

Aspects of Beauty Study Project

The Iota Sigma chapter of Beta Sigma Phi met in Merrill the evening of October 8. Margie Hodges was hostess and served refreshments before the brief business meeting. The buffet table was set in a colorful and interesting Halloween theme.

"The Book of Beauty" is the current project of the chapter. Monday's meeting was concerned with that part of the "Book" dwelling upon "the art of dress and it's history" and "the art of jewelry and it's history." Mrs. Keith Moon amplified this with a talk on "the art of selecting and wearing costume jewelry" with the proper attire represented by various costumes from the Town Shop worn by Thelma Bell, Helen Perry, Pat Mueller, Alice Dale Peterson and herself. From basic to dressy afternoon, accessories, gloves, bags and scarves were shown as a background to the properly elected costume jewelry.

Mrs. Moon spoke on the influence exerted by different periods on our dress today, and with reference to the importance of proper selection of costume jewelry she showed copies of famous jewel pieces in history; among them, "Empress Eugenie," "Grand Duchess" and "immortals of the Orient."

Among those enjoying this illuminating discussion were: Janell Adams, program chairman, Frances Callis, Betty Nelson, Jean Rose, Betty Nelson, Donna Hubbard, Phyllis Hanchett, Eleanor Carmen and the hostess.
