

Red Cross Report Shows Full Year Of Activity For Klamath County Unit

The American Red Cross is busy this time of year sending out its annual report to members throughout the county. The report, which is a summary of the work done throughout the past year, contains items that show the extensive operation of the Red Cross.

The Red Cross work is divided into sections, each with a chairman. The various divisions include home service, disaster, first aid, water safety, volunteer service, production, Junior Red Cross, campaign fund, and nurse enrollment.

During the past year the home service program, headed by Fred Fleet, handled 1230 cases averaging 100 cases per month. Of these cases, 80 per cent were concerned with veterans and their dependents. Financial assistance either by grant or on a loan basis was given 133 cases with a total output of $4180.02. Repayments have been received totaling $896.55.

While the disaster committee, under Otto Smith, chairman, did not have to contend with any large scale mishap, it was prepared for any that might come. On April 10 the communications sub-committee radio amateurs' section under the direction of George Connors sponsored a disaster drill to test its effectiveness under simulated disaster conditions. This drill was the largest of its type ever to be staged in the United States.

Radio stations in California, Washington, and Oregon co-operated, and the governor of Oregon asked for a full report of procedure after learning of the drill.

The water safety program, under the direction of Ella Redkey, was active throughout the year and will be especially busy during the summer months. Last year 19 programs were held with the cooperation of the Girl Scouts, Camp Fire Girls, Klamath Union high school, and city recreation department.

This year even wider plans have been established with the opening of the Malin pool and the OTI facilities.

Production of clothing for needy persons and hospitals is another job of the Red Cross. This year the group made sun suits and shirts for rehabilitation needs of the Navajo Indians and two dozens layettes for persons in the community.

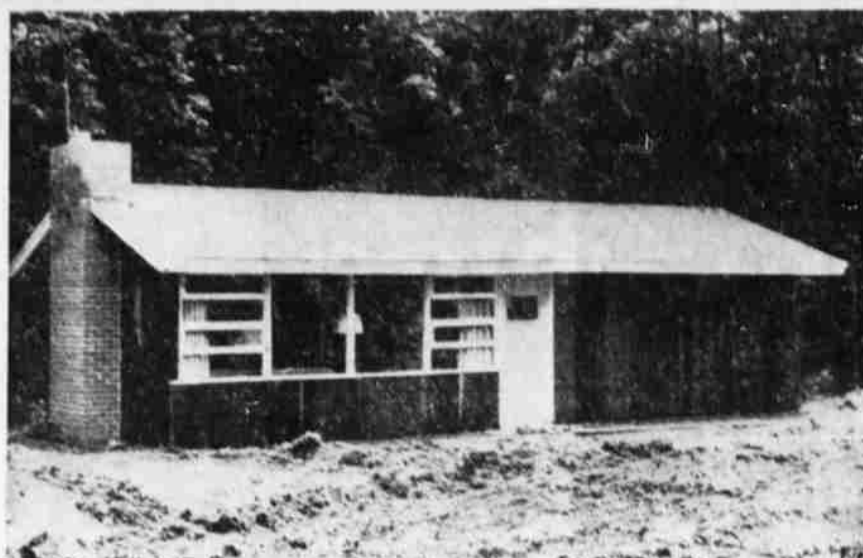

The budget allocation for purchasing materials was exhausted for items to the veterans hospitals, but more work will be done when allocation is made.

Mrs. Jessie Lyle heads this group. However, the item which is of the greatest concern in a monetary way to the group, is the campaign committee. The 1948 campaign did not achieve the goal set, but it surpassed the previous record for individual membership.

Five hundred volunteer workers, directed by Willard Ward, were involved in the drive for funds. The total membership reached was 4182 persons and 292 business firms.

The board of directors for the Red Cross includes Rev. David Barnett, Ted Case, John Ebinger, C. S. Elliot, Malcolm Epick, Jack Franey, George Fullerton, Arnold Gralapp, Frank Jenkins, Dr. S. M. Kerron, E. E. Kilpatrick, Mrs. William Lorenz, Mrs. Jessie Lyle, George A. Myers, Ella Redkey, Arthur Reinhart, Lynn Roycroft, Frank Schmidt, Orth Sismore, Otto Smith, Sam Smith, Mrs. Aitha Urquhart, Mrs. J. A. Ustick, Reese Taylor, Mrs. Harold Wimer.

Other items under Red Cross supervision are the Junior Red Cross, nurse enrollment, first aid teaching, and volunteer enrollment.

A HOPE FOR HOUSING DIFFICULTIES—Federal Rent Director Tighe Woods has built this modest $6750 home near Fort Bevoir, Va., which he thinks may help solve the military's housing difficulties. It is finished with redwood siding outside and plywood inside. It has one bedroom but livingroom (left) can be also used for sleeping quarters. Overall size is 15 by 38 feet.

