Jungle Film Slated For Tule Theatre

TULELAKE—Tickets are going fast for the big wild game motion picture in technicolor that will be shown at the Marcha theatre Tuesday, December 20, under auspices of the Mariner's club. The picture, a thrilling, real-life drama of animal life in the African jungles, was filmed by two California hunters, Dr. William Moore, Bakersfield, and John Lachenmaier, Shafter. The men traveled over 3000 miles in trackless jungle with a white outfitter's safari, engaged at Nairobi. Included were 18 natives. All cargo necessary for the trip was shipped by boat, the men flying to their destination. The film shows elephants, rhinos, tigers and hundreds of other animals, caught in the lens of the camera, many of them charging the photographers as they filmed the animals. Funds from the picture will be used to pay for the cement sidewalk built in front of the Presbyterian church by the Mariner's club.

Farm Sales In Basin Area Filed

TULELAKE—Three transfers of farming property in this area have been announced in the past few days.

Bert Buckingham, 1947 homesteader sold his 72-acre ranch located east of Carr school to Oliver Shull, Myrtle Point, Ore. Shull is a nephew of Ted Johnson, Tulelake, and at present operates a large dairy at Myrtle Point. Buckingham plans to buy a farm in Washington after the first of the year. The transfer was handled by Jack Mace, Tulelake realtor.

A second 1947 homesteader, Bob Solterbeck sold his 74-acre homestead to Fletcher Terry. Solterbeck assisted here for a time as relief man on the city police force. He is moving to a farm in Idaho.

The third parcel of land was sold by Les Penhall, long-time farmer here to John Haley. This involved 72 acres. Mr. and Mrs. Penhall purchased a house trailer following the transfer and are in Southern California on an extended vacation. Penhall also farmed extensively on lease land in the basin.

No consideration was announced on any of the transactions.

Letter cancellation figures from Friday's mail amounted to $2,495 pieces, which is about 6000 more than Thursday's figures. Postmaster Burt E. Hawkins announced.

Also Friday's figures are well over a 1000 more than the number listed December 16, 1948.

Indications show that today's mailing will surpass yesterday's cancellations. A heavy backlog awaited mailmen at every postal box this morning and in the post office slot box.

Three parcel post windows were opened this morning as heavy Christmas mailings continued. These windows and the stamp window will remain open until 6 p. m. today.

Farm Leader Raps Milk Bill
CORVALLIS, Dec. 17 (AP)—An Oregon farm leader turned from traditional policy yesterday to criticize the Oregon milk control law.

Lyman Ross, Aloha, president of the Laurel-Scholls Farmers union and a former state senator, declared the law monopolistic.

The law long has been opposed by consumers' groups, but generally has had farm support.

In an address over radio station KOAC Ross said the milk control theory "is unsound."

"It tends to concentrate production in the hands of large producers, eliminates competition in both price and quality, stifles production, and keeps the consumer in the lower income brackets from purchasing his normal requirements," Ross said.

Holiday Decorations Tips Given by Home Agent Glenn

By MARY GLENN
Home Extension Agent
We are especially fortunate in Klamath county to have so many greens which may be used for the making of Christmas decorations. Greens which are most easily used include fir, cedar, pine, laurel, boxwood, and holly. The miscellaneous green shrubs which grow in our yards work into many Christmas decorations very nicely too. Some of the decorations which we can make at home are: wreaths, door swags, garlands, table decorations and Christmas corsages.

Large Wreaths
1. Large wreaths for doors, and windows, can be made by using a clothes hanger as the frame. First shape the hanger until it is round, leaving the hook at the top to use later to hang the wreath.
2. Prepare many lengths of 6" evergreen to cover the frame. These will be attached by using wire which has been wound around a twig, spool fashion, or dark colored twine to tie greenery to frame.
3. Start at the hook by wiring on little bunches of 6" green. Keep the stems all running in one direction, preferably toward your right hand. As twigs are wired on, unwind just enough wire at a time to fasten it.
4. If the wreath is to be seen from both sides, alternate the sides on which the greens are placed, first a bunch on the front side—then one on the back side.
5. You may use a mixture of greens or all one kind. Pine cones or holly sprigs can be worked in as decoration.

Small Wreaths
1. Very pretty little wreaths can be made with large jar rubbers as a frame. Wrap wire on a twig

Square Dancers Okay, Hunters Watch Weather

By BILL JENKINS
BACK in harness on the dew again. Filling in on only a few days a year is a tough deal because you forget so much. Hope I can last out the day without too glaring an error showing up. And this is Christmas party day, just to make the situation a bit more tense. Gotta finish in time.

