In addition to the $7000 drainage system Modoc field received in preparation for the fall football season, it is also the possessor of an entirely new public address system which according to William Pink, radio instructor, is capable of more output and power than is normally required in a field the size of Modoc.

Five outdoor cone speakers have been installed in the grandstand, two in the student section and one at the south end of the field in addition to a new and very complete intercommunication system between the press box, field house, scoreboard quarters, players' bench and the amplifier booth.

Each club which wished to operate a concession booth at Modoc field this year was required to petition for the booth desired and the final assignments have been made. The Latin club and Script and Mike will handle booth two at the end of the grandstand near the scoreboard. The publications department will take care of booth one at the opposite end and the Pelican Service club, GAA and the Library club will sell refreshments in the booth under the student section.

Election of officers: In the capella choir resulted in Roy Lundgren's winning the president's position. Marvin Nereth vice president and Gloria Vanderhoff secretary. The librarian must still be selected. Final selections of choir members have been made and the total figure stands at 70.

Twenty years on the violin and 18 years playing the bass horn are two of the qualifications George Brewer stated which make him the new orchestra and training choir director at KUHS. In addition, however, he possesses not one, but two masters degrees.

One of these is a master of arts degree from Albion college in Michigan and the other is a master of music from Northwestern university.

Mr. Brewer comes to KUHS from Detroit or Flint, Mich., or Chicago, Ill., or almost any other city or town around that area since he explains that having a Methodist minister for a father means quite a little traveling.

A military police in the army for 42 months during the war, Mr. Brewer went through almost all the ranks—up to staff sergeant, he explains. His hobbies include singing, photography, baseball, badminton and tennis. The latter he is about to give up because he is having trouble finding an opponent. He is particularly about it. It must be someone he can beat.

"KUHS is a very friendly school," states Mr. Brewer. "The teachers are friendly and the students are more than friendly."
