Makes The Bulletin

Klamath Falls salute to the Klamath Daily Bulletin has come to light in the latest publication of the Southern Pacific Bulletin. The SP Bulletin in the magazine is pictured the two Klamath girls who donated the nose of the engine with Crater Lake water—Dale Motley and Doris Clark—as well as pictures of KPJ's Sundry Chamber interviewing Klamath County member of commerce's first president, Bert Hall.

Nightman

David Underhill, recent graduate of the University of Portland, has arrived in Klamath Falls to take over duties as night-duty man at the Herald and News. Underhill is from Vancouver, British Columbia, but has lived in the United States while attending school. He served in the United States navy during the war.

Former Residents Visit

Mrs. Dixie Teasley and son, John Humrall Jr., are visiting Mrs. Teasley's sisters—Mrs. Pennington and Mrs. Pence—and some friends for a few days. Dixie worked at Moen's store for many years, and her son John sold the Herald and News. Mrs. Teasley now lives in Arcata, Calif. John is home on furlough from the army. He has been with Uncle Sam for seven years.

Railroaders Visit

Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Cowin stopped over in Klamath Falls on their way back from a trip to the north, to pay their respects to Mr. J. A. McKinnin, division superintendent of the Southern Pacific. Mr. McKinnin's private car, "Shasta," is spurred out behind the passenger station. Mr. Cowin is a retired chief dispatcher for the SP, and now lives in Sacramento.

Brief Visit
