

PREACHER ROE SHUTS OUT YANKS

Day's News

By FRANK JENKINS

FROM WASHINGTON: "President Truman today signed a bill providing $5,000,000,000 (five billion, eight hundred and nine million dollars) to carry on the foreign aid program until next June 30."

I hope it works. We all hope it works. If it doesn't, we're out a lot of cash and in for a lot of trouble. What we're trying to do is to share our property (which by comparison with the rest of the world, is great) with our friends until they can get back on their feet and become prosperous in their own right. Paste this in your hat: NEVER SINCE THE WORLD BEGAN was a more generous gesture made by any nation toward other nations.

ANOTHER one from Washington: "President Truman today signed the $1,314,010,000 (one billion, three hundred and fourteen million) arms aid bill, calling it a notable contribution to the collective security of the free nations of the world."

THAT one involves a somewhat different principle. What we're doing there is to give guns to our friends in Western Europe in the hope that if communist Russia runs amuck they'll be able to stop her before she gets to us. Our motive in this case is somewhat less altruistic.

AGAIN I hope it works. We ALL hope it works. But it's a gamble—a rather large one, in fact. As of now, this is the situation: If Russia, even after waiting for us to get our billion dollars worth of guns into the hands of our friends, should go on the prod, it seems certain that she could trample all of Western Europe into the mud before we could do anything to prevent it.

In that event, we would merely have poured our billion dollars worth of guns down a rat hole. By giving them away, we'd have weakened ourselves to that extent.

WE know this much: WE AREN'T GOING TO START A WAR. We hope we can convince Russia that it wouldn't be safe for her to start a war.

IF Russia is bluffed out of starting a war to conquer the world in the name of communism, it will be our TREMENDOUS ABILITY TO PRODUCE that will do the job. It was our fantastic ability to produce that won the last war and the war before that. It was our ability to produce that we're going to bluff tough Russia, we'd better keep our great production machine operating at top efficiency. As we read the headlines of the past few days, we can't help wondering if the efficiency of our machine isn't beginning to suffer.

IF so, it isn't because of any defect in the machine itself. The trouble seems to be that we can't agree as to how it ought to be driven.

Butte Airport Bids Soon

YREKA—The board of supervisors, in session here yesterday, decided to advertise for bids on the Butte Valley airport at Dorris. Construction bids will be called in the very near future. The airport will be built on a match-fund basis. The board also authorized aiding and patching improvements of Dorris city streets at a cost not to exceed $1000.

Snow, Ice Show King Winter Near

Red and freezing temperatures led slower the morning hours and winter made itself known in the higher elevations with a fairly stiff snowfall which closed both the north and east entrances to Crater Lake national park. It was snowing heavily late yesterday afternoon on the Willamette pass, Klamath bound motorists reported. Minimum temperature reading here was a straight freezing—32, but the U. S. weatherman forecast a low of 25 degrees for tonight. Precipitation totaled .02 inches for the past 24 hours.

Snow - Stuck! At Crater Lake park Chief Ranger Louis Hallock said it was snowing heavily just before noon and for the first time this season a car was stuck in a drift. "There was a four-inch depth of snow at park headquarters and 'still coming down,'" he said.

Plows were keeping the south and west entrances clear and the rim road was open to motorists. Minimum temperature in the park this morning was 3-24 degrees, one of the coldest mornings of the season. Word from Yreka advised the temperature dropped from 47 degrees on Wednesday morning to 28 degrees this morning, lowest mark since last spring. There was a rather heavy frost in that area.

TEACHERS WENT TO school today, kids had Thursday and Friday to themselves, as the Southern Oregon Regional conference of teachers and educators gathered at 9 o'clock in the newly dedicated Mills auditorium. From the looks of this shot, not a single teacher in Klamath, Lake, Jackson or Josephine counties, missed the opening session. General meetings are held at Mills auditorium, but the sectional gatherings will be held during the afternoons at KUMS, Roosevelt and Fremont. Superintendent of State Instruction Rex Putnam is among the educators here for the session. Klamath County Superintendent Carrol Howe is general chairman of the conference.

