Highs both days 72 to 82 in interior, 69 to 87 on coast. Low tonight 48 to 58. Variable winds of 10 to 20 miles an hour off coast, becoming westerly in northwesterly Friday.

EASTERN OREGON—Partly cloudy today and Friday. Few scattered showers in eastern half today. Highs both days 73 to 85. Low tonight 49 to 60.

NORTHERN CALIFORNIA—Fair today and Friday except for night and morning coastal fog or low clouds. Little change in temperature. Westerly to northwesterly winds of 10 to 20 miles an hour, except variable from Eureka north.

ROUVE RIVER VALLEY—Fair today and Friday. High today 80. Low tonight 51. High Friday 82.

Bid Date Extended—Additional time has been given to prospective bidders on a fire reservoir and distribution system for Oregon Caves national monument. Bidders now have until September 6 to complete their offer, according to D. D. Crumley, Crater Lake national park chief clerk. Information may be obtained from superintendent, Crater Lake park.

Clinic—The next well-child clinic will be held Tuesday, September 6, instead of September 5, Labor Day. Anyone who has made appointments but will be unable to attend, is asked to call 7714 and cancel the appointment. The clinic is solidly booked for the month of September. It will be held at the public health department, 1949 Main.

On Leave—Robert Pieruccini, USN, is spending a short leave visiting Mr. and Mrs. William McPayden of Klamath Falls. Bob enlisted from Klamath Falls. He was graduated from Memphis Naval Air school and his next assignment will be in San Diego, Calif.

Returned—Mr. and Mrs. Jack Dunne, accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Charles Gilmore, returned recently from a trip to Lake Tahoe and San Francisco. While they were there they attended the stage play, "Street Car Named Desire," and the ice follies.

Meeting, Party—The Shasta View Grange will hold its regular meeting at Shasta school tonight, Thursday, at 8 p.m. After the business meeting, Mrs. Edith Ward and Mrs. Marguerite Ward will be hostesses for a cootie party.

Back Home—Mr. and Mrs. W. K. Dyche are back after a trip to Los Angeles where they spent a month visiting their daughter and family, Mr. and Mrs. B. F. Du Fresno, Rywla and Katherine Rose.

Plaque Dedicated To Lost Marines

MT. RAINDER NATIONAL PARK, Aug. 25 (AP)—Thirty-two marines killed in a plane crash on South Tahoma glacier December 10, 1946, were remembered yesterday with a bronze plaque.

It was provided by their parents and set in a native boulder provided and placed by the National Park Service in view of the glacier. The bodies have never been removed. The ceremonies were marked by a volley from a marine firing squad and the bugling of taps.

VISITORS NEXT WEEK

Dr. George Adler, a patient at Klamath Valley hospital, will be permitted to have visitors the early part of next week. The doctor is recovering satisfactorily from major surgery performed this week, and his condition is good. It was incorrectly announced yesterday that he is allowed to have visitors now.

NEW HIGH SCHOOL

PORTLAND, Aug. 25 (AP)—Construction of a new union high school at Stayton will start within a few days.

To Portland—Fred Gerbino and Bob Kenney are in Portland for the Shrive game. They plan to be back Sunday. Gerbino is a driver for Kater's Ambulance service.

Visiting—Mrs. Guy Pieruccini, former resident of this city and now of Lynwood, Calif., is visiting Mr. and Mrs. William McPayden of 3086 Summers lane.

Navy Man—Darrill Hartzel, USN, is home on leave in Klamath Falls from Moffett field, Calif., visiting friends and relatives.

Free Plane Rides, Air Show Feature

More than 200 free rides will be given Klamath people at the forthcoming Klamath Air Day, slated for September 11 at the municipal airport.

According to plans laid in yesterday's chamber of commerce aviation committee meeting, each person coming to the airport to witness the show, which will be given free of charge this year, will receive a form to fill out, and a place for his name.

All of the forms will be put into a large container, and as the planes have space for more passengers, forms will be picked at random from the container, and the persons whose names are drawn will receive free plane rides.

The free flights will be given in both private craft and the larger commercial DC-3's.

The information on the forms has no effect on whether or not a person gets a free flight, but is asked as consideration for the opportunity to get the ride.