Industrial Health Survey Of Klamath Area Started

An industrial health survey of the Klamath area was started today by industrial engineers from the state board of health.

The project, undertaken in cooperation with the office of Dr. Seth Kerron, county health officer, will be carried out by Kenneth H. Flocke and H. Ben Snyder, director of the industrial hygiene section of the state board of health.

Their procedure will be to call on all firms listed as industrial layouts in the directory of the bureau of labor, and determine what industrial health problems, if any, may exist in connection with the firm's operations.

Suggestions will be made to management in case problems are found. The survey does not have to do with accident prevention, but rather seeks out information concerning the possibility of health hazards, such as danger of carbon monoxide poisoning, lead poisoning, unsanitary conditions, and so on.

The program is generally educational. The engineers said they have found management cooperative and glad to eliminate problems that might lead to absenteeism, declining health and dissatisfaction.

About 190 Klamath county firms were listed in the bureau of labor directory, most of them in Klamath Falls. The survey will require about 10 days.

Dr. R. R. Sullivan, head of the industrial hygiene section, state board of health, will be here next week to assist in the survey.

Pickpockets Operate Here

Two reports of slick pickpocket activity here in town yesterday have been received by city police. In both instances the wallet taken turned up later, empty.

Richard Withain, Early hotel, reported last night he was walking on Main street when two strangers "bumped" him in the crowd. He later discovered his wallet was missing.

The wallet, Withain said, contained about $200 in cash and $100 in travelers checks. It was found later on the floor at the Waldorf.

Earlier in the afternoon Lester Aas, 335 Alameda, came to the police station to display a slit in the hip pocket of his trousers he said apparently was cut while he was sitting at the counter of a local restaurant.

His pocketbook was removed and with it about $56. The wallet was found in a vacant lot at Klamath and Commercial.

Peet Takes On Ag Field Job

WASHINGTON, July 21 (AP)—Herbert M. Peet of Seattle, former Montana and Everett newspaperman, is to be the agriculture department's field representative in the Pacific Northwest states.

Secretary Brannan announced the appointment yesterday, effective tomorrow. Peet succeeds George Hudson.

Peet, a personal friend of Brannan's, has been serving as executive secretary of the forest products commission, a Washington state agency interested primarily in research activities.

Peet also will represent agriculture on the Columbia basin inter-agency committee.

Peet went to Washington state nearly 20 years ago after having been editor of Great Falls, Mont., Tribune for 11 years. He was co-publisher of the Everett Morning News for six years prior to its demise in 1935.

Harrington Gets Ten-Year Term

Lee Harrington, 41-year-old Indian, this morning was sentenced to 10 years in the Oregon state prison on conviction on a charge of sodomy.

Harrington was convicted by a circuit court jury 10 days ago. Sentence was passed by Circuit Judge David R. Vandenberg.

The judge remarked from the bench that he had taken into consideration the delinquency of the 14-year-old boy who was the prosecuting witness against Harrington in deciding against a maximum 15-year sentence.

Harrington was imprisoned in 1939 for a similar offense.

President Lashes Senate Judiciary

WASHINGTON, July 21 (AP)—President Truman said today it seems to be the policy of senate judiciary committee to hold up action on his appointments on federal officials.

That was his reply when asked at a news conference for comment on the committee's delay in passing on the nomination of Carol Switzer to be a federal district judge in Iowa.

Senator Gillette (D-Iowa) has protested Switzer's selection, made against Gillette's recommendation. It has kicked up a fight in the judiciary committee.

Mr. Truman said he had no intention of withdrawing the nomination. That was his answer to a reporter who wanted to know whether he thought the time had come to withdraw it.

Golf Tourney To Put Out Lessons

No junior golf courses or golf lessons will be given on Saturday, July 23 or Saturday, July 30, due to a conflict with the all-county golf tournament slated on those two week-ends.

Reds Driving Deeper Into Central China

CANTON, July 21 (AP)—Nationalist China's comeback hopes, aroused by the visit of Chiang Kai-shek to Canton, were dimmed today by news from the Central China front.

Private reports placed the communists only 20 miles north and east of Changsha, capital of Hunan province.

The reports suggested the city would be abandoned without a fight. Nationalist troops in Hunan, like those in Hupoh and Kiangsi provinces are commanded by Mission Gen. Bai Chung-hai, former minister of defense. He is estimated to have 200,000 men.

The question is whether Bai will fight a decisive battle against the Reds in Hunan or retire.

If he pulls out, another question is where will he go—Kwangtung province or his native Kwangsi?

Meanwhile, Chiang has flown back to his island redoubt of Formosa. His main accomplishment while he was here was to form a 12-man emergency council which he directed. The council, in effect, will direct the war against the Reds.

