

Reading Of Hamlet Highlights Meeting

Another in the series of Library club programs to bring outstanding talent to its members was on December 12, when Christmas music was provided by the Klamath Union high school music department, and a reading of "Hamlet" was given by Angus Bowmer of Southern Oregon College of Education.

To open the program, Mrs. Don Zumwalt, music chairman for the club, introduced Andrew Loney, music director for the city schools who outlined the numbers to be presented. The girls' sextette, accompanied by Ronnie Tarr, and composed by Catherine Blanas, Patsy Young, Myra Lein, Beverly Hunt, Sally Seary and Barbara Custer, sang "Jubilate Amen" by Bortensaki, "Honeyberry Candler" by Jack Brye of Oregon State college, and "Christmas Lullaby" a Polish song.

Under the direction of George Brewer, the string quartet consisting of Athena Lampropoulos, Tom Upton, Donald Quick and Shirley Long, played "Andante" from "String Quartets" by Bittersdorf and "The Moon" by Mendelssohn.

Concluding the musical program was the girls' glee club led by LaMar Jensen and accompanied by Ronnie Herzhberger. The songs sung by this group were "Christmas Rose" by Beatrice and Max Krone, "Never Was a Child So Lovely" an old carol, and "Christmas Song" by Catherine Croker. Incidental soloists were Ruby Gehrig, Mrs. Dean Cox, Helen Hughes and B. Idem Payne had been thorough and that his year's study in England of Shakespearean drama must have been very intense because he was entirely at home with "Hamlet" and brought the play very much to life with his interpretations and explanations.

In response to a request from Mrs. A. O. Roenicke, program chairman, Mr. Bowmer dwelt briefly on the Shakespearean festival which he originated in Ashland, and which this fall will be celebrating its tenth anniversary of production.

Another outstanding feature of Monday's program were the profuse and elaborate Christmas green decorations provided by the Garden Club. Wreaths of all sizes, door swatches, and table centerpieces were made by Mrs. Earl Redman, Garden club president, and her members and added much color and atmosphere to the meeting room.

The display provided by the Art Center was of Christmas candles and California-made Sea Foam plates of laminated glass. Paintings by local artist, Rolf Pielke, were hung about the room.

Christmas refreshments were served by the board of officers consisting of Mrs. Osborn, Mrs. Oscar Klitzberg, Mrs. Lawrence Bertram, Mrs. Howard Kirchan and Mrs. Howard Stroud. Presiding at the appropriately-decorated tea table were Mrs. Arthur Compton, calling chairman, and Mrs. A. O. Roenicke, program chairman. Hostesses for the day under Mrs. John Ashley, hospitality chairman, were Mrs. Harry Fee and Mrs. Alfred Collier.

The next Library Club program will be held on January 9 and will be a discussion of architectural trends by members of the firm of Hewitt, Morrison and Howard with an interior decoration display by Mrs. Murdo Morrison.

Trees Decor
MERRILL—Merrill grange and Farm Bureau and their families held a joint Christmas party Monday evening December 12, in the Moose hall. A potluck dinner was served at 7 p. m. with places set for sixty.

Miniature Christmas trees and colorful ornaments formed the table decorations, arranged by Mrs. V. Rexford. Santa Claus appeared after dinner to distribute gifts. Carol Foe, Ruby, Betty Joyce and Barbara Iosbich presented "Santa Claus Is Coming to Town" accompanied by Lillian Thomas.

Games and carol singing followed, with Mrs. Luther Taber at the piano. Mrs. Rexford and Mrs. E. K. Kilpatrick were in charge of the program.

BUM MEAT
PORTLAND, Dec. 17 (AP)—The operator of Holgate Farms, Inc., which is now in receivership, was charged yesterday with selling hamburger adulterated with horsemeat.

President Talmadge Staley was indicted on four charges, then released on $500 bond.

The charges accuse him of selling to restaurants hamburger adulterated with horsemeat. The other charges him of selling unlabeled horsemeat.

Square Dancing Is Dinner Entertainment

Members and visitors of Aloha chapter, No. 61, Order of the Eastern Star, met Tuesday evening at the Masonic temple, Klamath avenue, for a 6:30 dinner. The near 150 members assembled were entertained during the dinner hour by members of the Main Square Dance club, with Otto Ellis calling, Bill Noble, fiddler, and Dorothy Dehlinger at the piano. Sixteen young people from Malin went through the intricacies of seven formations of the square dances and also did the Congo scottish, all in costume. This floor show was charming to see and the visitors received hearty applause.

