

Engagement Announced at Tea

A December wedding is planned by Miss Merlon Albrecht, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Emil Albrecht. She will marry Mr. Tom Howard, son of Mr. and Mrs. Karl Howard of San Francisco.

The engagement news was told Thursday at a tea given by Mrs. Albrecht and Merlon in the Albrecht home on Pacific Terrace.

The rooms were decorated with arrangements of fuchsias, Japanese chrysanthemums, and the tea table was centered with a "tree" of button chrysanthemums with small ceramic bells attached.

Each guest was given a betrothal note at the door by Mrs. Thomas E. Watters.

Mrs. Ernest Bubb and Mrs. Walter Wiesendanger presided at the tea table the first hour, and Mrs. J. Royal Shaw and Mrs. Carl Steineller poured the second hour. Mrs. Robert Kent greeted the guests at the door, and Mrs. Paul Landry assisted about the rooms.

The bride-elect is a 1942 graduate of Klamath Union high school, and attended Stanford university at Palo Alto, Calif., graduating in 1946.

She was a member and vice president of Delta Gamma social sorority.

Merlon was active in campus affairs, and after her senior year at Stanford was elected to Phi Beta Kappa, national scholastic honorary.

Since her graduation, Merlon has been employed by an import-export firm in San Francisco.

Mr. Howard was a graduate of Stanford university in the class of 1946. He was a member and president of Delta Tau Delta social fraternity. His specialty seems to be president of things. He was president of his graduating class in grammar school, president of his senior class in high school, and president of his high school student body. At Stanford he was president of the freshman class, also yell leader. He graduated first in navigation at the Air Corps cadet school in Texas during the war.

Tom has just been elected president of the newly-organized Street Club, younger men in the stock and bond business in San Francisco. He is a security salesman with an investment firm there. December 4 has been chosen by Miss Albrecht for the wedding.

Invitations are being circulated around school for a number of Halloween parties. This is official party time, in case you're interested. The old timers don't go in for it so much but the kids greet the season with a whoop and a holler.

Don't expect anybody to stay in town the week-end of November 5. There will be a general exodus out-of-town Portland bound for the Oregon-Washington game.

Homecoming dates at Oregon State are October 29-30, University of Oregon, November 19-20. Lots of people already finding reservations scarcer than businessmen in town on opening day of the duck season.

There is big business going on, dealing with orange and black pumpkins, party favors and the like, the snitching of sheets and the strategic plan of attack laid out by trick and treaters. One Klamath Falls householder, plagued by thousands of little trick-treaters last Halloween, suggested that kids stay in their own balliwick and practice on their own neighbors. The supply of candy, gum, cookies, apples, etc., goes just so far.

Enjoying their first trip West, are Dr. and Mrs. W. W. Curry, who are visiting with Dr. and Mrs. Fred Farley on Pacific Terrace. Mrs. Curry is Dr. Farley's cousin, but she probably won't see much of him, as the men are planning a little hunting for this week. The Curry's live in Holden, West Virginia, and arrived in town Thursday from San Francisco, where they attended a dental convention. Dr. Curry is president of the West Virginia State Dental society.

Harold Ogle, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Ogle, is really doing some traveling. He is now enjoying a voyage on a Norwegian ship which has just left Tahiti, en route to Samoa. Harold writes that the crew members sing each night, and since many of them aren't able to speak English, they just chime in with E-I-E-I-O when the English-speaking ones sing "Old McDonald." Last year Harold spent the summer in Mexico, and also spent some time in Germany with the army of occupation. He is expected back in November.

Merlon Albrecht's ensemble for her engagement tea Thursday was truly striking. The top of her dress was heavy rose satin, and the skirt was silver grey brocaded satin with rose satin dots on it. With it she wore grey brocaded satin shoes.

This has been a busy week for Merlon. She spent three evenings practicing for, and taking the part of Hedda Hopper in the Junior chamber of commerce play, left for San Francisco yesterday to do some shopping, and as a sideline, announced her engagement.

Wayne and Lois Ann Scott are spending the early part of the winter at their cabin at Lake of the Woods and in town last week we visited with them a minute while they were getting gas at a service station. Lois Ann reported beautiful weather which makes for gnashing of teeth on the part of other summer home owners who long since have closed with a nostalgic sigh. They are keeping an old "whoopie" at the lake to ride high when they decide to come out which will be around the first of the year. Both plan to go back to school then.

