GEORGE IMAI, seated, gets advice from Prof. Martin Williams at Whitworth.

Boy Scouts Seen as a Hope For Japan's Rehabilitation

SPOKANE, Wash. (AP)—George Imai, national field secretary for the Boy Scouts of Japan, has enrolled at Whitworth college as a freshman in social work. This is the second time that Imai has been a college freshman but today he's a lot more optimistic about his own and his country's future than he was when he first tried college six years ago.

He was in his second month at the Tokyo university in 1943 when the Japanese drafted him into the navy as a 17-year-old cadet. Imai said he was certain that Japan could not win the war and that he would surely be killed in action. He was so sure that he volunteered to be a kamikaze pilot "to get it over with."

But the Japanese turned down his request to fly a suicide plane and in May, 1945, he was commissioned an ensign in the emperor's navy. Before he could be assigned to a ship the war was over.

Imai took off his ensign's uniform and burned it in accordance with occupation orders. But in a few months he put on another uniform—that of the Boy Scouts of Japan—and at 23 became the national field secretary.

Imai says the scouting program in Japan is poorly organized but could be a great help in rehabilitation of the country. "The younger generation in Japan didn't have a good education because of the war," he said, "and most of them at present don't care what happens. I want to help remedy this."

He hopes to take executive scout training in New Jersey and in London after graduating from Whitworth and then returning to Japan to train future Boy Scout leaders.

Imai first became interested in scouting in Honolulu where he attended grade school and learned English. He recalls that as a member of Honolulu troop 36 he helped form an honor guard for Franklin D. Roosevelt when the late president visited the islands in 1935. When he returned to Tokyo for high school he remained active in Boy Scout work.

JOAN CRAWFORD ILL

HOLLYWOOD, Nov. 19 (AP)—Joan Crawford is ill in bed today, her physician says she is suffering from heat exhaustion and a severe cold. The doctor added that the actress was stricken after 11 days on the desert working on a motion picture. He prescribed several days' rest in bed.

Static

By DAVE UNDERHILL

Well, friends, here it is—Saturday again, and only thirty-seven days left till Christmas. But that isn't why Chuck Miller's picture is leading this column.

The reason is this. Here it is Saturday and probably you are thinking of stepping out tonight. So why not drop into Molitor's and listen to what I consider the tops in entertainment.

Yep, that's right, the tops. Chuck has really got an amazing voice. Ask him to do any type of number, tango, samba, blues, or novelty, and he really does a fine job of it.

UNDERHILL

I dropped into Harry Molitor's eatery the other night just to make sure if all I had been hearing about Chuck was true. And believe me it is.

The smiling easy going entertainer has a marvelous range to his voice. He never strains, no matter how low or high the note and that is indicative of a good singer.

What's more, Chuck has an amazing versatility of repertoire. He never seems to sing the same song in the same way more than once.

What really got me was the way he did a rendition of "Galaxy Bay." I have been sold on that song ever since I heard Bing Crosby's recording of it. Guess it must be the Irish in my blood. But when I heard Chuck do it I dropped a few sentimental tears in my unaltered beer.

And for kicks, ask for a rendition of "The Saga of Dangerous Dan McGrew." It's the funniest novelty tune that I have heard in quite some while.

So, neighbors, I'll see you over at Molitor's tonight.

Incidentally it has been rumored that Chuck may get a ten minute air spot, five nights a week, on LW if things can be arranged. Evidently the time is open if some local merchant can be induced to put up the cabbage.

Looks like a good spot for some enterprising business to pick up fifty minutes per week of sure fire listening time.

Well, I don't exactly feel like writing a column tonight. Have been trying to do it in between listening to the Pel-La Grande frax, and answering the phone.

Haven't heard so many groans and grunts of dismay and disgust in a long time as tonight. Every time I picked up the phone and gave out with the score, it sounded like whoever was on the other end of the line was about to drop dead.

It sure is a tough one to lose, by any score. But by the size of that 31-0 total, it would seem that the Tigers have quite a ball team.
