THE DOCTOR SAYS

Don't Twist Your Eyeballs

By EDWIN P. JORDAN, M. D.

The eyeball is shaped much like a sphere. The rays of light come through the circular part of the eye, called the pupil. Any twisting of the eyeball in any plane will cause the rays of light also to become twisted and out of focus.

In all cases of astigmatism there is an inability of the eye to focus the parallel rays of light which enter it. In other words these rays of light do not come together at the same point in the back of the eye. This means that a person who has astigmatism sees things all blurred. Instead of having a clear image of what he is looking at, the object appears fuzzy and irregular.

Plane Needs Correction

The correction of astigmatism requires finding out for each eye just what change there has been in the curvature and which plane is out of order. Then the lens for the glasses is prescribed and ground to correct the planes which are in error and to bring the parallel rays of light to a single focal point in the back of the eye so that the image of what is seen again becomes clear-cut.

Skill and training is necessary to find out just what is the matter and to prescribe exactly the type of glasses needed to correct the error. Special instruments are required and in most cases doctors place a drop of atropine or something like it in the eye which causes the pupil to become dilated and makes the examination of the error more simple and more accurate.

It would be interesting to know if astigmatism is increasing, decreasing, or staying the same in frequency. Also, it would be nice to know more about its causes.

Up 40,000 Feet In 37 Minutes

MANCHESTER, Eng., Aug. 31 (AP) A. V. Roe and company announced today their new four jet airliner has reached 40,000 feet in 37 minutes on a test flight made Monday in Cheshire.

The company said the outside temperature at the top altitude was 72 degrees below zero. Inside the pressurized cabin it was 50 above. The airliner, a research model, is known as the Avro tudor eight.
