now there's an assignment.

That's the case of Vancouver Columnist Jack Scott, who is attending a nudist convention in Washington state.

Scott was formally invited to the nudist's meet.

His wife gave him written permission, plus a complete set of clothes in case he lost his nerve.

Now Scott is safely sequestered among 250 nude men, women, and children.

Civil Service Post Exams To Be Held

The U. S. civil service commission has announced an examination for two positions—wage-hour investigator and medical bacteriologist.

The position of wage-hour investigator is a provisional appointment in each of these states: Arizona, California, Idaho, Montana, Nevada, Oregon, Utah, and Washington. These positions, connected with the department of labor, pay an entrance salary of $3727 a year.

Wage-hour investigators make inspection of business establishments for compliance with the fair labor standards act and the public contracts act. In addition to meeting the four-year experience requirement, applicants will be required to take a written test.

Application must be received in the office of the regional director not later than July 18, 1949.

For the positions of medical bacteriologist in the various federal agencies in Washington, D. C., applications must be in by August 15 in the civil service commission office.

Positions in the U. S. public health service will also be filled. Salaries for bacteriologist range from $3727 to $5222 a year. The fields of work include: general medical bacteriology; antibiotics; immunology viruses; and veterinary bacteriology.

No written test is required.

Complete information concerning the above examinations may be obtained at the post office.

Search On For Missing Plane

FAIRBANKS, Alaska, July 6 (AP)—Planes from tenth rescue squadron, Ladd field, and WIEN airlines threaded through the Yukon river valley again today in search of a Louisiana couple and a WIEN pilot missing since late Saturday.

Nothing had been heard from Dr. and Mrs. Mel T. Cook and the pilot, Bill Curington, since they left Fort Yukon for Fairbanks in a light Cessna plane. Dr. Cook was identified as professor of plant pathology at Louisiana State university, Baton Rouge. The cooks were on a tourist trip.

Rescuers hoped to find the missing trio on one of the many river bars or open areas along the route.