The tea table at Mrs. Douglas McKay's party—well, the party for Mrs. McKay we mean, on Friday was extremely pretty with fall flowers. Under the lace cloth was an aqua cloth, and the colors of aqua and yellow were repeated in the center arrangement of chrysanthemums and carnations.

Edna Albrecht's lovely tea table centerpiece for daughter Merlon's betrothal tea last Wednesday, did double duty. The pretty chrysanthemum "tree," was refurbished for the McKay party and stood on a table opposite the receiving line and made a nice place for the thoughtful ones to leave their cards.

A corsage of pink rosebuds was worn by Mrs. McKay at the tea. Those planning the affair remembered that pink rosebuds were Mrs. McKay's favorite flowers.

Also among those assisting and not mentioned in the tea story, was Thirza DeCew of Portland, formerly of Klamath Falls, who arrived this week-end for a visit with friends and relatives.

Klamath Falls rings another bell. Up at Gonzaga university at Spokane, a press conference was under way this week and those attending were young writers from Catholic high schools in the Northwest. Representatives from Sacred Heart academy here have the distinction of traveling the greatest distance to the conference. Those making the jaunt were Ellen Murphy, Julianne Murphy, Betty Noble and Sister M. Ethelwina, CSP, the advisor.

Ernie Hedlund, Herald and News engraver got the first bird of the season yesterday. When he came to work, he found a sparrow in his shop, (in fact there is a nest of sparrows in his shop). Not wanting to harm his feathered friend, Ernie opened two windows to let the bird out. He also had in mind that the bird season did not open until noon, and it was only eight in the morning. Anyhow, the sparrow did not choose to go thru either open window, and tried the hard way, the air conditioner. Feathers flew, but the fan won out; he now, Ernie, has one less sparrow inhabiting his shop.

Reames Luncheon Event of Next Friday

Mrs. Laurence Shaw and Mrs. C. J. Cox are co-chairmen of the annual fall luncheon of women of Reames Golf and Country club. Date of the affair is Friday, October 26, at 1 o'clock.

Always highlights of the luncheon are the presentation of trophies and election of officers of the women's group.

In charge of decorations for the affair are Mrs. Louis Soukup and Mrs. Boyd Sprague. Others on the committee are Mrs. John McCulloch, Mrs. A. E. Macartney, Mrs. Richard Maxwell, Mrs. Dick Reeder, Mrs. Gene Hooker and Mrs. Fred Burgoyne.

Fall decorations were the theme of the Reames card party held at the clubhouse for members and guests this afternoon. In charge of cards were Mrs. E. B. Brosterhus and Mrs. F. C. Tarr, while Mrs. Percy Murray was tea chairman.

Assisting with arrangements were Mrs. Ray W. Oldenburg, Mrs. Jim Burness Jr., Mrs. Kenneth Moore, Mrs. Paul O. Landry, Mrs. Charles Fyock, and Mrs. Lloyd Drew.

Prizes galore were part of the fun last Saturday night when the country club entertained at a square dance. Special award went to James Kerns. Mrs. Charles Houston was judged the best dressed woman and John McCulloch, the best dressed man. Other prizes went to Mr. and Mrs. Jack Schulte, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Webber, Mr. and Mrs. Whitey Torgerson and Dr. and Mrs. John Merryman.

Governor's Wife Honored Friday

Mrs. Douglas McKay, wife of the governor of Oregon, was greeted by a great many old friends as well as new on Friday afternoon from half past three to half past five o'clock in the Winema banquet room.

Mrs. McKay had arrived earlier in the afternoon with her husband from their home in Portland. He spoke last night at Rotary which was the annual "ladies night" party, and Saturday was spent by both Governor and Mrs. McKay at Merrill.

The tea yesterday was arranged under the sponsorship of the Klamath County Republican Central committee and an invitation was extended to all women in the basin area.

Fall flowers were used about the rooms and silver tea appointments completed the table decor.

Receiving with Mrs. McKay were Mrs. Marshall E. Cornett, Republican National Committeewoman from Oregon; Mrs. Oscar Kittredge, vice chairman of the Klamath County Republican Central committee; Mrs. Rose M. Poole, former representative to the state legislature, and Mrs. Richard Maxwell of the Klamath Young Republicans group.

Mrs. Neal Stewart received at the door the first hour, and Mrs. Howard Barnhisel the second hour.

