

A TYPICAL KLAMATH FALLS FAMILY is that of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Williams of 1536 California avenue. They went Christmas shopping one day this week and here they are.

1—Mother and her children, little Jimmy, Pam, Gary and Roger, sample popcorn at a store promotion. 2—Pam wonders if Mother would like a new rolling pin. 3—Gary gets weighed and would like one of these machines for Dad who is always watching his weight. 4—Jimmy and Gary think over the shirt situation for Father. 5—Gladys Williams and her attractive brood. 6—Roger tries on this robe for size. 7—A pretty little gift for Pam, combination panty-petticoat. 8—Mom needs a new mop, opines Roger. 9—And wouldn't Dad give something for one of these guns, observe Gary and Roger. 10—How about this for Mom, Roger quizzes Gary.

On The Cover

CLEMENT MOORE'S famous poem, "A Visit From St. Nicholas," or "The Night Before Christmas," intrigues the three young Raglands, Andy Jim, David and Martha Marie, as they cuddle down with the book in a big chair by the fireplace patiently waiting Santa's arrival. Each has expressed his or her own desire for Christmas morning, but as far as Andy Jim is concerned, it's a lot of excitement, and he will have to wait another year or two to understand the finer points of the good Saint's visit.
