

Seed Potato Check Begun

The second seed potato inspection field check was begun yesterday by Harold Fenwick, state certification inspector, and Walter Jendrewski, assistant county agent.

The inspection will cover all Klamath fields which were entered for certification this spring. The area covered in the inspection extends from the state line to the Williamson river.

Potatoes will be examined again in the bins and samples of all lots that pass will be tagged and sent to Oceanide, Calif. where they will be grown during the winter.

After the winter growing period they will be examined again and if the potatoes are free from disease, the farmers who entered them will be free to use the rest of their potato crop for seed.

Man Charged With Forgery

John Gray, 35-year-old transient, was named today in a forgery charge issued by the district attorney's office involving a check for $26.84 allegedly written by Gray yesterday.

The man is held in the city jail on a drunk count.

City police said Gray presented a check bearing the signature "J. L. Dawson" at the Old River exchange to be cashed. He represented himself as a truck driver.

Gray assertedly received $6 on the check and was brought to town by Morris Dodson who was going to cash the check at a bank and give Gray the remainder of the money he had coming. While Dodson was at the bank finding the check was no good, Gray disappeared.

He was located last night asleep in a car at a used car lot on S. 6th and arrested on the drunk charge. Police said he admitted writing the check himself.

Local Group Plans Visit To 'Hamfest'

Several members of the Klamath Amateur radio society are expected to travel to Mt. Shasta, Calif., this week-end when the Mt. Shasta club stages their third annual hamfest. The event, which has proved highly successful since the war, will be held in the city park in Mt. Shasta September 10 and 11.

Last year the second annual Hamfest attracted about 250 visitors, most of them from northern California and southern Oregon. Vic Honeysett of Saskatchewan, Canada, won a prize.

The program this year will include varied attractions, ranging from informative talks to games for young and old.

President of the Klamath club is Joy Ustick.

W. H. Crawford Dies In Salem

SALEM, Sept. 8 (AP)—William H. Crawford, 72, pro-tem city judge since 1946, died Wednesday of a heart attack.

He was director of the state economic council under former Gov. Charles A. Sprague, giving up his job in 1942.

Crawford sold the first air brakes used on San Francisco street cars, and 25 years ago, he went across the country to attract new industries to the new city of Longview, Wash. He was a promoter of new industries with the San Francisco chamber of commerce, and also worked for the California-Oregon Power company in southern Oregon.
