Stradivari Secret Told By Hobbyist

CREMONA, Italy (AP)—"Give me a man with the wonderful hands, ears and feeling for violins that Antonio Stradivari had, and I will show him how to make violins as good as the master's superb instruments." Thus says Prof. Renzo Bacchetta, Cremona lawyer who thinks he has penetrated the secrets of the man who 200 years ago brought the violin to a state of perfection not since equalled.

But the genius' secret technique, Bacchetta said, can only be turned into superlative violins by another genius. Bacchetta has already given the secrets to the Italian government—Antonio Stradivari school of violin making" here, and violins are being made according to what Bacchetta thinks were the master's methods.

The Stradivari school is open to students of all nationalities. It presently has eight students. One of these is 48-year-old Adolph Primavera, whose father is a violin maker at Philadelphia.

There are really three secrets according to Bacchetta's information: One is the kind of varnish. The second is the "preparation" of the instrument to allow an absolutely even application of the varnish. The third is in just what order and manner the 58 pieces that make up a violin were put together.

Alligator Makes Good House Pet

BUDAPEST, Hungary (AP)—Dogs and other common domestic animals in Hungary take a tax—but not the alligator owned by Laszlo Lipthay of Pecs.

The alligator was just a few inches long when he arrived from South America a little over 10 years ago. Now he measures around seven feet. He eats three whittings a week, but slept nine months last winter. All the alligator likes a comfortable armchair in the Lipthay home, and his master says: "Deep and sincere friendship binds us together."