SEVERAL new converts, maybe, were added to the square dancing group when the Reames organization held its regular bi-monthly dance. Almost everyone who tries it once comes back for more. For the really rabid there will be a treat next Wednesday night. The Malin club of experts are sponsoring a big festival at the hall in Malin which should be well worth the trip down there. I understand there will be several visiting groups and some fancy foot swinging is promised for all attending.

NOW we know what is so rare as a day in June. It is a second half duck season with decent weather all the way. As this is written the weather is looking better, but after the last couple of days I have little faith in anything. Don't know who to hate the most, the weatherman who gives us the snow and cold or the cold-blooded bunch of anti-hunters on the game commission that voted for this time-robbing split season over a straight 50-day season.

If the days of the vigilantes were with us again I can think of no more fit subject for discipline than the men who did this thing to us. Maybe the new commission will give the hunter a break and let us shoot a few birds while they are here instead of sending them along for other gunners to get a crack at. And if the weatherman wants to cooperate he could get rid of this snow and keep the weather nice and warm for a couple of weeks.

THE hot grid pavement seems to be working OK. Too bad we can't have it under all the streets in town. That might discourage travel outside the city limits, but wouldn't it be nice-in town? As long as the dream is here, though, might just as well dream of having it under all the roads in the world. No more skidding in the snow. Not impossible, but highly improbable.

Santa Plans Visit To Mobile Town

SHEVLIN—Santa is coming again to the moving town of Shevlin. This little town has stayed put long enough in the last three years for Santa to come and bring candy, nuts, oranges and apples to every boy and girl in the community.

The Shevlin school is giving a program Wednesday, December 21, at 7 p. m., at the community hall. After the program Santa and his helpers will arrive and give candy to every child. If there are any candy sacks left over the grownups will have some, too.

The Cub Scouts will be Santa's helpers this year. That is their good deed of the year.

The PTA is sponsoring the program and decorating the tree. The business houses and the people of the community are donating the treats.

Shirley's Husband Hints At Possible Reconciliation

HOLLYWOOD, Dec. 17 (AP)—Shirley Temple's ex-husband John Agar is back in town, and Shirley's got him — for the holidays anyway. But there could be more than mistletoe in the air.

"I'll be at home with Susan all Christmas Day," said the 21-year-old divorcée. "John is welcome to come over."

"We haven't discussed the time as yet, but I certainly will see the baby on Christmas," Agar said as he stepped from a plane here yesterday, clutching two imported French dolls.

"I've bought the baby (full name: Linda Susan, 22 months) a number of little things, but I still have to pick out her main present," said the 28-year-old actor whom Shirley divorced December 6 while he was on a personal appearance tour.

Reconciliation? "Maybe if all this furor dies down, it isn't impossible. I sure hope we can get back together again," said Agar before he left Chicago. But when he arrived here he declared: "I haven't called Shirley since the divorce, nor have I tried to contact her any other way. I won't either, except to make arrangements to see our daughter."

"Of course nobody can say what the future brings — so you can't tell what will eventually develop from this."

Shirley also soft-pedaled the idea of kiss-and-make-up.

"I don't want to comment on this," she said. "I don't think I should." Under California law, the couple must wait a year after last December 6 when their interlocutory decree was granted — to receive their final divorce paper.

Agar disclosed he already had sent a number of presents to Susan and Shirley.

He indicated that his headquarters here will be his parents' home in Beverly Hills. But, as his attorney put it, Agar "could go over to Shirley's home every day to see the baby—and probably will as soon as he gets shaved and cleaned up."

What will happen when he sees the baby's mother? That's a question for Santa Claus.

Fume Control At Troutdale Eyed

PORTLAND, Dec. 17 (AP)—The Reynolds Metals company confirmed yesterday that it is going to attempt to control fumes from its Troutdale, Ore., aluminum plant.

The escaping fumes in the past led to lawsuits in which farmers and dairymen asked some $4,000,000 in damages.

The company let contracts totaling $2,000,000 yesterday for the building of roofs, the installation of Washington towers, dust collectors and hooding of furnaces. It long has been reported that the company planned steps to solve the complicated problem of controlling fumes.

Company officials made no comment, but industrial sources said the company would spend even more money before the problem was solved.
