

Tacoma Slayer Gets Life For Murders

TACOMA, Dec. 9 (AP) — John Edward Summers, 33-year-old ex-convict and confessed slayer of an elderly suburban Tacoma couple, must spend the rest of his life in prison.

A superior court jury found him guilty Wednesday of first degree murder in the slaying of Howard Easley, 61. It recommended, however, against the death penalty.

The jury of nine women and three men deliberated nearly a full day after receiving the testimony late Tuesday before reaching a verdict.

Calm Summers received the verdict calmly. He smiled briefly at Albert Morrison, one of his counsel, and talked at length with accompanying deputy sheriff.

Mr. and Mrs. Easley were slain in their Summit home July 16. Their bodies were found in a Cascade mountain timber area five days later. Summers subsequently was arrested in a San Francisco rooming house where he had taken employment.
