THE DOCTOR SAYS

TB Surveys Save Many

By EDWIN F. JORDAN, M.D.
Written for NEA Service

The great white plague, or tuberculosis as it is more commonly known today, is an infectious disease. The germ which causes it is most commonly caught from a person with the disease, although it can be carried also by unpasteurized milk or contaminated meat.

The best line of attack is to prevent the spread of the germ. One of the best ways to attack this problem is to survey the entire population of a community or city with the aim of picking out those who have the disease but do not even know it.

People who do not even know they have tuberculosis may infect others. The community survey has now become possible because of revolutionary improvements in the technical methods of diagnosing tuberculosis. This technical improvement involves the use of a tiny or miniature X-ray film.

Big-City Experiment
Probably Savannah, Ga., was one of the first large cities to try this method out on a large scale. The county in which Savannah is located has a population of 150,000. During the autumn of 1945, nearly 75,000 residents of the county appeared voluntarily for chest X-rays.

Since that time several other cities including Washington, D. C., Seattle, Wash., and Cleveland, Ohio (in which such a survey is now in progress), have carried out similar X-ray surveys aimed at revealing unsuspected cases of the disease.

Mass tuberculosis surveys offer a wonderful means of picking out unknown tuberculosis (and often equally unknown other diseases of the chest). This permits many thousands to obtain proper treatment early enough to bring about a cure and helps to protect their many relatives and friends from acquiring this serious disease.

Note: Dr. Jordan is unable to answer individual questions from readers. However, each day he will answer one of the most frequently asked questions in his column.

THE DOCTOR ANSWERS

Question: Some members of my family are subject to bloating, indigestion and nervousness with coated tongue and backache. What is this condition?

Answer: There are several possibilities. The most likely is a condition called spastic colon. The bloating could be caused by swallowing air unconsciously, a condition which is fairly common and associated with some nervous dispositions.

Merrill Scouts To Attend Camp

MERRILL, Aug. 3—Merrill Scout troop 7 left last Sunday morning to spend a week at summer camp at Crescent lake. The boys have been working hard selling peanuts and cold drinks at the softball games and have earned enough money to pay their camp fees.

Ozere Christensen, assistant scoutmaster, accompanied the boys, who were driven to the lake by Mr. and Mrs. Rudy Skalicky, A. K. Pelt, and Mr. and Mrs. John O'Neill. Troop members making the trip were Dale Skalicky, Irven Deadwiley, Earl Loper, Johnny O'Neill, Dick Fields, Clifford Honeycutt, Billy Polmateer and Leland Winters.

Foreign Aid Tangle Gets New Twist As Matter Of German Control Pops Up

WASHINGTON, Aug. 2 (AP)—The state department has protested to senate leaders that the new foreign aid bill would block the army from turning over German occupation duties to civilian control.

This surprise development cropped up as the senate met today to try to untangle the snarl over the $5,647,724,000 foreign aid measure.

Democratic Leader Lucas of Illinois said the state department protested the action of the senate appropriations committee in stripping house amendments from the bill. He predicted these amendments will be restored to eliminate this threat. But until the action is taken

Gas Dumping, Private Eye Rules Made

Control of gasoline dumping in the city and changing of the private detective fees were handled by passage of emergency ordinances at Monday night's council session.

The ordinance governing gasoline tank wagons is designed to keep the tankers from extending into city streets, alleys and sidewalks while dumping loads at service stations.

The ordinance was necessary to prevent accidents and injury to property and persons, councilmen said.

The detective ordinance changes the annual fee for agencies from $10 to $25 while private detectives over one working out of local agencies will do so $10 annually. The old ordinance set their fee to the city at $25.

The amended ordinance calls for levying a yearly fee of $25 for investigators who come into the city to ply their trade.

Driver Cited In Near-Accident

George Harzel Baldwin, 30, of Bonanza, was picked up by state police early this morning on highway 66 after a near-accident with a Red Ball stage.

Baldwin was charged with drunk driving and placed in the county jail. The arresting officer said he observed Baldwin's car weaving across the highway and narrowly miss the bus.

Exchange Club Has Biggest Turnout

Some 60 members and guests attended the regular meeting of the Exchange club here Tuesday, marking the largest meet of the year.

Dr. Richard Curran was guest speaker of the day, delivering an address on the medical man's outlook on socialized medicine.

Guests included Myron Shannon, First National bank branch manager and Ray Knapp, Oregon manager of the Phoenix insurance group.

Carl Williams was welcomed in as a new member.

Prineville Fire Under Control

PRINEVILLE, Aug. 3 (AP)—Loggers and foresters brought a timber fire in an Ochoco national forest canyon 75 miles northeast of here under control today.

A crew of 110 men completed a fire line around the 100-acre blaze this morning. It was one of five set off by lightning. The others were quelled quickly yesterday.

Education Meet Asked

WASHINGTON, Aug. 3 — Four house labor committee Democrats, all freshmen, demanded today that Chairman Lestinski (D-Mich.) call another meeting on federal aid to education.

Lestinski said he got a letter from the four, requesting a session to follow up yesterday's no-decision meeting marked by two hours' angry debate.

"I said yesterday I might call another meeting," Lestinski said, "but now I don't know about it."

The four were Representatives Oklahoma, Perkins of Oklahoma, South Carolina, Steed of Oklahoma, South Carolina, and Jacobs of Indiana.

In spite of this move, house action on school aid this year appeared out of the question, although some backers still cling to a faint hope for committee action.

Democratic leaders said privately they do not have any school help bill on their schedule for the rest of the current session. They are hoping congress will adjourn early next month.

The committee has four bills before it. Some would allow federal money to go to non-public schools, one would restrict it to public schools alone.

SCHOOL VOTE

MEDFORD, Aug. 3 (AP)—A newly consolidated school district will vote tomorrow on authorizing purchase of 27 acres at $10,000 for a new high school site.

The election will cover Central Point, Gold Hill, Willow Spring, and Table Rock districts.
