Concert Offered Wide Range

The 20-30 club of Klamath Falls presented Gale Page and Solito de Solis in a concert of music which ranged from Scarlatti and Brahms to Cole Porter and Irving Berlin in the new Mills auditorium which saw its first community use of the brand new building.

De Solis is a well known artist in his own right and reaped his greatest applause from the appreciative audience with his own rendition of Porter's old favorite, Night and Day. As for his wife, the beautiful Gale, another old favorite, My Bill, was probably her best number of the evening.

Because the original program was judged too long, the Liszt, Debussy and Chopin numbers were eliminated but this was regrettable as the majority of the audience appeared to be piano lovers.

Members of the 20-30 club are to be congratulated for their efforts in bringing here a concert with such general appeal.

This is Miss Page's last concert appearance of the season as she
