Camp 6-W

Last Friday, August 5, was a big night for all the camp children. It was the night of the program. They had worked for three weeks learning their parts and practicing with the helpful guidance of Mrs. Dick Fairfield. Coaching the tiny tots through their parts were Mrs. Fred Peters and Mrs. Don Huck. Mrs. Thomas Thomson coached five little girls in a tap routine. The night before the program it was decided to use the Scout cabin instead of the cook house, and with the generous efforts of Mrs. Bob Brown, Mrs. Hank Waldrep, Mrs. George Rogers and Mrs. Fred Peters, the cabin was put in order for the event.

First on the program was a Tom Thumb wedding. Little Roger Peters played the minister; Darwin Huck Jr. the usher; Blaine Bemis, best man; Larry Henderson, groom; Molly Chandler, ring bearer; Charlotte Wright, maid of honor; Donna Smith and Faye Brown were flower girls; Nancy Thomson, the bride; and Stephen Peters and Billy Mike Thompson, train bearers. An unhearsaid event took place when immediately after the couple said their "I do's" the groom ran to the arms of his mother. The bride stamped her foot in annoyance, but the spectators applauded with gusto.

This was followed by the five little dancing girls doing a Yankee Doodle tap number. They were Carol Bemis, Donna Thompson, Sheri Waldrep, Shirley Peters, and Georgia Ann Leatherwood. Next was a cowboy band composed of Jimmy Leatherwood, Sammy Chandler, Jerry Bob Henderson, Marvin Brown, Danny Thomson, Jerry Smith and Jackie James. These little boys played soundless instruments which they made themselves. Two lively records made the music. This number had great audience appeal. Next Ramona Marks, Georgia Thomson, and Beverly Napier sang "Don't Fence Me In" and "Sioux City Sue." Joe Leatherwood and Levert Henderson sang "Home on the Range."

Then the whole group of older boys and girls sang "Down in the Valley" and with Mrs. Dick Fairfield singing the verses, they sang the choruses of "Jimmy Crack Corn."

A group of nine single numbers competed for the prizes of the evening, the first being Joe Leatherwood reciting "Miss Kay Binolia." Next was Levert Henderson playing two numbers on his Hawaiian tremelo. Georgia Thomson did a "Turkey in the Straw" tap dance. Beverly Napier recited a conical version of "Mary Had a Little Lamb." J. C. Morehead was a radio announcer. Danielle Waldrep sang "Come Let's Play We're Indians." Harold Winfield, in blackface, did an imitation of Al Johnson. Ramona Marks recited an amusing telephone conversation. Levert Henderson did his bird imitations, and Jimmy Leatherwood in blackface recited "My Itty Bitty Sista." Each number was greeted with hearty applause. A collection was taken up for prize money and the audience voted for the number they liked best. Harold Winfield won first by a large majority. Jimmy Leatherwood won second and Danielle Waldrep and Levert Henderson tied for third. All the other youngsters on the program received cash consolation awards.

During the voting the adults, lured to the stage by Mrs. Bob Winfield and Mrs. Gordon Good, got ready to do their share of the entertaining. Mrs. Arnell Leatherwood gave a very clever recitation, "No, No, Huh-unh, Not Me." Mrs. Fred Peters delighted the audience with a singing recitation of "His Rocking Horse Ran Away" and for an encore sang "Freight Train in Blues." Next came Goose Grease Joe, "The Hungry Hobo" done by a character in such complete make-up the audience was baffled, but it was learned later that it was none other than Mrs. George Rogers. Van and Squeekie the camp musicians gave out with two numbers, followed by the final treat of the evening, a style show by the men. Among the sultry styers represented were a Sadie Hawkins, a Carmen Miranda, and a genuine Hawaiian Hula girl. This brought screams of laughter from the audience. They were Arnell Leatherwood, Hank Waldrep, Bob Brown, Fred Peters, Dick Fairfield, and Sam James.

This program played to a packed house, which proved over again, as it has for many events in the past, that the Scout cabin is quite inadequate for community undertakings. It is sincerely hoped that sometime in the near future a hall or community building of commensurate size can be provided for such useful entertainment.
