Demand Ups Log Prices

CORVALLIS, (AP) — Log prices, pushed by heavy demand, climbed slightly in the southern part of the Willamette valley in the past week. Elsewhere in Oregon prices held steady.

The weekly farm forest products report from Oregon State college also noted that poles and piling made spotty advances of one to three cents a foot.

Douglas fir sawlogs: demand for Douglas fir sawlogs was strong, particularly in the southern part of the valley. Second-growth logs over 24 feet long and 10 inches in diameter were $35 to $38 a thousand board feet for No. 3's and $42 to $48 a thousand for No. 2's.

Old-growth sawlog prices in the southern valley rose $4 to the level of other Willamette valley areas. No. 3's brought $40 and No. 2's brought $50 a thousand. Peeler logs ranged from $75 to $110.

Second-growth stumpage quotations were mostly $12 to $20 a thousand, depending on quality, location, volume and other factors. Pulpwood northern and central valley pulp mills paid $17 a cord for unpeeled spruce hemlock and true fir. Douglas fir was $14 to $17 a cord, with one mill in the central valley quoting $5.90 a ton.

Poles and piling: long Douglas fir poles and piling were in good demand. Prices were steady to three cents per lineal foot higher. Barked poles ranged from seven cents a foot for 25 foot poles up to 47 cents for 100 foot lengths.

Hardwood logs: most hardwood were about steady at $34.50 to $37.50 a thousand. Alder, Wash, maple, oak and chinquapin were in limited demand at these prices. One Portland manufacturer found maple hard to get at $40. Cottonwood brought $24 to $30 a thousand.

Other forest products: hop poles continued to bring $1.25 to $1.50 each for Douglas fir and $1.75 to $2.00 for cedar. Car staves were in good demand at 40 to 45 cents each. Fern went up two cents a bunch to 14 cents.

Argentina Red Chieftain Shot

PARANA, Argentina, (AP) — Rodolfo Ghioldi, Communist candidate for president, was shot in the neck and seriously wounded last night by unidentified assailants who used bombs and bullets in an attempt to break up a Red political rally.

One man was reported dead, another believed killed and about 10 others wounded in the wild melee. Ghioldi was taken to a hospital for immediate, but unsuccessful, attempts to remove a bullet from his lung. His condition was termed serious.

Reports of the battle-like demonstration said it was touched off by bomb explosions. Then shots rang out from all corners of Plaza Baenz, a mid-town square where Ghioldi was addressing a crowd.

The men who started the demonstration were not immediately identified. Parana is about 200 miles northwest of Buenos Aires.

Ghioldi is opposing Pres. Juan D. Peron for the presidency in the November 11 elections, in which Argentina will choose a chief of state for a six year term.

BID DECLINED — A foreign office spokesman says Indian Prime Minister Jawaharlal Nehru has been invited to visit Chinese Communist Chief of State Mao Tze-tung in Peiping and has turned down the invitation.
