Tulelake Couple Wed In Evening Ceremony

TULELAKE—Before an arch of fall leaves and masses of yellow and bronze chrysanthemums, in the Tulelake Community Presbyterian church on Sunday evening, November 27, Joan Marlette Stacy, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Stacy, Tulelake, became the bride of William Frank Baley. The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John Baley, also of this community.

The double ring ceremony was read at 6 o'clock in the presence of more than 150 relatives and friends of the young couple by Rev. P. C. Anderson, pastor of the Seventh Day Adventist church in Klamath Falls. Tall white tapers in candelabra at the altar were lighted by the ushers.

Preceding the ceremony, Sharon Stacy, sister of the bride, sang "At Dawning" and "Because" with Mrs. George Douglas at the piano. Mrs. Douglas also played the wedding marches.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, came up the aisle between two bridesmaids, one in a white and one in a yellow and white. She wore a gown of white and yellow satin ribbons.

Her white slipper gown was made with full train. Seed pearls outlined the sheer yoke and were used as panels on the skirt. Sleeves of her frock were long and pointed at the wrist.

Her fingertip veil of illusion was held by a satin and seed pearl tiara and she carried white chrysanthemums with a cascade of stephanotis and white satin ribbon. She wore a strand of pearls, gift of the groom and an heirloom brooch of her maternal grandmother.

Sharon Stacy, maid of honor for her sister, wore a sea green sleeveless tulle frock made with bouffant skirt. Her mitts were of gold mesh. She wore an arrangement of yellow and bronze chrysanthemums in her hair and carried an arm bouquet of the same flowers.

Bridesmaids Charlotte Johnson of Lovelock, Nevada, and Virginia Bailey, of Quincy, California, wore identical frocks of bronze tulle and each carried chrysanthemums in the predominating colors.

Little Charlene Slezak in a floor-length frock of green, trimmed with touches of bronze ribbon, scattered golden flower petals as she came up the aisle.

The rings were carried on a white satin pillow by young Ronnie Baley, brother of the groom.

Best man was Conrad Duggan, Tulelake, and ushers were Jack Slezak, Bud Urbach and Harry Mauch.

For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Stacy wore a green crepe afternoon dress with black accessories. Her corsage was of tiny yellow chrysanthemums.

Mrs. Baley wore teal blue with black and gray accessories with pink carnations at the shoulder.

A reception in the banquet room of the Sportman's hotel followed the ceremony.

The young couple cut the first piece of their four-tiered white and silver wedding cake, later served by Mrs. George Taylor.

At the punch bowl were Mrs. David Lagan, Tulelake, and Felbert Rodgers, Klamath Falls. In charge of the gift table were Mrs. Felbert Rodgers, Mrs. Verne Clifford, Mrs. Glen Holst, Klamath Falls and Mrs. Darlene Titch, Tule-

Taylor-Takacs Rites Event of Saturday

TULELAKE—In a candlelighted ceremony Saturday evening, November 26, in the Tulelake Community Presbyterian church, Peggy Marie Taylor became the bride of Mervin Robert Takacs, Tulelake. The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Vera Grace, Biggs, California, and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John Takacs Jr.

The double ring ceremony was read by Rev. David F. Barnett of Klamath Falls, at 7:30 o'clock.

Preceding the ceremony Mrs. E. Webb Stanton played incidental harp music and the traditional wedding marches.

The bride, given in marriage by her brother, Fred Taylor, came up the aisle in traditional white satin, made en train with double Peter-Pan collar and long sleeves, pointed at the wrists. Her veil of heirloom lace has been in the family of Mrs. George Frey for 100 years and was loaned for the occasion. It was worn by Mrs. Richard Fensler (Frances Frey) at her wedding.

Peggy carried white rose buds on a white Bible. Stephanotis was caught in the cascading white satin streamers.

Mrs. Richard Fensler, matron of honor wore a silvery green satin, floor-length frock, full skirted and with square neckline. She wore a bandeau of the satin in her hair and carried an arm arrangement of bronze chrysanthemums.

Bernice Nebiker, home from the University of California at Berkeley for the wedding wore a gold satin frock made similar to that of the matron of honor. Her flowers were bronze chrysanthemums.

Margaret Ann Takacs, sister of the groom and Carol Moore in flash red satin frocks lighted the candles.

Best man was George Fairchild, Winnemucca, Nevada, formerly of Tulelake.

Ushers were Edwin Fairchild, Sacramento, and Harold Porterfield, Dorris.

For her son's wedding, Mrs. Takacs chose a garnet tulle afternoon dress with black lace hat. Her corsage was pale pink rose buds.

Mrs. George Frey represented Peggy's mother who was unable to be present. She wore a black ensemble with black feather hat and red roses at the shoulder.

A reception in the church annex followed the ceremony.

The new Mr. and Mrs. Takacs cut the first piece of their three tiered white wedding cake that was later cut by Mrs. Clifford Shuck, Merrill, and served by Mrs. Robert Nebiker. Pouring were Mrs. John Kandra Jr. and Mrs. Steve Domen.

Mrs. Wilma Arnold was at the guest book.

Following a wedding trip south the young couple will be at home on a farm on the west side where a new home is ready for them.
