STRADIVARIUS?—J. C. Wilson lost his leg in a mowing machine accident several years ago. But he doesn't want to lose his fiddle. Black lettering inside the box reads, "Antonius Stradivarius, Cremonensis, Faciebat Anno 1734." That would indicate it was made by Antonio Stradivari, most famous member of the great Cremona, Italy, family of violin makers. Wilson said he was once offered $500 cash for his violin and turned it down. But a genuine Stradivarius may sell for a six-figure price. On the other hand lesser violin makers have sometimes put the Stradivari name in their own work. An expert could probably tell in a few minutes whether the Wilson violin is genuine, but Wilson says no expert has come to look at it. He says he bought it 40 years ago, paid $22.50 for it and a banjo he got at the same time. Wilson is 71 years old. He still plays old time tunes on his fiddle as well as the folk songs of the Tennessee mountains. He lives at Isham, Tenn., a little town by an abandoned railroad.

The answers to everyday insurance problems

By Jerry Thomas Insurance Counselor

QUESTION: We belong to a social group of about twenty couples and each couple takes a turn at hosts for a house party at which the others are guests. Martha, a local maid of all work, always helps with the serving and cleaning up at the home where the party is given. Last week, Martha slipped, going down stairs to the basement party room and although she wasn't hurt, some of our group thought we should take out some form of insurance covering our liability in such an accident. Is Employer's Liability the proper kind?

ANSWER: Employer's Liability insurance covers your legal liability in accidents to servants but it would be much simpler for each couple to own Comprehensive Personal Liability coverage. That sort of policy covers your liability for accidents to part time servants and gives a lot of additional protection for a very small premium. No family should be without it.
