

CLASSROOM ON STAGE—Henley high students, crowded out of their old building this fall, set up classes on the stage of the school gymnasium on a temporary basis but were able to move out yesterday and into their new high school building.

Murphy Death, Suicide, Officials Say

TULELAKE — Premeditated suicide was the verdict given on the death of 40-year-old Daniel M. Murphy, following an investigation Friday by Deputy Coroner O. E. Pedersen, Tulelake chief of Police.

Murphy's body was found Thursday in a line cabin southwest of the Haskins sheep range in Siskiyou county. Pedersen stated today that Murphy spent last Saturday night at the Haskins' camp with Haskins' herder, identified only as Hobo Dick. During the visit, Murphy repeatedly spoke of someone hunting him and threatened to take his life.

Lethal Weapon
When he left on Sunday morning in the absence of the herder he took with him a .25-20 Winchester carbine with which he later took his life.

His body was found in the lockeek cabin by a party of Tulelake quail hunters.

One hundred dollars in cash was found in his pockets. Murphy came to this country in 1930 from Ireland.

Tulelake Hotel Turned Back

TULELAKE — Mr. and Mrs. Ray Hampton who purchased the Tulelake hotel less than four months ago this week turned the business back to Mr. and Mrs. Roy Hodges, former owners. The Hamptons came here from Southern California.

Hampton gave his wife's health as the reason for the unexpected transfer.

HOLLYWOOD, Dec. 10 (AP)—On his television show, it would at least have been good for a laugh. But there was no audience yesterday when Slapstick Comedian Ed Wynn slipped in his shower and broke a rib. Taped up, he'll be able to make his show next Thursday, his doctor says.

Report of Truman's Unbalanced Budget Splits Lawmakers

WASHINGTON, Dec. 10 (AP)—Lawmakers greeted without surprise today the news that President Truman won't submit a balanced budget to congress, but they split on what to do about it.

Rep. Reed (R-NY) called the announcement by Budget Director Frank Pace "a bitter Christmas present" for Americans—"although it is not wholly unexpected"—and demanded a cut in spending.

But Senator Thyne (R-Minn) said that while he favors economy, he opposes the view of most of the colleagues with whom he traveled to Europe that the cuts should be made in foreign recovery funds.

More Taxes
Pace made his statement about the budget outlook yesterday at Key West, Fla., after a conference with Truman. Pace said there is little probability of balancing the federal budget next year unless congress votes new taxes.

Congress members already have made it fairly plain that they don't take kindly to the idea of upping taxes. Reed said in his statement: "On the eve of Christmas the over-taxed American who is now paying more than 23 per cent of his income to be governed is told that he will have to dig deeper next year."

"The people of the nation have received a bitter Christmas present from the government, the news that it will cost them a lot more dollars to let the Truman administration govern them."

Foreign Outlays
Reed didn't say where he thinks federal spending should be cut, but a great many lawmakers have pounced on foreign outlays as a suitable item for budget cutting.

Thyne told a reporter he is as interested as anybody else in reducing spending. But he added that he is so impressed with the operations of the economic recovery administration in Western Europe that he will hesitate to vote to reduce that fund below the figures to be recommended by ECA Director Paul G. Hoffman.

"I think we are near victory in the fight against communism there," he said. "The people have a new confidence in the stability of their governments and a new determination to fight off communism."

"To cut off this program or to reduce it too drastically would be like stopping 15 feet above the water line when you are drilling a well."

ECA Cut
Most of Thyne's European traveling companions have been saying since their return that from one to two billion dollars ought to be jopped off ECA funds next year. The ECA has $3,788,000,000 from the last session.

ECA officials have indicated they will ask only about $3,000,000,000 in the new budget and that may help Truman bring total outlays down somewhat. However, they still are likely to exceed the treasury's income, estimated at about $38,000,000,000 this year.

Washington is doing a lot of guess work about the budget. Many here think military expenditures will be cut back to $13,000,000,000 in the new proposals, a saving of $2,000,000,000 under the present year's outlays.

Byrd's Idea
Beside this and a cut of $1,500,000,000 in foreign aid, Senator Byrd (R-Va.) has suggested cuts of $2,000,000,000 in civilian outlays of various kinds and $1,300,000,000 in veteran payments.

Truman isn't likely to pay much attention to Byrd's suggestions. And he may have some new programs in mind which will take up most of the savings made in military and foreign aid outlays.

IN the by-election for the South Bradford seat in the British parliament the other day, the Labor candidate won decisively after a campaign in which the benefits of socialism and the benefits of free enterprise were fully and freely discussed and presumably fully digested by the voters.

That is to say, these South Bradford voters in older and less hopeful England balanced the EASY semi-poverty of the welfare state, with its promise of security to everybody, against the VENTURE AND THE RISK of free enterprise and decided they'd stick with socialism.

As a nation, we are still young. Great possibilities lie ahead of us. To that extent, we are in the same boat with the New Zealanders and the Australians.

For that reason their decision that, after many years of trial of it in actual practice, they want no MORE socialism is of immense significance to us.

Frederick's Dragon Touched Up

LONDON, Dec. 10 (AP)—Denmark's most regal dragon is once more bright as new.

The dragon decorates the chest of the Danes' King Frederik, who visited London last week.

The king, who is admiral-in-chief of the Danish navy, recently noticed the dragon's reds, greens and blues were beginning to pale with the passage of the years.

Last week he stopped in at George Birchett's tattoo shop on Waterloo road and had the colors touched up.

Doctors agree that no normally active person can completely avoid exposure to cold, but much can be done to minimize the danger and to keep a cold from developing into more serious complications.

THREE-IN-ONE X-RAY—Introduced to members of the Radiological Society of North America in convention in Cleveland, O., was this new X-ray machine which provides the widest range of radiation ever produced by a single unit. Developed by General Electric and called the Maxitron 250, the unit actually is three machines in one, producing X-rays at voltages ranging from 100,000 to 250,000. It can be used for a wide variety of X-ray treatments, ranging from "soft" rays for skin diseases to most penetrating rays for treating deep-seated malignancy.
