Yakima 'Polio' Cases Studied By Foundation

YAKIMA, Aug. 18 (AP)—Scientists are checking the possibility that some supposed polio victims here are actually sufferers from a mild form of sleeping sickness.

The check is being made by the Hooper Foundation for Medical Research at the University of California. Blood samples from some polio patients are being analyzed in San Francisco now.

Prior to his departure from San Francisco, the head of the medical team, Dr. W. M. Hammon, said the group was curious to know why encephalitis (sleeping sickness) has declined in recent years in the Yakima valley while polio has increased.

He said that some cases of non-paralytic polio closely resemble a form of sleeping sickness in which the victim does not lose consciousness.

Disclosure of the Yakima survey coincided with announcement by Yale university scientists that a new and apparently non-crippling virus may account for a large number of cases that have been diagnosed as poliomyelitis.

Americans, reports the Tea bureau, use about 23 million pounds of tea a year for iced tea.
