

Community College To Offer Full Freshman Work In Klamath Falls Session

With the opening of the newly established Klamath Falls Community college on September 19, a complete year of college accredited freshman courses will be offered through the general extension division of the state system of higher education under a carefully selected staff chosen by the local administrators, Dean J. F. Cramer of the general extension division, and the deans of those state institutions whose courses are included in the curriculum.

DR. EUGENE MELDER

The community college plan, authorized by the last legislature in the passage of the Dunn bill, will be initiated only in Klamath Falls and Bend during the first year with the possibility of a sophomore schedule being added as the plan develops. It is a cooperative program whereby local facilities are used with the local school district guaranteeing the mutually approved budget, and the general division supplying the accredited college work and staff at considerably of numerous books and publications: Dr. F. Eugene Melder, assistant professor of social studies and formerly at the University of Maine and Reed college in Portland; Harold Palmer, instructor in business administration for the general extension division and Klamath Union high school; and Miss Ruth Winchell, instructor in biology and mathematics and previously assistant in chemistry at the University of Oregon and assistant in physiology at the University of Oregon Medical School. Superintendent of schools, A. L. Gralapp, is administrator of the program here, and classes will be conducted at the Klamath Union high school. Harold Palmer has been appointed field representative for the general extension division in the Klamath Falls area and may be contacted at telephone 2-1433 after September 1. Further details will be announced later.

less expense to the school district than the minimum cost of a locally established junior college with comparable curriculum.

Maintaining the minimum fees, the Klamath Falls Community college will make it possible for high school graduates and working adults who cannot go away to college to get college credits in their own community. Courses may also be taken without credit by payment of the regular fees. Classes will be given in the late afternoon and evening so as not to interrupt a regular working day.

Courses to be offered this year in a well-rounded program will be English composition, English literature, history of western civilization, sociology, biological science survey, freshman mathematics, constructive accounting, and typing.

Included on the teaching staff will be Dr. Caroline Brady who has been assistant professor of English at the Universities of Pennsylvania and California, and author
