

Steel Strife May Idle Millions

Present steel reserves are expected to last three to six weeks.
Danger
If the current walkout lasts as long as the 1946 strike — 29 days — it could result in forced unemployment for another million workers. With such diminished buying power business would feel the pinch, too.
The steelworkers union has 600,000 more members in 700 fabricating plants. These industries need the steel mill's product to produce themselves.
The auto industry, with 725,000 workers, is the biggest steel user, gulping up 18 per cent of total production.
Industry sources report that a three-week or longer strike likely would halt nearly all production of refrigerators and ranges. The type of steel used in the manufacture of these items generally goes into production almost as soon as received.
Airplane manufacturers, too, use large quantities of steel.
No one knows how the steel strike might affect the nation's defense program.

Train Hits Truck; Man Injured

A stockton, Calif., spud trucker narrowly escaped death shortly before noon today at the Hosley railroad crossing four miles north of Merrill, when his loaded truck and an Alturas bound Southern Pacific freight collided on the crossing.
The impact demolished the truck, operated by Harvey Puga, 26-year-old employe of the La-polama Produce company of Stockton, Calif. Puga escaped with only severe bruises and possible rib fractures. He is in Klamath Valley hospital.
Police Probe
State police investigated and said that Puga told them he had stopped his truck at the crossing and then proceeded to cross when the engine and machine crashed. Before Engineer E. S. Shelley could bring the train to a stop, 19 cars some 45 feet long, had passed the collision spot.
A telephone pole 45 feet from the crossing, was ripped out, officers said.
Some damage was done to the engine but contact could not be made with SP officials who were still at the scene early this afternoon. The accident occurred at 11:15 a. m.
Puga was driving a 1942 GMC truck which had just been loaded with Klamath spuds.

FLOYD WYNNE, custodian of the record library at KFLW, bends an outmoded record over his knee to give way to another a few more steps up the ladder of popularity. This may be a Robeson record he's breaking—we're not sure. (Story on Page Three)

Fire Blamed On Hunters

First forest fire attributed to a campfire left by careless hunters was controlled without much damage early this morning by Klamath Forest Protective association fire fighters.
The blaze, a small one, was located on the west side of Haymaker mountain, just south of Chase mountain.
A second fire was reported by KPFA lookouts later this morning on the top of Little Aspen mountain, but by noon, the crew had not reported in.
Forestry officials urged extreme caution on the part of hunters since the woods are still in dry and dangerous condition.

Death Claims Postmistress At Tulelake

TULELAKE, Calif. — Mrs. Gerald (Wanda) Stark, 44, long-time resident and postmistress of Tulelake, died at Emmanuel hospital in Portland Friday afternoon.
Mrs. Stark, who had been ill several months, went to Portland for additional treatment a week ago, and died while in surgery.
She had been postmistress at Tulelake since 1943. In addition to her husband, she is survived by her mother, Mrs. Jenkins of Tulelake; a son, Kenneth Rudisill of Berkeley, Calif.; a sister, Mrs. Ward McCully of Tulelake, and one grandson.
It is understood that final rites will be held here. Funeral arrangements will be announced Monday.

