

Russia Fires Full Broadside In Wild Attack On Yugo Government; Says Tito Throwing Country To West Powers

MOSCOW, Aug. 12 (AP)—Soviet Russia denounced the Yugoslav government today as an enemy of the Soviet Union and charged that Premier Marshal Tito's regime more and more is throwing in its lot with the west.

This sweeping Soviet attack, made public by the Moscow radio, was contained in a Russian note to Yugoslavia.

The note stated that Tito's regime as early as April, 1947, had been willing to abandon its basic claims for Austrian territory as compensation for war losses, but wished to shift the responsibility for this decision to the Soviet government.

The note was the fourth in a series of bitter diplomatic exchanges between Moscow and Belgrade over what the Yugoslavians regarded as Russia's abandonment of Yugoslav territorial claims at the recent Big Four foreign ministers conference in Paris.

(Although Tito and the Kremlin have been at odds for more than a year, the note marked the first time that Russia had used the term "enemy" in referring to the Yugoslav government.)

Diplomatic observers in London wondered whether this latest outbreak of name calling signaled a sharper Soviet policy against the Tito government.

Last week Tito alerted his troops in Yugoslavia, Macedonia, between communist Bulgaria and Albania, and said his Soviet-dominated neighbors were spreading rumors of a possible red army invasion there.

The Yugoslav leader was quoted by his official news agency as dismissing the reports as attempted intimidation, but warned he was ready to fight any invader.

Referring to the present nature of Yugoslav-Russian relations, the Soviet note said:

"That certain strong ties bind the Yugoslav government or chief persons in the Yugoslav government with the camp of foreign capitalists. The Yugoslav government more and more is joining up with imperialistic circles (the west) against the U.S.S.R. and is in a bloc with them."

"That the Soviet government can no longer consider the Yugoslav government as an ally. The Russians published a letter from Yugoslav Foreign Minister Edvard Kardelj dated April 26, 1947, in which he offered variations of the minimum Yugoslav demands on Austria. In essence, these reduced Yugoslavia's claims to a small piece of territory containing two electric power stations.

The Soviet note charged the Yugoslav government was afraid to bear the responsibility for sacrificing national interests, but wanted instead to have the Soviet Union play the role. Russia refused to be cast as a "political swindler," the note said.

Yugoslavia's communist government, which was intimately associated with the other communist regimes of Eastern Europe in the immediate postwar period, was expelled from the Moscow-directed cominform (communist international information bureau) a little more than a year ago. The Kremlin accused Tito and his followers of nationalistic deviations from orthodox communism.

Russia and the countries in her sphere then put an economic squeeze on Yugoslavia.

General Vaughan has indicated his willingness to testify before the committee at "any time the committee wants to hear him," Hoy said.

EARTHQUAKE SURVIVORS—Makeshift tents and cots in a square at Ambato, Ecuador, serve as a temporary shelter for survivors of the earthquake which devastated a large portion of this small South American country. Doctor Talks Rampaging Steelworker Out Of House After Battle With Police

By ELMER C. VOGEL
STEELECOOM, Wash., Aug. 12 (AP)—The quiet, persuasive voice of a Tacoma doctor early today talked a rampaging steelworker out of a house in which a woman had died—possibly violently.

Fourteen peace officers using tear gas and billy clubs had failed in a three-hour effort to bring him out.

The steelworker was John Davis, 43, and the dead woman was identified tentatively as Mrs. Arleen Stone, 47, both of Tacoma.

Davis was being held in the Pierce county jail early today. Officers said his condition prohibited immediate questioning.

Coroner Paul Mellinger said the woman had been brutally mutilated.

Davis' wife told officers this story: Her husband and the woman came to the Davis house, an unfinished residence on a side road at 7 p. m. last night. Both were intoxicated. Davis ordered his wife from the house.

Watching from a window, Mrs. Davis said she then saw the couple "lie on a first rate binge" until the woman appeared to pass out on a bed.

When Mrs. Stone began to bleed violently from Davis' intimacies, Mrs. Davis said she called the sheriff's office.

Deputy Sheriffs Cliff Tolson and Russell Wall attempted to enter the house but were greeted by a barrage of beer bottles, iron bars, bricks and various kitchen utensils.

Five tear gas shells fired into the house had no effect.

Finally after a sharp scuffle the deputies managed to remove the woman's body outside, but were unable to subdue Davis who threatened them with a long iron bar.

Five carloads of officers arrived at this time and Davis barricaded himself within the house, shouting obscenities and daring "you a.s.'s" to come in.

Throughout it all, Davis appeared amazingly unaffected by the tear gas.

A short time later, he offered to come out only if Dr. Chris Reynolds, a Tacoma physician, was called. Dr. Reynolds arrived about 1:15 a. m. and within a few minutes had talked Davis into putting on his clothes and going down to the county jail with him.

Reynolds said he presumed Davis asked for him because he had treated him three months ago for a broken arm.

Both Parties In Need Of Face Lifting

WASHINGTON, Aug. 12 (AP)—Rep. Cotton (R-NH) thinks the country would be better off if the democrats were "a little less slap-happy" and the republicans "a little more alive."

He said so in a letter to his constituents.

To illustrate what he meant, he described two Washington functions he attended. One was a party given by Rep. Boykin (D-Ala.) honoring House Speaker Rayburn (D-Tex.).

The other was a republican national committee dinner to start the 1950 political campaign.

Cotton said the party for Rayburn was a "sumptuous affair" but "I couldn't help but feel that a little less hilarity and a little more dignity" were called for.

Of the GOP "kick off" dinner, he said:

"They were certainly solemn enough. In fact they had all the buoyant enthusiasm and confidence that Lebanon (N.H.) high school would have in kicking off against Notre Dame.

"For the main speaker they resurrected Will Hays, chairman of the party in 1920, who droned on about 'the good old days.'

"At about 10:30 we dried our tears and went home."