Senators OK Farm Price Support Bill

WASHINGTON, Oct. 4 (AP)—The senate agriculture committee today approved, 9 to 3, a flexible farm price support bill. Democratic Leader Lucas of Illinois said it will be brought before the senate tomorrow. Lucas described the bill as following the lines of the long-range farm measure originally introduced by Senator Anderson (D-NM).

Bill Returned The senate sent the Anderson bill back to the agriculture committee Tuesday night, after Vice President Barkley had broken a tie to give senate approval of an amendment for price drops under major crops at 90 per cent of parity. (Parity is a price level calculated to give farmers the same returns on their crops, measured in things they buy, that they had in a past favorable period).

AMA Says US Making Probe

CHICAGO, Oct. 4 (AP)—Trustees of the American Medical Association said today that the AMA and 16 state and county medical societies are being investigated by the anti-trust division of the justice department.

The board of trustees issued a statement "protesting the use of the police arm of the government in a campaign to discredit American medicine and terrorize physicians into abandoning their opposition to compulsory health insurance."

Police Seeking Highwaymen

BAKER, Oct. 4 (AP)—State police today are searching for two mysterious hold-up men who reportedly forced a Wingville man at gun point to drive them about 15 miles west of Baker on a by-way off highway 30.

TRAFFIC DEATH

PORTLAND, Oct. 4 (AP)—Mike Christofferson, 70, Wolf Point, Mont., died in a hospital today after he was struck by a car in Portland.

Teen-Agers Save Woman From Blaze

Mrs. Mae E. Fowler of 216 Washington street may well credit a group of teen-age neighborhood youngsters for saving her life late yesterday afternoon. The boys were playing in the street in the Fowler block when one noticed flames reflected in the front window. They broke the bedroom window, crawled in and found the bed in flames and Mrs. Fowler on the floor, unconscious. She was carried out of the house by the youngsters, one of whom then turned in the alarm.

Another Power Shortage Seen

SEATTLE, Oct. 4 (AP)—The Pacific Northwest is getting ready for another winter of electric power shortages. Chairman Owen Clarke and Raymond Clifford of the state public service commission said the agency expects to issue an order next week to outline a program for private power companies.

Hunter Lost In Tamarack Flat Woods

Sheriffs officers, joined by a search party were scouring the heavily wooded area of Tamarack flat near Tennant in Northern California today, seeking a 75-year-old missing hunter, Chris Abrams of Beaver Creek on the Klamath river.

FERRY BIDS ASKED

SALEM, Oct. 4 (AP)—The state highway commission, called for bids today on providing ferry service across the Coos river at Eneagen crossing in Coos county. The bids will be opened November 1.

Basin Mens' Names Drawn For Homesites

Two Klamath basin men will have first cracks at the 50 homesteads being opened on the Riverton reclamation project at Riverton, Wyo. It was learned here at noon today through the Associated Press. Drawing No. 8 was Rudolph L. Sowell, Tulelake.

Utah Vet First

A World War II veteran from Utah was No. 1 for the units in a public drawing staged by the bureau of reclamation at Riverton. There were 841 applications received from 49 states and Alaska for the half hundred irrigable farm units. Winners will be screened by an examining board in a final selector.

Deputy Pankey Not Conscious Yet, Critical

Deputy Sheriff Willis Pankey's condition was reported to be unchanged today at Klamath Valley hospital. Pankey has been unconscious since the accident early Monday night in which he and Sgt. Mark Sullivan of state police were injured when they swerved to avoid hitting a deer on the highway near Bly.

IMOGENE GOES HOME

With a gay smile and a warm handshake, 14-year-old Imogene Wittsche, whose feet were shearer off by a speedboat propeller three months ago, bids goodbye to Superintendent of Nurses Maida Pringle as she leaves Washoe Medical center in Reno, Nev., for her home in Roseville, Calif.

