

SPORTS
ROUNDUP

By Hugh Fullerton

NEW YORK, Dec. 20 (AP)—Take it from J. Lapchick, the thin man who gets thinner with each basketball game, pro basketball rules do not have to be liberalized to stop the incessant whistle-blowing. "Closer calling is what is needed to stop fouling," Joe insists. "That would get rid of the old fellows who can't run. When they get a step or two slower, they have to resort to grabbing."

If the referees called them close for a while, those fellows would find they weren't any good with six fouls on them in every game so they'd drop out and then we'd have young players who can go and we'd have a good game."

Biggest surprise (to this department) heard about the recent major league baseball meetings: Cleveland was willing to "talk" trades for Bob Feller but couldn't get any offers big enough to carry the discussion to the serious stage. And the Red Sox, who did no dealing, placed Junior Stephens in the same category.

After dealing Willard Marshall and other assorted players to the Braves, Leo Durocher put in a big plug for Rookie Don Mueller as an excellent fielder who would replace Marshall in the Giants outfield.

That led a New Jersey scribe to recall a letter which Manager Bruno Betzel received when Mueller first joined Jersey City: "It came from Don't Father, an old-time ball player, and it said: 'When you see him with a bat, you will love him. But when you see him with a glove on his hand, you will want to hit him with the bat.'"

The Detroit Lions plan to put up a real battle to retain their rights to Leon Hart on the grounds that he was acquired as a "bonus" choice and not in any regular draft... one of Coach J. T. Owen's star freshman boxers at Louisiana State university is Joe Zale of Gary, Ind., a nephew of former middleweight champ Tony Zale.

Southern California is really steamed up over Basketball Bill (Charmian) Sharmian, who is on display in the East this week... admitting Bill is the whole team, drummer Bob Smith says they're considering changing the name to the University of Sharmian California... the class B tri-state baseball league, which had four independent clubs last season, has lined up enough working agreements for next summer to lose its independence completely.

Dr. George L. Cross, U. of Oklahoma president: "If we can get our share of the football players we grow in Oklahoma and can pick up an occasional line-backer from Texas, we'll do it right."

Bowls Looking for More at Turnstiles

NEW YORK, Dec. 20 (AP)—The football bowls expect to stuff some 70,000 more customers into their games January 2 than a year ago, giving them something of an all-time record bulge.

All four of the major post-season attractions—Rose, Sugar, Cotton and Orange bowls—have found or built new sitting space and are counting on crowd increases ranging from 2000 to 10,000.

The Rose Bowl at Pasadena, granddaddy of this New Year's head-knocking business, is arranging for a turnout of 103,000 to see the game between unbeaten California and Ohio State's Big Ten champions. This is some 10,000 more than usually cram the big California arena for the game.

The Cotton Bowl at Dallas, featuring Rice's southwest titlist against North Carolina's southern conference kingpin, has issued tickets for 75,500—a jump of $500.

Around 65,000, an increase of $900, are expected to attend the Orange Bowl offering at Miami. This is an intersectional clash between Santa Clara and Kentucky.

The Sugar Bowl hopes to squeeze at least 20,000 more people into the giant ball park at New Orleans so that $3,000 can see undefeated, undefeated Oklahoma tangle with Louisiana State, conqueror of three conference champions.

In all, 661,500 fans are expected to shell out for the 18 remaining post-season extravaganzas, beginning with the North-South Shrine game at Miami December 26 and ending with the main bowl outburst January 2.

Three games are scheduled December 31. They are the East-West Shrine game at San Francisco, an old favorite; the Blue-Gray affair at Montgomery, Ala., and the Rain Bowl at Fresno, Calif.

The total receipts will be larger, too, but not proportionately so. The sponsors expect a $2,599,500 kitty this time compared with $2,545,800 on last New Year's Day.

Most of the money will go to competing teams, with those in the big bowls getting more than $100,000.

Bears Prep On Defense

BERKELEY, Calif., Dec. 20 (AP)—The University of California Bears' defensive unit goes to work today against Ohio State plays in preparation for their Rose Bowl game January 2.

