WHEAT, CORN UP A LITTLE

CHICAGO, Nov. 17 (AP)—Wheat and corn managed a timid advance on the board of trade today. Although they did not gain much, they did better than other cereals.

Approval of grants to France and Turkey by the economic cooperation administration backgrounded the gains in these cereals. France got $11,600,000 to buy corn and Turkey $6,160,000 to buy wheat and wheat flour.

Wheat closed 1/4-1/2 higher, December $2.09 1/2, corn was 1/4 to 1 cent higher, December $1.25 1/2, oats were unchanged to 1/4 lower, December 74, rye was unchanged to 1/4 lower, December $1.30 1/2, soybeans were 1/4 lower to 1/2 higher, November $2.21 and lard was 3 to 25 cents a hundred pounds higher, November $9.55.

Chiloquin Panel Group Studies Many Problems Of Juvenile Delinquency

CHILOQUIN—Close to 125 persons were present at the high school to hear a panel discussion of various aspects of juvenile protection in this district. The forum, which was held as a part of the November Parent Teachers association meeting, was considered a success as it informed local citizens of many of the juvenile laws and courts which handle the more serious cases. Frank Parker, PTA president, acted as chairman and introduced the speakers and directed the questioning period which followed. Joseph Mercer, superintendent of local schools, told of the increased curriculum offered in the school system (including more college preparatory courses as well as more of the manual arts) and spoke of the need for cooperation with parents of students on school discipline problems.

Kirk Speaks
Seldon E. Kirk, chairman of the Klamath tribes, spoke of the effect of law enforcement on the reservation in the past one hundred years. He pointed out that the tribes had forsaken their own doctrine and customs in favor of the United States government and its laws; that chiefs had enforced rules prior to the treaty, the military men were in charge until the establishment of the Agency office and the job of superintendent. He pointed out that the Indians had been more than willing, their record compares favorably with any tribe in the United States and that the Indians alone are not to be blamed for lack of order on the reservation. He stressed the need of discipline within the home.

Peace Justice
Lloyd Peters, Justice of the Peace of the Wood River district, third speaker on the panel, spoke on the subject of juveniles as it applies to his court. He has no jurisdiction over any juvenile except in that there are several young people living in the community who do not have parents or guardians who accept responsibility for them. Local officers can turn over any delinquent to the juvenile court in Klamath Falls with the exception of any enrolled member of the Klamath tribes, who can be handled by state courts only on the school law or by the federal courts in one of the 19 major crimes.

Supt. R. H. Bitney of the Klamath Indian Agency office stated that the duties of the Indian officers in the matter of juveniles who broke laws was to investigate, call in the Federal Bureau of Investigation for further checking and then turn the information over to the United States district attorney, who sends the youths to either the federal or state courts. He reiterated the opinion of the other panel members, that courts are not the answer to juvenile delinquents.

Judge Vandenberg
Circuit Judge David R. Vandenberg of Klamath Falls, last speaker, warned against the belief that delinquency is too common. Only 2 per cent of county juveniles appear in his court and of that number almost 49 out of 50 never have further appearances in a court of law. The court handles two types of cases, those of dependent children who have no adequate home consummating these desires with a simple flick of a magic wand."

HERE'S a closing thought: The Truman administration, I think, beat the Los Angeles professor to it and designed the Fair Deal as the fairy godmother who will give all of us everything we want by the simple trick of flicking the magic wand.

That is to say: The smart political boys who now run the works have us all sized up as CINDERELLAS. The way the scheme is working leads me to wonder if they may not be right. We've certainly been acting like Cinderella.
