No Plant Disease Increase

PORTLAND, Sept. 30 (AP)—An Oregon state plant pathologist advised nurserymen here yesterday not to worry about an apparent increase in plant diseases.

There is no actual increase, Dr. Roy Young told the Oregon Association of Nurserymen. It's just that there now are better methods of recognizing diseases, more interstate plant shipments and a larger number of plants.

He urged more use of new dusts and sprays, and quarantine.

News Goes Slowly In Washington

WASHINGTON, (AP)—Fred Bailey, an official of the national grange, went to see an agriculture department official. While waiting he casually asked a stenographer what she thought of the Brannan plan of farm price supports.

"Who's Brannan?" asked the stenographer.

"Why," replied Bailey, "he's secretary of agriculture!"

"He is?" Then what became of Clinton Anderson?"

Instruction School For Officers Held

The annual school of instruction for Klamath county PTA officers and committee chairmen was held September 27 in the Methodist church parlors. Arrangements for the meeting were made by Mrs. R. G. Fisher, county council president, with a luncheon served by the church ladies.

Those attending included PTA representatives from 13 units of the city and county schools, outlying districts and Lakeview.

Representing the Oregon Congress of Parents and Teachers were Mrs. Ralph Herron, state visual aid chairman; Mrs. Helmer Lindstrom, 10th regional vice president; and Mrs. Earl Sheridan, sixth regional vice president.

Round table discussions encouraged group participation and many problems of the individual organizations received practical suggestions and possible solutions. Such topics as "Planning Interesting Programs," "Encouraging Parent Participation" and "Enlarging Study Groups," afforded assistance to executive members and much instructional and beneficial material was gained by attending delegates.

Henley

The Henley PTA reception for the faculty members, and potluck supper at the cafeteria Friday night, was attended by approximately 200 people.

Elementary teachers were introduced by Miss Rumer, the principal.

and the high school teachers by Principal George Elliott. Each lady teacher was presented a corsage and the gentlemen with a boutonniere, by the hospitality chairman, Mrs. Glenn Dehlinger.

The program chairman, Mrs. Harvey Wise, presented a program which included two violin solos by Mary Louise Euman. Several vocal numbers were sung by the Eagles Four barbershop quartet including R. D. Hannon, B. A. Loftsgaard, M. L. Shepherd and Ray Johnson. A skit, "How Western Women Get Their Men," was given by Ted DeMerritt and Mrs. Halbert Wilson of Malin. Mrs. Stanley Kendall had charge of two get-acquainted games. A good time was enjoyed by the group.

Fairview

The first meeting of the year of Fairview PTA was held September 22, and after a short business meeting the teachers were introduced and along with committee chairmen and officers, presented with attractive handkerchiefs.

Homemade cakes and coffee were served following the business meeting with the president, Mrs. Thomas L. Lawrence, and Mrs. Florence Ollmann, principal, pouring at the table.

Conger

"Get Acquainted" was the theme of Conger school's first Parent-Teacher association meeting held September 21 at the school with Mrs. Herbert Graham, president, stressing the importance of friendly relationships between the parents and teachers.

Officers for the ensuing year were introduced as were two new teachers, Mrs. Lena Propst of the fourth grade and Miss Hansen of the fifth grade.

PTA officers are Mrs. Herbert

Graham, president; Mrs. Richard Maxwell, vice president; Mrs. John W. Weber, secretary; Mrs. P. W. Detroit, treasurer; and Mrs. Dwight French, historian.

Committee chairmen are Mrs. Hugh Swaney, membership; William Johnston, program; Mrs. Wesley Guderian, publicity; Mrs. Lowell Jones, hospitality; Mrs. Robert Elliott, tea; Mrs. W. J. Easter, summer roundup; and Mrs. James Morrison, ways and means. The year's budget will be handled by the combined tea and ways and means committees.

William Johnston, sixth grade teacher, outlined the program theme for the year touching on panel discussions, caring for child's health, kindergarten and community college, federal aid and the basic school program, community resources in Klamath county and extra curricular activity.

Serving refreshments for the day were Mrs. James Morrison, Mrs. Betty French, Mrs. P. M. Detroit, Mrs. John Weber, and Mrs. Lowell Jones.

Next meeting of the Conger PTA is scheduled for the night of October 9.

Fremont

The Parent-Teacher association of Fremont school held the first fall meeting of the year on Thursday evening, September 22.

Mrs. Jack W. Elliott, newly elected president, introduced the staff of officers who will serve during the coming year. Lowell Kaup, principal, presented the teaching staff.

A film on "Family Relations" was shown the group followed by community singing and two vocal solos by Mrs. Craig of the music staff. Tea followed in the cafeteria.

Skirts Now Longer In Russia

MOSCOW, (AP)—Folk motifs and a longer skirt are features of the new Soviet styles.

Adaptations of ancient Russian handwork from the various republics of the country are featured—particularly on blouses—in the new styles. They make colorful and neat decorations, most of them being in red and white. While nothing like the "new look," skirts are longer this season.
