Lois Cada Is Lovely Bride

Before an altar banked with baskets of white gladioli, snow queen daisies, and woodwardia fern, Lois Mary Ann Cada, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Cada, became the bride of George Martin Long, son of Mrs. Elizabeth Long.

Rev. Irvin Twest read the 2 o'clock Sunday afternoon candle-lighted ceremony which was held at the Klamath Lutheran church. Before the ceremony the organist, Mrs. A. H. Denison, played nuptial music as the guests gathered in the pews marked with gladioli and white ribbons.

Lois, who was escorted to the altar on the arm of her father, was gowned in white satin trimmed with French lace. The dress was fashioned with a Peter Pan collar, a fitted bodice and a full skirt, which was trimmed with lace in an apron effect. Her train was also edged in lace.

Topping her blonde curls was a lace on satin halo from which fell an illusion net veil trimmed with lace. For her flowers she carried a bouquet of pink and white rosebuds, and she also carried a handkerchief belonging to her aunt, Mrs. Helmer Ostrom.

Matron of honor was Mrs. Hubert Vanderhoff, who was gowned in rose dotted swiss. A crocheted Dutch hat completed the ensemble. Bridesmaid was Janice Bilyeu. Janice wore a yellow gown similar to that of the matron of honor. Both dresses were styled with a fitted bodice and ruffles decorating the skirts. The two girls carried bouquets of Shasta daisies.

Waiting with George at the altar was Ted Ig, best man and fraternity brother of the groom. Ushers were Dick Cada, brother of the bride, and Ben Larson, fraternity brother of the groom.

Carl Hazel was soloist for the wedding. He sang the "Lord's Prayer" during the ceremony and "O Perfect Love" while the bride and groom were kneeling at the altar.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Cada wore an afternoon dress of turquoise blue crepe with black accessories. A corsage of tallman roses was pinned at the shoulder. Mrs. Long chose a pearl gray dress with navy accessories. A corsage of Tallman roses was pinned at her shoulder.

After the ceremony the reception was held in the church parlors where the young couple greeted their guests.

After they cut their cake, it was served by Mrs. Lane Warren, and Mrs. E. E. Miller. Mrs. Helmer Ostrom, aunt of the bride from Nyssa, poured at the punch table. Josephine Thornton was in charge of the guest book.

For her going away ensemble, Mrs. Long wore a red suit with a white felt hat. She wore navy shoes and carried a navy purse. The white rose corsage from her bouquet was pinned at her shoulder.

The young couple went to San Francisco, Yosemite and Carmel on their honeymoon. Upon their return they will reside in this city until October, when they will leave for Portland, where George will enter the University of Oregon Medical school.

George has been attending Oregon State college where he was affiliated with Beta Theta Pi. He was one of 13 students from OSC chosen for medical school for this fall.

Sunday Rites Unite Couple

Elizabeth June Hershberger, daughter of Mr. Alice Hershberger and the late Jack Hershberger, exchanged vows Sunday with Clarence Elmer Reich, son of Mr. and Mrs. Adam Reich of Portland, at the First Baptist church in a lovely 2 o'clock ceremony.

The church was decorated with white and yellow gladioli and woodwardia fern. Four large baskets of gladioli and two of fern enriched the altar scene which was lighted by two candelabra. The pews were marked with yellow ribbons and white gladioli.

The ushers lit the tall candles before the ceremony began. Soloist Gordon Green, cousin of the bride from LaGrande, sang two songs, "Because" and "Through the Years," and another cousin of the bride, Don Hunsaker of Salem, accompanied him, as well as playing the nuptial music.

Rev. Simpson L. Tidwell read the ceremony to the young couple.

Escorted to the altar by her brother, Ronnie, the bride wore a white satin gown with a marquisette yoke trimmed with French silk lace. The dress was fashioned with long pointed sleeves and a fitted bodice which buttoned down the back. Four ruffles of lace