The shifty halfback, Jack Swann, was the only member of the California offensive platoon not on the field at the first daily drill yesterday. He was in Eureka, Calif., where his wife is expecting a baby shortly.

George Souza, the Bear's best defense end, was ailed up but wore a new brace as result of his late-season injury.

Coach Lynn Waldorf said his Bears were only "somewhere between 50 and 60 per cent of the team" which went through the regular football season undefeated.

USLTA Selects Young Net Aces

NEW YORK, Dec. 20 (AP)—The best of the nation's young racket swimmers, in the eyes of the U. S. Lawn Tennis association, are Gilbert A. Bogley of Chevy Chase, Md., Jack Frost of Monterey, Calif., and 15-year-old Maitreen Connolly of San Diego, Calif.

These youngsters head, respectively, the 1949 junior, boys and girls rankings, announced today.

Matthews Offered LaMotta

CHICAGO, Dec. 20 (AP)—Seattle's Harry Matthews, a light-heavyweight contender with 70 victories in 73 professional starts, is nudging big time boxing at the age of 27.

Matthews has been offered a match with Jake LaMotta, world's middleweight champion, in the Chicago stadium February 8. Jack Hurley, Matthews' manager, says he'll accept.

A gifted boxer, Matthews only recently developed a knockout punch. He finished his last opponent, Billy Davis, Indianapolis, with three punches in a bout at Omaha, Neb. Matthews will box Tony Elomondo, San Antonio, Tex., in a ten rounder at Omaha, January 6.

"Matthews is sure to grow into a sturdy 185-pounder," Hurley said. "He may develop into a heavyweight contender."

Hurley managed the famed Fargo Express, Billy Petrolle, a one-time lightweight contender.

score of 3060, second only in all-time National league competition to the 3132 made by the Detroit Gears Enterprise team in 1946.

The Milano Inn team had games of 1062, 1064 and 964. Four of the team members had series of over 600 and the fifth had 588.

The idea was hatched by the Downtown Booster club, recently organized to provide scholarship aid to Whitman athletes.

Coast Quints Slapped Down Hard

By The Associated Press
Two northern division Coast conference basketball quintets went up against intersectional opponents last night. Both got slapped down.

Oregon State's defending Coast titlist bowed 65-60 to a hard-driving Indiana five and Washington State college was dumped unceremoniously by St. John's 67-44 before 15,000 Madison Square Garden fans.

OSC's Beavers were in the game right up until the final moments, only to have the Big Ten invaders away from a 54-58 deadlock with three minutes remaining. Jack De-tour, reserve guard, led the Beavers with 13 points.

A six-foot sophomore, Jack McMahon, broke the heart of the two-platoon Cougars at New York and split the game wide open in the second half. WSC held a 36-35 lead after five minutes of the second period when McMahon caught fire and sparked his mates on a 20-point spurge during which the Cougars counted only two foul shots.

The sophomore marksman, hitting 11 to 19 floor attempts, topped all scorers with 27 points. Ed Gayda led the Cougars with 11 points.

The Cougar loss snapped their win streak at six games.

Another six-game streak goes into jeopardy tonight when Washington entertains Minnesota in the first of a two-night stand. The Gophers, strongest foe yet faced by the Huskies, are favored slightly.

In addition to the Washington-Minnesota clash and OSC's second go with Indiana, both Idaho and Oregon are billed for action tonight.

Idaho goes up against Iowa State at Ames, Ia., and Oregon takes the first of two cracks at the touring Stanford Indians at Eugene.

Among the smaller colleges, action was light—but fast.

Mt. Martin's broke a five-game losing streak 70-65 at the expense of the touring Laverne, Calif., college quintet; Seattle university rolled to a easy 57-42 win over Pacific university; College of Poget Sound tied the count in the closing

Louis was a bit flabby around the midsection and some 13 pounds over his oldtime fighting weight. While he was somewhat slow afoot, he forced the pace from the start with Hooman in retreat most of the time.

Louis will fight two four-round exhibitions Wednesday at Salt Lake City against Jay Lambert and Rex Layne.

He was guaranteed $5000 for last night's exhibition with a privilege of 40 per cent of the gate. The fight paid off on $15,729 net, returning Louis nearly $6300.
