Let's Talk Things Over

I heard of a man the other day who a few years ago decided to go into business on his own. He was quite a clever mechanic and a hard worker. He worked all hours, and pretty soon had a nice garage business. Then he began to add to his staff until it took fifteen people to run the now sizeable organization. He was making up to $10,000 a year. He'd built a nice home. His kids were in a good school. But he still had to keep on working hard. It was a one-man business, you see. His personality, his ability, his character, kept it going. Then, one day, the end came following an accident. After his death, the enterprise collapsed. The driving energy was gone. The good-will of the business died with him. His family had to dispose of the business for a song.

And yet, with a Sun Life business insurance policy, this man's business could have been transferred to the senior employees, at a price which he, the owner, would have determined before his death. If you own a one-man business, I'd really like to talk things over with you sometime. It's important to your family. Let's talk things over—today!
