Pine Output, Orders Slow

PORTLAND, (AP)—Western pine production and orders last week fell below the previous week's figures, but shipments gained slightly. All three continued well below the same week a year ago, the Western Pine Assoc. reported.

For the year orders and production are down 10 percent and production is off two percent, the association said.

Lake Highway Bid Rejected

A low bid of $452,383 submitted on the west side highway project was rejected today by the state highway commission—the fourth time bids have been turned down on the project in less than a year. The bidder was the R. A. Heintz company, Portland.

But this time the rejection had the good wishes of the Klamath chamber of commerce highway committee and the Klamath county court.

State Engineer R. H. Baldock late yesterday told Tom Watters, chairman of the chamber highway committee, that by rejecting this last bid on the 12.27-mile roadway along Upper Klamath lake's west side a new bid for improvement of the full 13 miles of the project.

In a telephone discussion, Baldock told Watters the first bid last December on the project by Contractor Floyd Somers for $277,025 probably should have been accepted by the highway commission.

However, Baldock said, at that time there was still some question on right-of-way for a relocated portion, and since then an additional $30,000 worth of work has been added to the project.

Since the initial one, there have been three more bids, opening with all low bids received higher than the one submitted by Somers, a Klamath Falls contractor.

McNutt brothers of Eugene bid low on the job in July, asking $598,958. Leonard and Slatte and the E. C. Hall company, Portland, bid $495,810; in August and the R. A. Heintz company's bid rejected today was $452,383.

Watters pointed out that the ensuing bids after the highest one were each lower than the one before, proving the engineers were probably correct in turning down all but the first one.

"Though we want the road badly," Watters said, "the state shouldn't have to pay more than the necessary money for the job."

Baldock proposed to Watters to wait until all money is available to complete the entire 18-mile section of the roadway to the Lake of the Woods junction. The last of an allocation of more than $900,000 will be available the first of next year, he said.

Then, Baldock said, the whole job could be advertised April 1. That size of a job should entice contractors to submit bids within a reasonable range of the engineer's estimate, he said.

Watters, after his discussion with the state engineer, made the following statement to The Herald and News:

"As far as I'm personally concerned, the bids which have been submitted this year show in themselves that the highway department has been correct in turning them down.

"We have never had any reason to doubt the engineer department's sincerity in its effort to get this job done.

"I can't see where Baldock's proposal to combine the two jobs and open bids next April would delay the job's final completion to any great extent. It's too late to get the work under way this fall anyway. I agree with Baldock that by letting the whole job in one unit, the state will be able to save a considerable amount of the taxpayers' money."

Tule to Fete Amputees

TULELAKE — There's a royal time coming for 30 amputee world war two veterans of Oak Knoll hospital, Oakland.

The disabled men will be flown here in an army transport for opening days of the migratory waterfowl and pheasant hunting seasons as guests of the Tulelake community.

The plan, brain child of George A. Douglass Jr., Tulelake home-steader, a navy veteran of the last war, has been given enthusiastic approval by the 20-30 club and the plan was outlined at the recent sub-district 20-30 meeting in Klamath Falls attended by club members of Medford, Klamath Falls and Tulelake.

Plans call for the veteran's arrival at the Klamath Falls airport November 18 and the men will remain here until the 19th.

Professional guides, transportation, guns, dogs and ammunition will be furnished. Gun stores of Klamath Falls and here will furnish used guns, ammunition will be provided by the Tulelake-Butte Valley Sportsman's association, guide service will be free and homes of local residents have been opened for housing accommodations.

Douglass said today that about 50 percent of housing is assured and anyone having room for two veterans during the four days is urged to contact some member of the 20-30 club. It is hoped that rooms may be found in rural or farm homes. Many of the veterans he said are far from their own homes and desperately in need of a few days of family life. The club would like to place two men in each home, if possible.

Arrangements are being made for hunting dogs probably through the Shasta Cascade Retrievers club.

Bomb Blast Brass Arrives

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP)—The big brass is beginning to arrive for the desert rock atomic exercise, slated for early next week.

Two atomic energy commission chieftains—Carroll L. Tyler, Santa Fe, N.M., project manager, and Dr. Alvin C. Graves, test director—flew in last night to set up final arrangements for the first atomic testing of troops in the field.

Military aircraft traffic was reported the heaviest in the history of McCarran field, as observers from the air force, navy and marines began arriving to augment the nearly 5000 army troops already on hand.

The major test in "Exercise Desert Rock" will fall on a combat battalion of 1000 foot soldiers, who are to dig in under the blast of atomic weapons.

Elements of all six U.S. continental armies are represented at Desert Rock, some 75 miles north of here, but western camps dominate. Many of the men came from Fort Lewis, Wash., Fort Ord, Camp Roberts and Camp Cooke in California, Camp Carson, Colo., and Kirtland air base, N.M., are others represented.

The civil aeronautics administration has warned aircraft to avoid the 5000 square mile gunnery range on which the AEC test site is located. All persons and livestock in the area are being evacuated.

Oysters can and do change their sex from male to female or female to male in middle age.

Chest Nears Half of Quota

Klamath county's community chest goal of $77,370, was cut down to almost $15,000 at noon today as workers turned in cash, checks and pledges to campaign headquarters.

With the campaign only three days old, more than 18 percent of the goal had been reached. Many workers, especially those in the big industrial, commercial and public service divisions, held back their report envelopes waiting for the first report luncheon of the campaign on Monday noon at the Winema.

Both George McIntyre and Nelson Reed said today they were confident that 50 percent of the goal would be reached by Monday. McIntyre and Reed are co-chairmen of this year's campaign.

Greatest percentage of gain was shown by Jim Pflumger's public service group with 25 percent of the quota already in. Sponsoring agency of public service is Boy Scouts. The quota for this division is $18,600.

Residential's total in a goal of $4,339, is now at $1248.04. Workers were out in force today, hoping for complete coverage of the city's residential area by Monday's report session.

Following are quotas set for the various divisions which make up the local and state chest: Industrial, $18,550; commercial, $10,515; public service, $18,600; city employees, $400; county employees, $5,250; state employees, $410; federal employees, $895; city schools, $2078; county schools, $850; county area, $10,000; business and professions, $9000; organization, $200; residential, $4339. Total, $77,370.

The Rev. Galen Onstad, rector of St. Paul's Episcopal church, heads the chest's speakers' bureau and has met a terrific schedule, speaking before groups throughout the county as well as in town before service clubs.

There was an excellent turnout Wednesday night at Merrill Parents and Patrons at the Community hall, according to Nelson Reed who accompanied Rev. Onstad to Merrill for a talk and the showing of the new Red Feather agency movie. Assisting were two Klamath Union high school students, Roger and Mickey Morrow. Helpers at the Malin grange meeting earlier this week were Wesley Sims and Tommy Skienis, also of KUIS. These four are interested in the audio-visual education program and as part of their training operate machines in the various classes.

State Police Get Teletype

Immediate communication with any law enforcement agency in the United States having teletype service, will soon be reality for Klamath Falls' Oregon state police detachment.

Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Co. this morning was rigging lines to the state police office on Altamont for installation of a teletype.

Five other offices in the state have similar setups, according to officials here.
