

NEW ASSIGNMENT—Capt. John G. Crommelin, outspoken Navy critic of the Pentagon "general staff," unpacks his bags after reporting for duty at Treasure Island Naval Base, San Francisco. Capt. Crommelin, who was suspended for making public confidential Navy letters and later restored to duty, will be aviation officer of the Western Sea Frontier. The assignment has been widely interpreted in Washington as a "banishment."

Livestock Feeding Is Steady

The volume of United States cattle feeding this year will be as large or larger than last year, according to the weekly cattle and hog market review.

The July-November in-shippments of feeder cattle have been a record for the eleven corn belt states. The total movement into these states is 27 per cent higher than a year ago for the same period. The shipments also were the highest on record since 1939.

In Western states, cattle feeding is on a lower level than a year ago. New Mexico has about the same number on feed as last year. Arizona is down about 15 per cent. In California, cattle feeding is below last year's record, but compared with previous years, the number is high.

Feed supplies are abundant in most cattle feeding sections of the nation. Weather has been ideal for maximum use of pasture and field feeds. Sugarbeet by-product feeds are equal to last year.

The average price of feeder and stocker cattle at the four main markets of the Midwest at December 1 was about $3 a hundredweight below a year ago.

Cattle prices to Oregon farmers have been strengthened since the middle of October. However, at mid-November the average price was $2.20 under a year ago.

Hog prices to Oregon farmers continued downward. The average price at mid-November was the lowest since June 1946. Also it was $6.60 under a year ago.

Grain Prices Show Slight Advance

The nation's grain markets showed some price advances this past week. The major wheat markets, and all classes of wheat, improved in price except west coast markets.

At Portland, ordinary export wheats, either white or red, held unchanged at $2.20 1/2 a bushel.

Feed barley stepped up 50 cents a ton and was quoted last Thursday at $56.50 a ton in Portland.

Brewing barley markets continue quiet, the price is still nominal at Portland and $62 a ton f.o.b. Willamette valley shipping points.

Oat prices held unchanged on the west coast but are up at Midwest markets. Portland price is $37 a ton.

Corn prices strengthened at all

Christmas Bureau To Aid Needy

A "Christmas bureau" program set up by the county welfare office and various lodges, churches and other organizations, will see that most if not all needy youngsters in the county have toys this Christmas.

Funds for much of the task of providing toys for needy children has come from the Elks club and the Quota club is handling purchases and distribution. Other lodges and churches have been very generous in assisting the bureau.

The welfare office is acting as an information source in distribution of the gifts. The "Cheer Christmas" organization of local businessmen is taking care of several families.

markets this past week. The advance at Portland was $1.50 a ton, and Thursday's price was $57.
