

HIGH SCHOOL News and Comments

By Flo Ann Perkins

"The Nutcracker Suite" with flowers and fairies and toy soldiers took up about an hour today when the annual Christmas production was put on in a special matinee for students.

The full orchestra plays the music, written by Peter Tschalkowsky and the a cappella choir sings the lyrics. The matinee performance was held this morning, but evening shows are being presented tonight and tomorrow night free to the public.

A holiday semi-formal has been set by the Teen-Age club for this Friday night at the armory with Mike Shade's band playing. Dress-up clothes and stockings will be for the girls and suits or slacks for the boys, since it is a semi-formal dance. Admission price has been lowered, though to 25 cents couple and 15 cents stag, since the club is just trying to put on a Christmas dance, with no profit in view.

Bob Scott's weekly Thursday night "Klamath Sports Album" over KFJI has been cancelled this week because of conflict with a network show, but he'll be back on the air a week from tomorrow at 9:15, despite the school vacation.

Ronald Smith won the grand prize at the Spanish club induction and party last night, by finding the coveted slip of paper, when the pinata was broken. New members of the club went through a number of "diabolically sadistic" performances, in the words of William Moxley, adviser to the club and Spanish teacher. Later, though, there was a more serious initiation with the pins awarded in a candlelight ceremony.

Most of the rooms decorating for the Christmas home room contest have hung up red and green crepe paper streamers, but there have been many other ideas. Room 303 is becoming quite elaborate with blue cellophane snowflakes on the windows colored chalk murals on the boards. Room 306 has a colored chalk drawing across the back blackboard depicting the north pole as a huge barber pole, appropriately labeled.