The program will include a demonstration of safe flying, military formation flying, the characteristics of light planes, and other interesting aerial points.

The airshow will be preceded by a free breakfast for the visiting pilots and their passengers.

The chamber of commerce has sent out letters to 49 air officials of the state, as well as to other state dignitaries.

Chamber Booth At Round-Up, Fair Planned

At a Fair association meeting held on the Lake county fairgrounds Tuesday evening, the chamber of commerce outlined plans for a chamber booth during the fair and roundup, September 3, 4 and 5.

The booth will provide information facilities for out of county visitors. Tourists will be registered in an effort to secure first hand knowledge of the number drawn from outside Lake county.

Colored movies will be shown throughout the day free of charge according to the time schedule printed on the booth. Movies selected are to be shown through the courtesy of the Oregon travel information department, U. S. forest service, agricultural extension service and soil conservation service.

Thirty-five attended Tuesday evening's meeting of the Fair association to inspect the recently constructed addition to the exhibit building and scheduled placement of both agricultural and commercial booths. Further detailed plans were ironed out during the meeting in preparation for the event.

An iron blade, perhaps 5000 years old, was found in an Egyptian pyramid.

New Music Teachers Have Good Records

Background material on four new teachers added this fall to the city school system's music department shows that all four have outstanding teaching qualifications.

Lamary K. Jensen, M. A., University of Idaho, will direct the concert band and specializes in brass and woodwind instruments. He did graduate work at Washington State college and is former supervisor of music in Moscow, Idaho. In 1946 he became supervisor of music at Grandview, Wash., a post held until coming here.

In both cities, his bands received first division ratings in all contests entered. In 1947 his Grandview band won the marching contest at the Washington State fair.

Elementary vocal supervisor and director of the Junior high choruses is Harriett Mueller, M. A., Northwestern university.

She was a member of the Northwestern a cappella choir for three years singing solo parts in Brahms Requiem with the Chicago Symphony orchestra. She has been active as a church soloist and is a member of Pi Kappa Lambda national music honorary fraternity. She also attended two sessions of the Fred Waring Music workshop.

George Brewer, M. A., Albion college, and M. M., Northwestern university, will work with the Klamath Union high school orchestra, Fremont Junior high orchestra and string ensembles.

Brewer played with the Albion college string quartet. He taught band and instrumental instruction in the Springport, Mich. schools. Brewer was in the army from 1942 to 1946 and in 1947 received his M. A. from Albion. He continued work with concerts and other musical activities while working for his master of music degree at Northwestern which he received in 1949.

Mary Lou Monroe, B. A., Washington State, will teach music at Roosevelt.

She was one of three state winners in Washington in the Hour of Charm national contest, and was an outstanding soloist and recitalist through high school and college.

She is a member of Mu Phi Epsilon, women's national music honorary, and Pi Lambda Phi, national education honorary.

Man Makes Wife's Tomb 'Cheerful'; Visitors Flock

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., Aug. 25 (AP)—A 54-year-old postman who lighted up his wife's casket with a neon sign held open house last night in the red brick mausoleum he outfitted as a living room.

Ray Acklin was host to several hundred persons who dropped by for a look or a chat.

Acklin himself was just as surprised with all the attention he received as the curious visitors were with the homey atmosphere of his wife's tomb.

The tomb is about 15 feet square and is furnished with an electric fan, ash trays, chairs, wall ornaments, potted plants, and a guest book.

Back of the casket a blue neon sign spells out his wife's name—Beulah. In the corners, fluorescent red and yellow lights burn at night. Acklin holds open house every Wednesday night, and people always come from every which way to listen to the mail carrier explain why the mausoleum was built. It was built, he tells his visitors, to fulfill his wife's desire not to be buried underground. "I wanted it cheerful and friendly," he says, pointing to the unusual funeral fixtures. Acklin always seems surprised at the number of his Wednesday night visitors—1800 have signed the guest book since his wife's body was placed there last March. Mrs. Acklin died May 15, 1948, when she was 52. Acklin had the red brick mausoleum built while her body lay in a temporary vault. He finished the inside himself. Malaria annually takes more than 2,000,000 lives throughout the world.
