Chest Reports Boost Hopes

County area reports reaching community chest headquarters today, encouraged chest officials who have an eye on the $17,370 quota by final report day, November 5.

William Tubach, aided by Edwin Wenz, is covering the big Poe valley sector and have turned in $65 of the $350 quota. To top this, Poe valley potatoes will be given as a guest award at the luncheon November 5, gift of Tubach and Breithaupt.

The Poe valley area is some nine miles long, four miles stretching on either side of Lost river and it takes a lot of time to contact the 70 to 75 families living in that district, Tubach observed.

Three organizations have contributed to the chest thus far, including Catholic Daughters of America, Poe valley grange and Lost river grange, the later contribution putting over the Olene quota sought by Mrs. A. O. Roenicke by several dollars.

Also contributing this past week were members of the Klamath Falls fire department with a check for $25.

Merrill workers, headed by Clyde Hammond of the Lions club with members of that group and the PTA working together, have started distribution of cards and material in their drive for the Merrill quota of $2300, largest of any in the county.

The Merrill recreation center receives $1147 of chest campaign funds to continue their youth work in that part of the county.

Forest Worker Wounded

SILVER LAKE — Dave Rutherford, working for the forest service, was wounded by accidental gunshot Tuesday afternoon.

Rutherford was hit in the nose. He was taken to a hospital at Bend for treatment.

HOT ROD CURB

PORTLAND (AP)—It is illegal, now to drive in Portland with a flaming exhaust or one emitting noxious odors. The city council has acted to combat a craze among hot rod drivers.

Tribe Talks Withdrawal

KLAMATH AGENCY—The proposal to allow members of the Klamath Indian tribe to withdraw from the tribe was discussed again yesterday at a general council here without any definite stand taken by the tribe on the subject.

The proposal as it stands now would allow Indians to withdraw from the tribe, receiving 80 percent of their share of tribal wealth.

Opponents of that provison want those withdrawing to be able to take their entire share, and also want some provision written in to allow them to buy land from other members of the tribe.

Any withdrawal legislation would have to have the approval of congress, and congress will not act until there is some definite stand taken by the general council.

Presumably the withdrawal proposal will come up at a later council session.

In other action yesterday the council reset budget and wage and hour matters; let some small timber contracts; tabled 1952 hunting and fishing regulations until later; and voted to allow business firms to put up advertising signs on tribal land at a minimum of $12 for a billboard.

The council also restated its opinion that the problem of juvenile delinquency on the reservation be made a state matter rather than a federal matter as at present.

Crater's Roads In Good Shape

Klamath's blue Crater Lake national park has extended an invitation to Venter and his company to visit the snow-clad park area during their stay here, Chief Ranger Lou Hallock announced today.

Hallock reported tourist conditions are tops and expected to remain so for the weekend. Two feet of snow drapes the slopes, he said, but roads are in excellent shape and no chains are necessary clear to the rim.

The warming hut will be operating this weekend, under the supervision of Mrs. Lee Fulton.
