

State Mental Hospitals Said Badly Understaffed

DOWRY FOR DANCER — Egyptian belly-dancer Safa Gamal (above) of Cairo will receive a $30,000 dowry from Sheppard W. (Abdul) King, heir to a Texas oil fortune, before their December scheduled marriage. The Texan became a Muslim in order to marry the dancer despite his mother's objections.

PORTLAND, (AP)—Oregon's state mental hospitals suffer from "deplorable weakness in the professional staff," a city club study committee reported yesterday.

The report suggested that the fault lay, in part, in inadequate psychiatric training in the University of Oregon medical school.

It said there should be a state mental health authority with a director responsible only to the governor.

Dr. J. Cranmer, director of the general extension division of the state system of higher education, was chairman of the committee which released its report after a year and a half of study. It covers the state hospitals at Salem and Pendleton and the Fairview for the feeble minded at Salem.

DEMOTED The report said that "because of its inadequate program," the hospital at Salem was removed from the list of those approved by the American Medical Assoc. for resident training.

"No member of the resident staffs of the Oregon hospital for the mentally ill is a registered psychiatrist," the report said. "This deplorable weakness in the professional staff exemplifies the basic problem in the diagnosis and treatment of the mentally ill in Oregon."

It said the university medical school offers only 99 hours of training in psychiatry while many schools provide over 200 hours.

The report says that there should be "a carefully coordinated program of undergraduate and graduate training and clinical experience in psychiatric methods developed by the medical school and the state hospitals."

There are other changes needed, too, the report says. It says there should be a law providing increased sentences for psychopaths. Such a law, the report says, "would have protected Oregon from several sensational sex crimes."

It also advocates a separate institution for treatment of mental illness of the aged.

MORE POWER

OREGON CITY, (AP)—The Portland General Electric Co. announced yesterday that it soon will increase power production at its river mill dam on the Clackamas river near Estacada. A fifth generator is being added to produce 22,000 kilowatts more of power. The rate of the dam this week.

Fish Market Idea Spreads

LOS ANGELES, (AP)—The international longshoremen and warehousemen union's experiment in fish-peddling is so successful that outlets are springing up throughout California.

Already in the Los Angeles area 12 outlets are being mobbed by housewives after choice, fresh albacore tuna at 25 cents per pound.

"We plan to continue selling until the tuna season is over," said Jeff Kibre, secretary of the ILWU's fisheries division. This may be next week or well into November.

The union has prepared a series of recipes for cooking and canning the big fish—they average from nine to 20 pounds—and a copy of the recipes goes with each sale.

Considering the tremendous public response, Kibre said "we may have tapped a new market. Never before in this country has fresh albacore tuna been sold on a large scale."

Already, he estimates, more than 800,000 pounds have been sold in San Francisco, where the sale started October 6. And in Los Angeles, 120,000 pounds have crossed the counter in the past few days.

It all started because canneries were buying frozen tuna from Japan in preference to the fresh catches of American fishermen, said Kibre. "So we decided to use American initiative and create our own market," he explained.

All fishermen, regardless of union affiliation, are invited by the ILWU to participate. The ILWU program pays a minimum of 15 cents a pound to the fishermen, Kibre said, compared with 11 1/2 cents paid by canneries.
