We've Drafted Santa Claus In Cold War with Russia

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

WASHINGTON, Dec. 22 (AP)—Now even Santa Claus is in on the conflict with Russia.

The jolly old gent will play a leading role in the "Voice of America" broadcasts to the Russians people this Christmas season. The idea is to show the Russians what a fine season Christmas is in the land they are taught by their government to hate and fear.

Heavy emphasis also will be placed on the religious significance of Christmas.

Mouthpiece

In Russia itself, officials here expect that this year, as in the past, the Soviet Santa Claus will serve not as a dispenser of good cheer but rather as a mouthpiece of communist propaganda.

Around the state department, where every aspect of Russian life is put under the microscope, some odd facts have been turned up about the official Russian attitude toward Christmas.

The theme, authorities here said, is to be found in the "Large Soviet Encyclopedia" which in the 1941 edition declared:

"In the Soviet Union the celebration of Christmas by believers is a most harmful reactionary survival of the old capitalist past. Like every religious holiday, Christmas is kept alive and supported among backward groups of workers by reactionary religious prejudices."

Futile

In the early years of the Soviet regime, an attempt was made to end the Christmas celebration completely. The sale of Christmas trees was forbidden and the familiar ornaments and decorations of the season were not offered in Russian stores. This attempt failed.

The next move of the communists was to divert the pageantry and symbols of Christmas to new uses. Instead of holding the celebration on the traditional Russian Christmas day of January 7 all the ceremonies are now focused on New Year's Day.

Christmas trees have become for Soviet citizens "New Year's trees," presents are given on New Year's Day and the acceptable greeting for the holiday season is "Happy New Year."

Red Santa

Grandfather Frost—the Russian name for the Santa Claus figure—is to be found in the "Large Soviet Encyclopedia" which in the 1941 edition declared:

"In the Soviet Union the celebration of Christmas by believers is a most harmful reactionary survival of the old capitalist past. Like every religious holiday, Christmas is kept alive and supported among backward groups of workers by reactionary religious prejudices."
