Static
By DAVE UNDERHILL

Pictured above is the new look in entertainment as now being offered down at Cal-Ore. The gentleman on the left, with ear-muffs and tin hat is Thor Anderson. And on the right is dapper, Vic Diast, orch leader at the border line bistro. The other day Vic dropped in for a visit to give us the low down on what's doing down California way these days.

Vic says that due to popular demand his outfit will be specializing in early tunes and western numbers. Being featured in the novelty line is the zany Thorf. According to Vic the boy is a natural on such tunes as "Freida My Clambers Sweetheart," "I Just Don't Give a Hoot," and two variations of Christmas numbers, "Yingle Bells," and "I Just Go Nuts at Christmas."

Thorf has evidently had quite a background in the novelty tune business. In Chicago he sang with the Ray Herlick band at the Edgewater hotel, and was known as the Rain-bow Wrangler. Anderson is known for his western work around these parts also. And popular demand has got him back in the saddle once more with Vic and his boys.

Incidentally, Vic will be leaving these parts after Cal-Ore closes down on the first of January.

He has had an offer to travel to Elko, Nevada, to play in the lounge of the Commercial hotel there. However, Vic says that there is "something popping down Hollywood way." He had requests for pictures, and records of his band. So he is kind of hanging tough on the Nevada deal till he finds out what is boiling in the pot in the movie town.

The blond boy with the horn.

has quite a record behind him in musical circles. He started out some years ago with a twelve piece outfit, playing for four years in Sioux Falls, South Dakota. After that he journeyed out to the coast for engagements in San Diego, winding up in the super deluxe Circus Room at the hotel Del Coronado.

Also on his list of engagements are the Paris Inn, Sherman's and El Cortez in Chicago, the windy city.

Coming west again, Vic and his boys spent time in Reno at the Tropics club and also at the Davenport in Spokane.

For the past two years he has been entertaining you at the Cal-Ore club and doing a fine job of it. Vic tells me that he and his lovely wife, Joyce, have been married for four and-a-half years. They live in, and travel around in a large house trailer. Says that is the best deal for his kind of life.

Personally, we will be sorry to see the dapper little fellow leave these parts. He has a fine personality, blows a mean horn, and is an all around nice guy.

Sure hope he makes the grade down south with the movie moguls. Hollywood could really use some new blood.

How to Spot Rare Books Revealed

LOS ANGELES (AP)—What makes a rare book? Dr. Lawrence Clark Powell, UCLA librarian, lays down these eight rules for libraries hereabouts:

1. All books printed before 1600; American books before 1820; California books before 1870; Los Angeles books before 1900.
2. Limited editions of 300 copies or less; autographed books; first editions of significance.
3. Books of esthetic importance—fine printing, illustration or binding.
4. Books which cost more than $50.
5. Items of local or archival interest, including local fine press books.
6. Books containing fine plates or fragile makeup.
7. Special collection volumes—unit acquisitions which need to be kept together.
8. Books with significant manuscript or other materials laid or glued in.

Waldorf salad—that old standby of apple, celery, walnuts, and mayonnaise—takes on a bed of water-tersness and accompanied by a mound of creamed cottage cheese. Dust the salad and the cheese with a little paprika for color.

Sagebrush Control Pushed

WOODWARD, Okla. (AP)—U. S. ranchers have been making bigger profits by killing sagebrush. This vital part of western stories and films complex with grass, say U. S. department of agriculture experts at their field station here.

Sagebrush can be sprayed with 2, 4-D weed killer from planes for about $2.25 an acre plus the cost of flag men on the ground. Such treatment kills half to 90 per cent of the sagebrush. About a third of a million acres has been treated so far. Profits on such lands have doubled.

Ninth annual meeting, Western Knights association, armory, Friday, 25th.
