

Marjorie Ongman Sunday Bride

In a lovely summer setting of white gladioli, palms and lighted tapers, Marjorie Ongman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Victor Ongman, became the bride of James Conroy, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Conroy of Lakeview. The ceremony was read Sunday, August 14, at 3 p. m. in the Sacred Heart Catholic church with Rev. Father Stone officiating.

The bride, who was escorted down the aisle by her father, wore a slipper gown styled with a fitted bodice and full court train. The gown had a yoke of imported Venice lace with a Queen Anne collar. Her fingertip veil was of French illusion net and was fastened to a halo of seed pearls.

She carried a white Swedish Bible borrowed from her father, on which was placed an orchid tied with white stephanotis and white satin streamers.

Marjorie's only jewelry was a strand of pearls, a gift of the groom. She wore the traditional blue garland.

The maid of honor, a cousin of the bride, was Mrs. Herbert Evans of Portland. She was gowned in aqua taffeta with a matching picture hat. She had an arm bouquet of pink gladioli. The bridesmaids were Mrs. H. James Harrell of Parkland, Wash., cousin of the bride, and Norma Steuben of this city. Their gowns were fashioned similar to that of the maid of honor.

Each attendant wore a lavalier. Best man was James D. English, fraternity brother of the groom from Corvallis. Ushers were James Hansen and Jack La Franchise of Portland, also fraternity brothers, and Darwin Wisenback and Irwin Wisenback of the city.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Ongman chose a navy dress and hat. A purple orchid was pinned at her shoulder. Mrs. Conroy was attired in a navy blue floral crepe dress with white accessories and an orchid. Mrs. Rose Barret, grandmother of the groom of Pilot Rock, wore a black dress with a corsage of white carnations and pink roses.

Mrs. A. Dennison played the nuptial music and accompanied Russell Toycon as he sang "God Bless the Bride and Groom" by Mendelssohn. Following the double ring ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents. After the couple cut the first piece of the cake, Mrs. A. Ledford, Portland, aunt of the bride, continued to serve. Mrs. Ray Younk, aunt of the groom, poured coffee while the bridesmaids served punch. Others assisting were Mr. and Mrs. Russell Toycon, Mr. and Mrs. Cliff Ongman.

Mrs. James Harrell assisted the couple in opening the gifts. Mrs. Cliff Ongman had charge of the guest book.