Basin Rancher's Wife Sues For Divorce; Asks $200,000

The finances of Regis T. de Maleisy, who inherited $600,000 when he came out of the French army in 1945 and now is owner of the Wagon Trail ranch near Lapine, came in for a brief airing in divorce court this morning.
He is seeking to divorce his wife, Anneli Charlotte Fromm de Maleisy, who was a $12 a week housemaid before their marriage in New York City February 3, 1947.
Cross-Complaint
Anneli has filed a cross-complaint also asking a divorce plus a $200,000 chunk of the money.
Their legal residence is Klamath county and Circuit Judge David R. Vandenberg this morning was asked to provide Anneli with temporary support money and the like. She asked $2000 a month for living expenses, $5000 for attorney's fees now, with $20,000 to come later and $1000 for suit costs.
$12 a Week
But the husband, through his attorneys, took the view that since the 22-year-old Anneli got along on $12 a week less than three years ago, the request was excessive.
Although de Maleisy's assets total over $600,000, his attorneys said, his annual income from the assets in trust funds is nearer $15,000 and much of that money goes into the Lapine ranch, a long proposition. They suggested $200 a month support for Anneli, who is now visiting in New York.
Another View
Judge Vandenberg took still a third view. He ordered de Maleisy to pay Anneli $400 a month support, $500 suit money and $2000 for attorney fees.
The divorce trial was scheduled for October 19 and probably will take three or four days, attorneys said.
Regis de Maleisy spent seven wartime years in the French army, and was a prisoner of war for a time. He came to this country after being discharged and met Anneli Charlotte Fromm, a resident of Woodstock, N. Y., in October, 1946.
In a divorce complaint he said he met her to be a "lonesome" girl, visited her often, and they were married in February, 1947. Prior to their marriage, he said, she told him she had not been a member of the Nazi party in Germany, her native land, but since he has learned she was a Nazi, and the marriage "was a bit of fortune hunting."
Trialnote
Also, the divorce complaint charges, during their married life on the ranch at Lapine, Anneli frequently sought the company of another man—identified only as Charles Brandt of Bend.
The French army veteran came into the $600,000 estate, willed to him by his late grandmother, in France.

Sharps, Muellers Attend Funeral

Dr. and Mrs. Paul W. Sharp and Mr. and Mrs. Carl H. Mueller traveled to Fort Jones, Calif., today to attend the funeral of Dr. Sharp's uncle, John Costello, 79, of Fort Jones, who died of a heart attack while on a hunting trip Wednesday afternoon.

Kemp Goes Back to Jail

Sam Kemp, 21, of Pelican City, was back in jail today, this time charged with a felony—larceny of clothing.
Kemp has been an inmate of either the county or city lockups for misdemeanors since early spring when he was convicted of stealing money from an Easter Lily crippled children donation box, and earlier this month had been listed as an escapee from the city lockup.
As a trusty while serving a drunk sentence, he walked away from the city jail September 14.
Larceny Charge
A warrant charging him with larceny has been held here by the sheriff's office for several days and Kemp was located last night at Hatfield where he allegedly attempted to steal some clothing from a parked automobile.
The owner of the car caught him with the result that Kemp was somewhat bruised and sore when brought to the county jail.
He is held in lieu of $1500 bail.

the compromises and start from scratch.
Manion, in a statement after negotiations here fell through, said it was the road's suggestion to submit the one big disputed point to the national railway adjustment board, but the union refused.
Fall Hospitalizes Mrs. Dietsche
Mrs. E. Dietsche was moved to Klamath Valley hospital shortly before noon today for treatment of foot injuries suffered in a fall.
The accident happened when Mrs. Dietsche fell down the steps at her home, 710 Jefferson. X-rays were being taken early this afternoon to determine the extent of injury. She has possible broken bones in the right foot.
Mrs. Dietsche was moved by Kaler's ambulance.

Got His Deer And Cut Leg

A Portland deer hunter is in Klamath Valley hospital—victim of a hunting accident which occurred after he got his deer.
Virgil Daniels, 41-year-old real estate man, was cleaning a deer which he had just bagged, when his razor sharp hunting knife slipped and inflicted a deep gash in his leg.
Companion brought Daniels into the hospital where he was in surgery at 1:30 today.

Going to Series But Where?

Two Klamath Falls baseball fans are leaving the airport Sunday morning for the World Series with their destination yet undecided. Law Taylor and H. J. Bevan, local businessmen, have mapped out an extensive flying trip in Taylor's AT-5 plane that likely will see them finally settled in Ebbets field in Brooklyn. If St. Louis is the National League representative, then both will be at Sportman Park.
The complete trip will total more than 7000 air miles and will include stops in Denver, Chicago, Detroit, Toledo, Cleveland, New York, Washington, New Orleans, Houston, Dallas and Wichita, Kas. Bevan is taking his first trip east and stated "we are out for a strictly vacation trip, and might even see the national corn-husking contest in Illinois, if that is going on."

