Battleship Salvage Job Pushed

ROME (AP)—Italian navy engineers have tackled the job of getting the 10,000-ton battleship Trieste, towed down from the Sardinia coast, into a dock. It will be a task of many weeks, they said. The Trieste, sunk by British bombers in the Madaena harbor in May, 1943, was towed across the Northern Tyrrhenian sea, in a daring operation. The ship is now at mooring, tied to a buoy off the military harbor of La Spezia.

Three of the Trieste's four turrets, reaching 45 feet below the water mark, will have to be dismantled before she is put into a dock. The short fourth turret will be left where it is. When the ship will be towed into a dock the tongs of water filling the hull will be pumped out. Then efforts will be made to recover the bodies of the sailors still inside.

The hull of the Trieste is in good condition, as the large quantity of oil in the tanks spread all over and kept the steel plates from rusting.

Blue Plate Special With Drink

CAIRO (AP)—Found in Egypt: the free lunch which disappeared from the corner bar in Grandpa's day.

A local bar serves with each beer: a plate containing tuna fish, roast beef and liver; two rolls; plates of olives, peanuts and cucumber squares; a heap of thin, dry Arab bread, and a plate of teleni, deliciously oily grain sauce Arabs dip their bread into.

Steaks are extra.