Gen. Teng Wen-yi, army spokesman, boasted that nationalists force in Hunan would meet and "annihilate" the communists.

Theft Of Two Pistols Reported

Two pistols were reported to city police yesterday as stolen sometime in the past few weeks.

Howard A. Marks, 2201 Vine, reported a .22-caliber Coits Woodsman taken from his car, and Delayne Hugg, 208 1/2 Martin, reported a Japanese 9mm pistol taken from his house.

Neither was certain of the date of the thefts.

False Alarm Brings Out Firemen

The city fire department came out in force at about 10 o'clock last night after receiving a call to the Pelican cafe. However, the alarm proved to be false.

Smoke from a motor that had burned out earlier in the day was still hanging about the building when the alarm was turned in.

Real Estate Fee Suit Filed Here

A lawsuit for collection of $2500 allegedly due as commission on a real estate transaction was instituted today in circuit court by Henry Newhouse, Klamath Falls real estate broker.

Mr. and Mrs. John Fehlen are named as defendants.

The lawsuit involves a building at S. Sixth and Hope which was owned by Fehlen and purportedly listed for sale with Newhouse November 18, 1948. The asking price was $50,000 and Newhouse was to get 5 per cent commission, the realtor's complaint says.

Newhouse claims he located a buyer but that the building was sold by Fehlen to the buyer direct and the real estate agency did not receive the commission.

Deed records show the building was sold to Dean Hall on February 9 and revenue stamps indicate the transaction involved considerably less than $50,000.

Very Used Car Comes To Town

ASTORIA, July 21 (AP)—The used car business—very much used—was doing well here today.

The Lovell Auto company sold a 1906 Buick, which had been in the firm's used car stock for 30 years.

Buyer was A. L. Vinson, Klamath Falls auto dealer, who said he was going to put it in running order.

It cost Vinson $25.

Bride To Have Long Honeymoon Wait

ASTORIA, July 21 (AP)—Robert B. McCready's bride is going to have a long wait for the rest of her honeymoon.

McCready, arrested in Kelso, Wash., on his honeymoon earlier this week, was sentenced to 10 years imprisonment for forging checks, the stiffest sentence meted out here in two years. He pleaded guilty.

Police had sought McCready for months, on a charge of buying flowers for out-of-town funerals, and then paying for them with bad checks.

He was finally located when a policeman happened to read, in the society section, the notice of McCready's wedding.

Sacred Heart Music Class Open

Most activities at the Sacred Heart Academy have ceased for the summer months, but the music school is as busy as usual. Sixty-five students are engaged in taking voice, piano, violin or cello lessons from the two teachers, Sister Rose Claire and Patsy Clark, remaining on the staff during the summer months.

Repairs are being made on the building also. Workmen at present are repairing the cement filling in the brick wall, and linoleum has been laid in several rooms in preparation for the resumption of classes.

Former Klamath Resident Passes

Word has been received of the death of a former Klamath Falls resident, Moorman Royal Riggie, 57, in Seattle, Wash., July 9.

Mr. Riggie lived in Klamath Falls about eight years ago and was a printer for The Herald and News.

Funeral services were held from Columbia Funeral home in Seattle Tuesday, July 12 at 3 p. m. Interment was in the Veterans Memorial section of Washelli cemetery in Seattle. Mr. Riggie was a World War I veteran.

Tuna Catch Big, But Prices Down

ASTORIA, July 21 (AP)—Tuna catches were large today—but the price was down.

Nearly four tons of albacore tuna were landed here, as the tuna season began with a stable run off the Oregon coast.

But the price, which rocketed to an amazing $650 a ton last year, was generally only $350. A few small packers were paying slightly more.

Tuna fishermen hoped the price might rise to $400 by mid-August, but held out no expectations of repeating last season's gold mine.

This season's price is the lowest since 1944.

Five Salesmen Up On Selling Count

Five magazine salesmen were picked up Wednesday afternoon by city police for violation of Klamath Falls "Green River ordinance" prohibiting door-to-door soliciting.

They were located in Mills addition and the manager of the crew, Walter Robert Gutierrez, 21, posted $25 bail on the charge.

Salesmen Jake Roger Sandoval, 25, Raymond Foster Beusher, 21, Thomas Corbett Christian, 22, and Ralph Alden Barrow, 28, were freed without bail.

LOAN
JUNEAU, Alaska, July 21 (AP)—The territory of Alaska, temporarily broke, wants to borrow a million dollars.

The territorial board of administration authorized Treasurer Henry Roden yesterday to try to get it from Seattle bankers. He was to leave today.

Roden said Alaska has $1,300,000 in the bank, but it's earmarked for certain uses.

Money to pay back the desired loan is "in sight between the middle and end of January," Roden explained.