Woman Took Car, Nabbed by Law

Wilma Barkley, 27-year-old Indian woman, Chiloquin, pleaded guilty in circuit court today to a charge of taking and using an automobile without the owner's permission.
She will be sentenced Tuesday.
She was arrested yesterday on a warrant issued September 20, after she reportedly drove off with an automobile owned by Chester Whitlow, Klamath Falls.

Former Librarian Returns to Post

Alice Stocker, connected with the city library here two years ago, returned to Klamath Falls by plane today and will take over duties as a member of the library staff replacing Gretta Van Duker Chandler, now in Baker.
Miss Stocker left here two years ago to take over the library at Sidney, Neb., and from there went to Cedar Rapids, Ia.

KF Girl Pledged By Sorority

Early pledge lists from Oregon State college at Corvallis include Patricia Ann Pappentus, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ed Pappentus, 3840 Clinton, who pledged Alpha Gamma Delta last night in the first fall pledging of OSC social sororities.
Patricia Ann is studying secretarial science.

Hospital Fire; No Damage

City firemen were called to Hillside hospital at about 1 o'clock this afternoon, but the fire turned out to be a small blaze in an electric motor.
There was no damage.

Day's News

Both can prosper only when the mills run.
HERE on the Pacific Coast these days we are watching an odd spectacle.
The Hawaiian pineapple industry is shut down by a strike that stops the ships. The owners of pineapple are trying to send their product over here to the mainland in barges. The striking dockworkers are trying to stop them from doing so. Here and there a barge slips in to some harbor. A ruckus follows and heads are broken.
Planes patrol the coastal waters and when a barge is spotted organized forces are rushed to the probable landing point to prevent the landing. It is exactly as if we were at war and those pineapple barges were blockade runners that had to be STOPPED at all costs.
HERE is the situation:
Pineapple is grown in the Islands. Its production provides people there with a livelihood IF THEY CAN FIND A MARKET FOR PINEAPPLE. The market for pineapple is here on the mainland. Pineapple is good food. We like it. So we buy it.
Out of that exchange trade arises. Out of this trade both the mainland and the Islands prosper—as long as the trade continues.
There is no prosperity for ANYBODY in the pineapple business when the trade stops.
WE all want all we can get out of this life.
The only way we can get the things we want is to PRODUCE THEM FIRST. When production stops, EVERYTHING stops. You can't divide what isn't produced.
Money was first coined in Rome in 578 B.C. by Servius Tullius, according to legend.

MERRYLE S. RUCKEYSER

Noted Finance Writer To Speak Here

Merryle S. Ruckeyser, financial columnist for International News Service for 25 years, will be the guest speaker at the Knife and Fork club dinner the evening of Tuesday, October 4, at the Willard hotel.
Ruckeyser's prolific writings have brought him considerable acclaim as author of numerous articles as well as author of six books on economics including "Financial Security in a Changing World."
Recognized as an expert and analyst in the field of economics, Ruckeyser has been invited to Washington frequently to testify before senate and house committees. He has also served as chairman of the non-partisan social security commission and was instrumental in formulating recommendations which have since been translated into law.

Derailment Blocks Line

ROSEBURG, Oct. 1 (AP)—Rail traffic on the Siskiyou line was blocked last night, when a 14-car Southern Pacific freight train was derailed at 7:30 p.m. in tunnel No. 4 at Brandt, north of Glendale, said J. E. Clark, local SP agent.
He said the cars struck the sides of the tunnel, ripping down timbers and tearing up 200 feet of track. The locomotive was turned over on its side. No one was injured.
The northbound freight was unofficially known as the "East Cantonment," said Clark.

Rooms Needed For Teachers

Need for a backlog of 200 available rooms to accommodate visiting teachers next week was reported by chamber of commerce Manager Charles Stark.
Stark intimated that the room-committee intends to put as many as possible of the visitors in hotels and motels.
He fears, however, that there will be many late-comers to the conference. Stark requests that any householders who feel they can rent a spare room for the two-day period, contact him at the chamber offices.
Pontiac, Mich., was settled in 1818 and named after an Indian chief.
