

Dunsmuir Requests Castle Crags Park Improvements

CASTLE CRAGS SCENE

DUNSMUIR, Calif., Sept. 6.—D. A. Brianni, chairman of the Dunsmuir planning commission, has reported that the organization has recommended that the condition of Castle Crags park be called to the attention of state authorities.

The park, created as a state park in 1933, is located four miles south of Dunsmuir and borders on highway 99. The Crags are a familiar landmark to both the train and highway traveler. Little has been done in making it a recreational area for the people of this vicinity as was intended by its original sponsors, Frank Van Fossen and M. E. Dittmar, now deceased. Dunsmuir merchants and other interested citizens donated money for the creation of this park.

The trail to the dome of the Crags, built by the forest service prior to 1938, is overgrown by brush and trees have fallen across it, so that it is almost impassible. This hike to the Dome was one of the most scenic in the area.

The planning commission recommended that the matter be brought to the attention of the park authorities. In the endeavor to have them fulfill the promises of its sponsors, that the old scenic trail may be cleaned out, rebuilt, and again used. Also it is recommended that the recreational facilities be developed so that the park may be a recreational area for the enjoyment of the people of this locality, as well as a public camp ground for tourists.

Teen-Age-Girl Charged With Murdering Father

SANDPOINT, Idaho, Sept. 7 (AP)—First degree murder charges were filed yesterday against Charlotte Burns, a 15-year-old farm girl accused of killing her father with a hammer.

Charlotte was confused and remorseful, Prosecutor Robert E. McFarland said, and wondered "what the outside world will do to me."

She said she had been to town only twice before in her life. Her third trip led to jail.

"The girl is definitely remorseful," McFarland said. "However, I must file the charges so that she may be held and then make a thorough investigation."

She and her 12-year-old brother, Louis, were arrested near Coeur d'Alene, Idaho, Sunday after Charles Burns, 57, was found beaten to death on a bed at his home.

Officers in Coeur d'Alene said she had admitted hitting her father with a three-pound hammer because he had failed to keep promises to take her on trips, had beaten her severely, and was threatening her just before the attack.

Officers said Charlotte is well versed in lore of the woods but is confused by towns and jails. She has heavy calluses on her hands which she said came from doing farm work at her home on Lake Pend Oreille.

Her brother was held as a material witness. Officers said she told them Louis watched the attack on her father.

McFarland said questioning today eliminated the need of an inquest which had been scheduled for tomorrow.

Officers said Charlotte had lived a somewhat primitive life on the lake. They said her father had carried the nickname "The Bear Burns." The girl said she was away from home only seven times in her life.

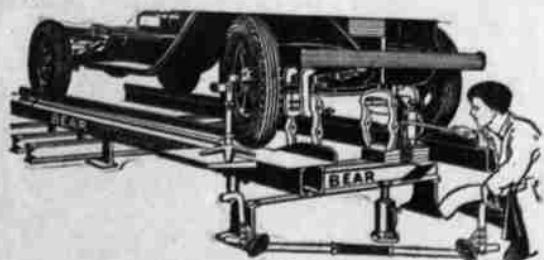

Charlotte and her brother were found coming out of the woods where they spent the night after the slaying. They rowed across the lake after helping their mother with the milking, they told officers. They said their mother did not know about the slaying when they left.
