Cheesecake, Scanty Dress Scorned by Lauren Bacall

By BOB THOMAS HOLLYWOOD, Dec. 1 (AP)—Step right up, ladies and gentlemen, for some lessons in sex appeal. The teacher: Lauren Bacall.

In an unusually frank discourse, Prof. Bacall declared "you don't have to be uncovered to be sexy. Showing your legs or your bosom isn't necessarily sexy. It's a fallacy to think just because you're wearing a low-cut gown or a tight sweater that you look sexy."

"Sex should be subtly suggested. You do it with a look or an expression or with your voice." She said this in her famed "If You Need Me, Just Whistle" tones. I was beginning to get the idea.

"An actress should be good enough," she continued on the "Bright Leaf" set, "to put across the idea of sex without undraping herself."

You may recall that one of her many studio suspensions was for refusing the scantily-clad role of "The Girl from Jones Beach." No bathing girl, she.

"I have never posed for cheesecake," she remarked. "I just don't like it and I consider myself lucky that I haven't had to be subjected to it. I'm just not the type."

"There are lots of actresses who never pose for cheesecake, yet are considered sexy. Ingrid Bergman, for one."

As for the current trend of exposing the chests of male stars, she added:

"I think it's terrible. They are certainly scraping the bottom when they have to resort to things like that to sell pictures."

Some of the spiciest reading these days is not in the books banned in Boston, but in the movie ads. Let me cite a few examples of catchlines from recent pictures:

"Nameless, shameless woman, trained in an art as old as time"—"I Married a Communist."

"You need a friend, strong man, and I'm friendly"—"Thieves' Highway."

"Whatever it is that French Women have, Madame Bovary has more of it."

"A mighty story of savage greed and sultry love"—"Rope of Sand."

"You are the most corrupt woman I ever met"—"The Great Sinner."

"Every man is a soft touch for some woman"—"Mr. Soft Touch."

"Men would do anything for Anna Lucasta"

"It's stacked—with lovin' in every line"—"Everybody Does It."

But the raciest reading was in the

I gave up—unconditional surrender! Terms accepted!"

In view of the well-known censorship of the screen, aren't the film companies promising more than they can deliver?

Stevens Rites Yesterday

MOUNT SHASTA—Funeral services for Edgel Louis Stevens, 25, who was killed here in an automobile collision Saturday night, were held Wednesday at Noble's chapel under the auspices of Craft post No.

157, American Legion. Rev. Randolph Phillips officiated. Interment was in the Mount Shasta cemetery. A native of Weed, he was employed by Long Bell Lumber company there. He was a navy veteran and is survived by his wife, Anna; mother, Mrs. Donaldia Stevens of Govan, Wash.; father, Everett Stevens of Mt. Shasta, and sister, Mrs. Florine Margrave of Saratoga, Calif.

Charles Lawrence Scott, 18, who was also killed in the accident, was an employe of Long Bell at Weed. He was a native of Hutchinson, Kas. and is survived by a half-

Christmas Dinner Starts in April

NEW YORK (AP)—Turkeys grow fast. Slightly larger than a baby chick at hatching, they quickly attain a size that dwarfs the chicken. Turkeys hatched in April are open size by Thanksgiving or Christmas. Some of them, the males particularly, attain a weight of 25 pounds or so in that time.