Assisting about the rooms during the afternoon were Mrs. Grace M. Wells, Mrs. L. A. Murphy, Mrs. Angus Newton, Mrs. Wyatt Padgett, Mrs. E. A. Geary and Mrs. George Clark.

Pouring at the tea table during the two hours were Mrs. Victor O'Neill, Mrs. Paul Farrans, Mrs. Cyril Cook, Mrs. Phillip S. Hitchcock, Mrs. Henry Semon, Mrs. William Hackler of Fort Klamath, Mrs. Frederick Ehlers, Mrs. George Filcraft, Mrs. Stephen Sabo, Mrs. Dean Osborn, Mrs. James J. Ottoman Sr., Malin; Mrs. Dale West of Merrill and Mrs. C. A. Landry.

Mrs. Don Kenyon was in charge of tea table arrangements and she was assisted by Mrs. George H. Adler, Mrs. Arthur Rickbell, Mrs. Guy Barton and Mrs. Elmer Balsiger.

MRS. AILSA KUYKENDALL AND HER CHILDREN, Ailsa Luur, twelve, and John, who is eight, will leave Klamath Falls in two weeks to make their home in Santa Cruz. Mrs. Kuykendall has lived here for 28 years, and leaves many friends. Her parents are Dr. and Mrs. George Massey. —Guderian.

Far left: MRS. CALVIN HUNT reads the engagement news. Mrs. Thomas E. Watters presented betrothal notes to the guests from a flower-decked silver tray.

Center: A HAPPY BRIDE-TO-BE is Miss Merlon Albrecht, who announced her plans to marry Mr. Tom Howard of San Francisco at a tea in the Albrecht home last Thursday.

Pretty Wedding is Recent Event

The Immanuel Lutheran church of Centralia, Washington, was the scene of the wedding of Donna Brotherton of this city, and Kenneth Jensen of Portland, on October 9.

The bride, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Max Brotherton, formerly of Klamath Falls, now of Centralia, was given in marriage by her father.

The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Jensen of Portland.

Before the ceremony Robert A. Caselli, of Sacramento, lighted the church tapers and special organ music was played.

The Rev. Frederick T. Lucas read the ceremony before a flower decked altar.

The bride wore a champagne colored lace cocktail length gown with beehives of bronze chrysanthemums. She carried a white Bible covered with a corsage of orchids.

Genevieve Lund of Klamath Falls was matron of honor for the bride, and wore a gown of green similar in fashion to the gown of the bride. She wore a matching hat, and carried a nosegay of gold chrysanthemums.

For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Brotherton wore a black afternoon ensemble with a gardenia corsage, and Mrs. Jensen wore a gown of aqua with gardenia corsage.

Best man for the groom was Carl T. Swenson of Portland, and usher was Robert Brotherton, brother of the bride.

The reception immediately following the ceremony was in the home of the bride's parents, where the newlyweds cut the beautiful, tiered cake.

Assisting with the reception were Miss Wilma Pottratz, who served the wedding cake, and Mrs. James Baker and Mrs. Sterling Jensen greeted guests about the rooms. All are aunts of the groom.

Norma Steuben of Klamath Falls, passed the guest book.

For traveling the bride wore a black dressmaker suit with ermine tail trim, with her orchid corsage pinned on her shoulder. The couple spent several days in Seattle, and are now at home in the Virginia apartments here.

Out-of-town guests included Mr. and Mrs. Sterling Jensen of Eugene, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Jensen, and Mr. and Mrs. Ferd Jensen, all of Canby, Ore.; Mrs. Bob Hunter, Colton, Ore.; Mr. and Mrs. James Baker, and Mrs. Karl Krumbhole, and Mr. and Mrs. Harold Jensen, all of Portland.

Miss Wilma Pottratz of Canby, Mr. Daryl Nelson, Mr. Nick Schollan, Mr. Arden Hartman, Miss Susan Maddock, and Miss Angeline Schollan, all of Portland; Miss Norma Steuben, and Miss Genevieve Lund, both of Klamath Falls; Mr. Robert Caselli of Sacramento, and Robert Brotherton of Ashland.

CUTTING THEIR TIERED WEDDING CAKE are Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Jensen. Mrs. Jensen is the former Donna Brotherton. The couple was married in the Immanuel Lutheran church in Centralia, Wash., on October 9, and are now at home here. —Hardy studio, Centralia.
