

Eppersons Talk At OES Meeting

Aloha chapter, No. 61, Order of the Eastern Star, met in regular session Tuesday evening, October 25, in the Masonic temple, Klamath avenue.

Robert Morris, founder of the Eastern Star, was honored in song and story, with the degree girls in charge of the program. A barber shop quartet led by M. L. Shepherd, delighted the members with a group of songs, some new, some old, concluding with "Aloha."

Connie Hunt, one of the degree girls, who is to be married soon, was honored with a special ceremony and presented with sterling silver by Neidra Hunt, Ruth Phelps, Omega Peak, Jeannine Cogdill, Norma Uerlings and Margaret Sheridan sang "The Sweetest Story Ever Told," by R. M. Stults, with Beatrice Denison at the piano.

Mrs. George Casper told a short story of the life of Robert Morris, who founded the Order of the Eastern Star in February, 1850, while living at LaGrange, Kentucky. Robert Morris was born in Oxford, Mississippi, 1818, traveled extensively and did much research work in the interest of Masonry. He was the author of several books and composed musical numbers, some of which are well known. "Galilee," one of his compositions, was sung by Marcel Sheridan and Connie Hunt, with Mrs. Denison at the piano.

Robert Morris designed the first Eastern Star ritual, though this was revised later. He was a past grand master of the grand lodge of Kentucky, and this lodge erected a monument over his grave in LaGrange. This spot is a shrine for Masons and Eastern Stars, thousands of whom visit it each year.

A delightful number on the evening's program was provided by Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Epperson when they told about some of their experiences during their recent six weeks trip to England and the continent where they visited their son and family, Captain George Epperson, wife and twin daughters who are stationed in London. They took turns telling about the food, shelter, and clothing situation, as they saw it in London, Paris, Switzerland, and other points.

According to the Eppersons, conditions seemed worse in England than in the other places visited. They are of the opinion that the Englishman spends too much time in non-essentials such as holidays, and tea drinking. He seems always to be just going on a holiday, just finishing one, or just having one. The same is true of tea, he is having tea, has just had tea, or is preparing to have tea. This doesn't leave much time for constructive effort, in the opinion of the visitors.

The evening closed with refreshments served in the down-stairs dining room by the Degree Girls, with pop corn, cider, doughnuts, candy making up the menu. Decorations carried out the old-time orchard scene with corn stalks, pumpkins, apples hanging on trees, and a real cider press from the Fitzgerald

SYKES HAMAKER, 69-year-old Klamath resident, is the oldest living local resident born within the city limits of Klamath Falls, he maintains. Mr. Hamaker was born October 8, 1880, when the town was still Linkville. His parents were the late Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Hamaker and the father at one time operated a sawmill near Bonanza. The old Hamaker house stood at what is now Third and Main streets in the early days. Mr. Hamaker remains active and late this summer took over the post of carrying the mail to Lake of the Woods and Upper Klamath lake points.

Study Group Has Luncheon For AAUW

The International Relations Study group of the American Association of University Women entertained for the entire membership with a novel and interesting luncheon last Saturday at the Pelican party room. Nearly 100 women attended.

The luncheon celebrated the fourth birthday of the United Nations and the decorations, music, and program were based upon the UNESCO theme.

The table and room decorations were clever arrangements of United Nations flags standing about the room, paper dolls standing in the center of the tables representing peoples of other lands, and miniature United Nations flags distributed about the tables. Mrs. A. Ivan Thompson and Mrs. Lynn Propst were in charge of table decorations.

Musical numbers by French, Spanish, and English composers were sung by Mr. George Brewer, accompanied by Miss Ruth Lobbaum.

Mr. Brewer also played a Spanish number on the violin.

Guest speaker of the day was Mrs. Twyla Ferguson, who has recently returned from an extended European tour which was conducted by Dr. Alfred Fiske, professor of philosophy at San Francisco State college.

Although Mrs. Ferguson described her tour generally, she spoke chiefly on her observations of her faith in the United Nations, the general gratitude expressed by many intelligent persons, especially in Italy and France, and the work

Sacred Heart Plans Seasonal Recitals

The music department of Sacred Heart academy is adopting for this year a new plan for the presentation of its students in music recitals. The coming of spring and the coming of recitals are traditionally synonymous but this year the concerts will be seasonal and consequently will begin immediately.

The public is invited to the first musicale of the year to be held in the academy assembly hall Sunday, October 30, at 2:30 o'clock.

A Halloween theme will characterize all the musical numbers on the program. Every little musician will give you his version of goblins and ghosts in terms of melody. The Cecilian string ensemble will play "The Dance of Death by Saint-Saens, and the highlight of the recital will be the presentation of the lyrics of "Hansel and Gretel" with special consideration for the witch in this greatly loved opera. Paula Ann Clark and Donald Taucher are the narrators; Ann Egan gives the prologue and the accompanists are Judith Vandenberg and John Ely.

Other students participating are Jo Antoinette Brandejesky, Barbara Maudlin, Susan O'Hair, Colleen Linehan, John Vandenberg, Don Pedro Colley, Jean Chin, Ann Merzmann, Douglas Cummings, Norma Scott, Judith Piezer, Judith Brauner, Paul Adams, Claudette Brandejesky, Glenda Sechler, Claudette Schuck, Donald Taucher and Mary Joan De Bel. Members of the Cecilian ensemble are: Phillip Clark, Janice Larson, Julie Harnden, Cecile Vandenberg, Theresa Bruner, Catherine Kann, Barry Stephens, Cecilia Kann, and Sue Rausby.

The girls vocal ensemble will constitute the Angelic Choir: Alice Baker, Ann Egan, Mary Elliott, Shirlee Fee, Jacqueline Joyer, Mary Frances Mauch, Joanna McAlliff, Mariene Mingo, Julianne Murphy, Betty Noble, Susan Vandenberg and Freida Waldron. Judith Vandenberg is their accompanist.

Kennel Club To Have Dog Show

The newly formed Kennel club plans to have its first dog show on Sunday November 6 at the Fair grounds.

Mr. Reginald Livsey, well known dog judge and breeder from Milwaukee, Wis., will be the judge. President of the club, Mrs. F. E. McIntosh, welcomes entries in the show, and asks that anyone owning a purebred dog that he would like to enter, call her at 4356 for information.

In Klamath Falls for the marriage of her niece, Ellen Louise Brown, Mrs. Leonard Lewis and daughter, Helen, of Salem, formerly of Olene, were renewing acquaintances over the week-end. It has been eight years since Mrs. Lewis' last visit to our city, and she noted the rapid growth and improvements in the city and surrounding area.
