Tobin Pleads For Solid Labor Front

ST. PAUL, Minn., Oct. 4 (AP)—Secretary of Labor Maurice J. Tobin today called on organized labor to replace discord and cross-purposes with the "solidarity of cooperation" to secure such objectives as repeal of the Taft-Hartley act.

"It has already been proved that when an international crisis is being faced, or when the labor movement is being threatened within a state or in Washington, AFL and CIO can work together effectively and harmoniously," Tobin said in a speech prepared for the national AFL convention.

"Logical Projection"
I am pleading merely for a logical projection of the spirit behind such activities," the cabinet officer said, pointing out that he had no "program of unification" or "any scheme for making labor one and indivisible."

He urged cooperation on the political level "if we are to get rid of Taft-Hartley" and realize other parts of President Truman's "Fair Deal."

Sunday the AFL executive committee rejected political cooperation with the CIO on a national scale, but left the way open for joint action locally.

Texas Cities Walloped By Vicious Storm

HOUSTON, Tex., Oct. 4 (AP)—A vicious hurricane smashed across the Golden Texas coast, hit Galveston and Houston a walloping blow and sped inland early today.

Winds of 100 miles an hour whipped the area between Freeport and Matagorda—initial contact points—and lashed the sprawling metropolis of Houston at 80 to 90 miles an hour.

The hurricane smashed into Texas' biggest city—its population is estimated at more than 500,000—and the whiplashing winds buffeted the city for more than a solid hour.

Storm Northward
Slamming northward, it was due to reach the Lufkin-Palestine, Tex., area early this afternoon—more than 100 miles inland.

The damage the hurricane trailed in its wake was not immediately known. But the part of the coast it first hit last night is a rich one. Immediately in its northward path are cities, towns, oil and agricultural sections.

The New Orleans weather bureau in an advisory said that winds should diminish as the hurricane moved inland. But within 25 miles of the center of the hurricane they raged at a speed of 100 miles an hour.

Storm Cheated
Hurricane warnings may have cheated the big winds of human casualties.

Most towns in its path were butted on, many residents had fled to inland cities. Five thousand persons sought shelter in Houston's city auditorium and Sam Houston coliseum.

They were calm, even cheerful. Many mothers carried babes in arms.

Too Lazy To Hunt

By BILL JENKINS
Here I am writing a column (so called) again after a three year lay-off while I filled in as slot man here at The Herald and News.

The last time I had to take to the typewriter was as the author of our Static column. Since that day that column has been handled by many different people while I sat and loafed along through days free of the back breaking weight of the omniscient scribe you always know is due.

Own Little Corner
People who write columns usually fall into a classification all by themselves. They get a far-away look in their eyes and trip over their own feet. They stare into space and mumble to themselves. It follows that they perfect the art of losing friends because of this attitude. And eventually they even start to hate themselves. All they can think of is that they have to turn out so many inches of filler the next day and they hate themselves as anyone hates a slave-driver.

So if I pass you on the street after this and don't speak, don't think I'm mad or being rude. I'm just communing with myself and trying to think of something to say.

Nothing like stirring up a ruckus within an organization so I'll start off with a slight argument with my fellow columnist Deb Addison. For the past several days Deb has been painting the glories of deer hunting. I'd like to put in a word for those of us who never go out after the elusive buck. While our harder acquaintances tramp the dusty, hot hills we sit in comfort in a soft chair. When the work day is done we go home to a clean home, complete with bath, and get our exercise by reading stories about deer hunting.

If that is the order of the day we stop at a grocery store and for less than the price of a box of shells pick up a piece of steak already cut and ready to cook. No butchering. And we go to sleep in a warm bed between sheets and sleep until past daylight at least in comfort.

No Bed Of Roses
I have been reliably informed by various and sundry wives of deer hunters that their life is not all beer and skittles. The vacating outfit usually consists of moving away from modern appliances and still doing all the cooking and what not on far inferior equipment. Some vacation for the wife.

Of course, I'll have to admit that Deb's proposition of headquarters at a ranch even the score, the ranch usually being as well equipped, if not more so, as the average town house. But as for the I-Like-To-Rough-It type of hunting trip, I'll take mine out in reading about it.

Style Note: On a recent trip to the bay area I noticed that even staid clothes-conscious San Francisco has eased up on the stiff collar requirements for men. Now you see quite a few men in the central shopping district wandering around wearing a button-up sport shirt under a jacket. Or are they just more tourists like the rest of us?

Omaha Holds KF Fugitive; Long Sought

A search for an army man who successfully evaded Klamath officers for months, ended in Omaha, Neb., this week and Sheriff Jack Franey said he would leave by plane to take in custody 21-year-old Lewis Murphy, wanted here for forgery.

Murphy is officially charged with larceny by impersonation and Sheriff Franey said the charge was filed after Murphy allegedly stole blank checks from the Arundel Construction company at Tokotee Falls, and cashed some 10 checks totaling close to $500, in Klamath Falls.

He is said to have represented himself as an employee of the company.

Army AWOL
At the time, Sheriff Franey said, the man was AWOL from the army air corps, Fort Benjamin Harrison, Indiana.

Murphy was picked up by the army and returned to Indiana where the military promised to hold him for Klamath county. In the meantime, Murphy was transferred to Camp Atterbury, Columbus, O., and there he asked for an emergency furlough. This was granted and he disappeared.

Murphy is a resident of Kokomo, Ind., where his wife is said to be living.

Truckers Foil Robbery Try In Tulelake

TULELAKE—An attempted robbery at the Gresham Motor company, Tulelake, early this morning failed to materialize when the would-be robbers were apparently frightened away from the company safe by some truck drivers.

Last night, two truck drivers from San Leandro, Calif., brought a load of new cars to the company, and remained in the building for the night.

Torch Used
Admittance to the building was gained from the back and the burglars were at work using a portable acetylene torch on the hinges of the safe door when they were apparently frightened off by hearing the drivers moving about in another part of the building.

Night Policeman Gerald Horta was called, and the Tulelake police continued the investigation today.

About $800 in cash and $400 in checks were in the safe but were not reached by the robbers.

The ukelele was taken to the Hawaiian Islands by Portuguese immigrants.