Kaiser OK's CIO Terms; Coal Stuck

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 4 (AP)—The CIO United Steelworkers made peace with Henry J. Kaiser but spread their walkout to two more plants today. And as the nationwide steel shutdown over pensions reached the sixth day, the federal government—still ignoring Philip Murray's battle with Big Steel—announced it would try to settle the 18-day-old strike of 380,000 soft coal miners.

No Peace Signs

Despite these developments there are no signs of an early peace in the double-barreled steel-coal walkout. Sporadic violence marks the coal strike. A few thousand non-union miners continue digging with protection of heavily armed guards and police.

School Bus Crashes; 5 Children Die

MIDDLESEX, N. C., Oct. 4 (AP)—A school bus packed with children and an ice truck crashed today on a narrow wooden bridge, killing at least five pupils and injuring 15. Two of the injured were not expected to live.

Deputy Sheriff Willis Pankey's condition was reported to be unchanged today at Klamath Valley hospital. Pankey has been unconscious since the accident early Monday night in which he and Sgt. Mark Sullivan of state police were injured when they swerved to avoid hitting a deer on the highway near Bly.

Bums Win 1-0; Hodges Drives In Victory Run

YANKEE STADIUM, New York, Oct. 6 (AP) Preacher Roe, a gangling bag of bones from Arkansas, shut out the New York Yankees with six hits today as Brooklyn squared the 46th World Series, at one game each with a 1-0 victory over Vic Raschi, while 70,053 fans watched in comparative silence.

This second straight 1-0 game was a new experience for the series. Never before had two 1-0 games been thrown in the same season, let alone in succession. Brooklyn scored its lone run off Raschi in the second inning and Roe held tight as the Yanks staged a threat in each of the last three innings.

Jackie Robinson's double to the left field corner, his first hit of the series, started the Dodgers on their way in the second.

When Gerry Coleman fell after racing back of first to snare Gene Hermanski's foul pop, Robby tagged up and ran safely to third. He held while Billy Johnson threw out Marv Rackley. Gil Hodges then slammed a game-winner, a single to left, scoring Robinson. When Johnny Lindell fumbled the ball for an error, Gil went to second. The single was the ball game, Robinson scoring easily and Lindell's error didn't make too much difference because Hodges was left on second.

Roe, the 31-year-old Dodger "stopper" from Hardy, Ark., turned in a superb effort although he was in danger through the late stages.

Each time he had all he needed to pull out of a jam. Never walking a single man, Roe struck out three Yankees never got more than one hit an inning and only one—Jerry Coleman's double in the fifth—was an extra base. Don Newcombe in losing to Allie Reynolds yesterday also did not dole out a base on balls.

Roe's performance was all the more remarkable because he had been hit on the right hand by a ground ball in the fourth inning. He hesitated coming out for the fifth and the Dodger ball pen was busy. It was the first time all season a lefthander had shutout the Yanks. They were blanked in the regular American league season only twice—by Bob Lemon of Cleveland and particularly by Lindell. Big John, right-hander.

There was some weird outfield play in this second series game. Ellis Kinder of Boston. Both are of course, fumbled Hodges' single in the second. He also played with Roy Campanella's single in the fifth but recovered in time to save himself another error by throwing out Campanella, hot-footing for second.

STRIKE OVER?

HONOLULU, Oct. 6 (AP)—Union Leader Harry Bridges declared today he had negotiated a settlement of the 150-day-old Hawaiian stevedores strike, but an employer spokesman said, "no settlement has been reached."

INTEREST WAS centered today in the Southern Oregon Regional conference which is the 1949 terminology of the old fashioned teachers institute. Here are three teachers from Rogue River registering with Joyce Griffen, Standing, left to right, Mrs. Eugene Letroy, Ralph Crusenbach and David