In charge of arrangements for the dinner were Minnie Grizzle, May Herndon, Ruth Stanley, Myrtle Ackerman, Lee Ackerman, Martha Powell and Edna Jones. This was the annual Christmas party and decorations in keeping with the season were provided by Reno Oldham, Edna Jones, Catha Horn, Sally Wood, Charlotte Osborn and Jim Hunter.

Following the downstairs dinner, the chapter met in regular session the chapter met in regular session in the chapter rooms with Phyllis Poole, worthy matron, and Jack Schulze, worthy patron, presiding. Corsages of English holly were presented by the chapter to all appointive officers and to all who had ever served in these offices. Mrs. Don Phelps, courtesy girl, made these presentations.

Snow Man Decor Soroptimist Meeting

The Soroptimist club of Klamath Falls met at the Pelican party room for their luncheon and Christmas program. Chairman of the day was Lois Stewart, program by Lorraine Johnson and Eloise McIntyre, decorations by Louise Reinhart and Alice Howard. The tables were beautifully decorated in keeping with the Christmas season. The meeting was started with the singing of America, the pledge to the flag, and invocation by Pearl Drew.

The high school girls sextet made up of Catherine Blanas, Barbara Custer, Beverly Hunt, Myra Lien, Sally Seary, and Patsy Young sang beautiful Christmas music. The director of the sextet is Andrew Loney of KUNHS. The girls were accompanied by Ronnie Tarr.

The following Venture club girls were present as guests of the Soroptimists: Mary Bishop Verlings, Lena Parsons, June South, Phyllis Cavanaugh, Betty Champagne, Frances Ball, Josephine Reginato, Mavis Davis, Joan Pearce, Winnie Quinn, Luella Ratliff, Janet Blyen, Audrey Braatz, Darlene Pringle.

After the introduction of guests, each Soroptimist and guest gave their Christmas wish. The judges decided that the very best wish was stated by Carol Sabo, for which she received a surprise gift.

The programs for the meeting had been very attractively printed on white paper with green ink, a large snow man outlined in red stood in the background.

Needs More Than Gas Now
ST. HELENS, Dec. 17 (AP)—George Konopka's car ran out of gas and he parked it just off the edge of the St. Helens-Columbia City highway. Next morning he went back and found:

- Two front wheels missing;
- Spare tire gone;
- Generator and carburetor taken out;
- Battery gone;
- Two jacks and all tools missing.

Altar Society
On Sunday evening December 4 Mrs. J. P. McAuliffe of Fort Klamath assisted by ladies of the Altar Society of Mt. Carmel church at Chiloquin, entertained members of Court Klamath, Catholic Daughters of America, at a ham and turkey dinner in the parish hall at Chiloquin. Forty from Klamath Falls traveled north for this social event and spent a very enjoyable evening.

Members of Court Klamath who are also members of Mt. Carmel Altar society and who assisted Mrs. McAuliffe were Catherine Leake, Margaret Molitor, Elida De Bortoli, Ursula Bond, Katherine Elliott, and Helen McAuliffe.

Thoughts On Antipodes May Lead To Dizziness

By J. HUGH PRUETT
Astronomer, Extension Division, Oregon Higher Education System

1. "Is China exactly on the opposite side of the world from us, and do the people there walk upside down by our standards?" (J. W. Eugene)

The term antipodes (an-tip-o-dee, accent second syllable) is sometimes applied to the location we would reach should we be able to go on a straight line course through the center of the earth on to the other side. The word means "opposite our feet."

Let us suppose a straight tunnel—literally a "bottomless pit"—runs the nearly 8000 miles through our planet to the opposite surface. The most speedy way to reach our antipodes is to jump into this hole and let the force of gravitation do its worst. Once started, our velocity of fall constantly increases, until at the center (we assume no air resistance) we are tearing along at 4.9 miles per second. Then our speed decreases and 42.5 minutes after we started, we reach the other side, "feet up" and, for a split second motionless. But unless some kindly native grabs us, we fall back down to an eternal pendulum-like oscillation back and forth through the earth.

Although China is almost half way around the world from us, it is on the same side of the equator as we are and its people there walk horizontally instead of upside down.

Mackenzie King Marks Birthday
OTTAWA, Dec. 17 (AP)—Former Prime Minister Mackenzie King celebrates his 75th birthday today and plans to spend the day quietly at his city residence, Laurier house.

King told reporters his memoirs are not progressing very rapidly because he is easily fatigued.

"I have been arranging and classifying," he said, "and I believe I know what the public would like me to refer to and what might be helpful to others."
